President Calls on Public

States Must Suppress Gang Control, Hoover Says; Laws Sufficient

Government Merely to Aid in Drive Where Local Authorities Fail

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25. (AP)—The head of the nation today appealed to the public to throw its weight behind the weapons of the law in breaking up gangster activities.

President Hoover said he believes a substitution of public support behind the present laws will solve the problem.

The President said the Federal government is assisting local authorities "to overcome a hideous and corrupt gangster control of some local governments."

He added he does not plan to ask Congress for any extension of criminal laws to cover racketeering and ...t reports to that effect are un...

STATE LAWS AMPLE

"Every single State has ample law that cover such criminality," Mr. Hoover said. "What is needed is the enforcement of those laws, ...t more laws."

Virtually similar comment was made by Atty.-Gen. Mitchell, who recently disclosed that the government had sent agents to Chicago to operate against organized gangs there through the Federal income tax, narcotics, white slave and immigration laws.

"It is a fact," Mitchell said, "that ...e laws are not being enforced. Nonetheless, the control of racketeering is primarily a State function, and we are merely offering assistance, such as attempting to break up rackets which we can get in a back-handed way. We have no intention of taking over the whole affair."

MITCHELL TELLS PLANS

The Attorney-General already had ...ommand an agent had been sent by the Department of Justice to ...ork as an assistant to the District Attorney in Chicago and co-ordinate ...ll Federal activities there. Treasury officials also have made ...ome thing are scrutinizing the income of Al Capone and other gangsters to see if action can be brought against them under the tax laws. President Hoover said, however, he had "not no satisfaction" from the theory that the only way to break up gangster activities was for the Federal government to convict men for failing to pay income taxes on the financial product of ...ime against State laws."

The text of the President's remarks follows:

Will Rogers Remarks:

BEVERLY HILLS, Nov. 25.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Every government in the world today has more discontent in the people than usual, but I think there is less complaint by the subjects in Russia than anywhere else. That is, they don't complaint as long. Russia hasn't today in her border what you would call a constant critic. You simply say your say and then you are through. Russia is a country that is burying their troubles. Your criticism is your epitaph. (Here lies the body of Boris Ogimsky, he said Stalin the dictator, wouldn't last, but he outlived himsky.)

WILL ROGERS.

BLUE BLOOD PAGES SHY OLD NAMES

Social Registerites Who Marry Below Station No Longer Grace Pages

NEW YORK, Nov. 25. (Exclusive) There are plenty of headaches and heartaches on Park avenue today. The reason? The 1931 Social Register was mailed out and the author, it is disclosed, has made arbitrary changes in the lists of those who belong and those who do not.

For instance: Young William J. Willock, Jr., who gave the blue bloods a frightful shock when he married Adelaide Ingebreitsen, maid in his family's Syosset (L. I.) home, found himself snubbed.

Eleanor H. Hutton, daughter of Edward H. Hutton, who went from Park avenue to Broadway when she eloped with Preston Sturges, author of "Strictly Dishonorable," also was left out.

Dr. Joseph A. Blake, who married his nurse, Florence Drake, after he had been divorced from Clarence Mackay's ex-wife, the mother of Mrs. Irving Berlin, also found his name gone from the 1931 lists.

Gene Tunney and the former Polly Lauder are not mentioned, although Tunney had a brief fling in the summer register when he married the Lauder heiress.

Charles A. Lindbergh and Anne Morrow are recognized.

Hoover Favors Law Revision

Agrees With Senator Reed on Need of Change, But Questions Plan

Will Approve Enactment to Give More Selectivity; Cites Curtailment

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25. (AP)—President Hoover signified today a revision of the immigration laws would meet with his approval as an unemployment remedy.

A two-year suspension of immigration has been proposed by Senator Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania.

The Chief Executive said he is in entire agreement with the Senator as to the need for a change in the statutes, but does not directly approve the Reed plan. He said revision is desirable to give more selectivity and flexibility to the present laws.

Mr. Hoover called attention to the sharp curtailment in immigration by strict enforcement of regulations designed to exclude persons who might become public charges. He said the effect of these efforts manifested itself most clearly in October when the number of visas issued to prospective immigrants were a little less than 6000, as compared to a previous average of about 24,000 monthly. The program was initiated about twelve months ago with respect to North American countries and three months ago in countries on a quota basis.

Under the National Origins Act, immigration from quota countries is restricted to 153,714 yearly with 66,-721 of these coming from Great Britain, 25,957 from Germany, 17,-853 from Ireland and 5802 from Italy.

The State Department has not expressed itself upon the plan, but is known to be considering possible ramifications that might develop if it were enacted.

HAWAII OPPOSES BAN ON IMMIGRATION

HONOLULU, Nov. 25. (AP)—Exclusion of Hawaii from any legislation designed to curtail immigration into the United States for two years was urged today in dispatches radioed to Washington addressed to Lawrence M. Judd, Governor of Hawaii, and Victor S. K. Houston, Congressional delegate from Hawaii.

The messages were sent at the request of Hawaiian sugar and pineapple interests.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25. (Exclusive) Years ago when he was graduated a second-honor man in the class of '73 at City College, Wenzel A. Raboch was elected to Phi Beta Kappa. But the letter telling him of the honor was lost in the mails and he never was notified of the election.

Recently there was some searching of mellowed old files at City College.

So this afternoon Raboch, professor of music at the Theosopist University at Point Loma, Cal., now well past three-score and ten years, was inducted into Phi Beta Kappa.

"The matter bothered me for years," Prof. Raboch said today. "I thought I had been omitted because of some personal prejudice against me and I never brought the matter up. A conversation with a classmate resulted in the search."

Police Disperse Mill Strikers

DANVILLE (Va.) Nov. 25. (AP)—A crowd of more than 500 persons, after bombarding a hotel and several houses of nonunion workers with bricks, was dispersed tonight as police reached the scene of a disorder incident to the strike in the Riverside and Dan River cotton mills.

Police said virtually every window in the wooden hotel building, located in Schoolfield, a mill suburb, had been broken.

ROLPH SHAKES DOWN PLUMS

C. H. Purcell Renamed to State Engineer's Post; Rolland Vandegrift Indicated as Finance Director

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25. (Exclusive)—Retention of Charles H. Purcell as State Highway Engineer and appointment of Harry Hammond, Byron publisher, as State Printer, were announced today by Gov.-elect Rolph. At the same time the naming of Rolland A. Vandegrift of Los Angeles, present secretary of the California Taxpayers' Association, to the position of director of the State Department of Finance, was indicated when Vandegrift went to Sacramento at Rolph's suggestion to attend the conference on the new budget, now in course of preparation.

Purcell served as secretary of the Hoover-Young San Francisco Bay bridge commission and it was under his direction the engineering studies relative to the project were carried on.

PURCELL'S RECORD

He has served in the $10,000 a year Highway Engineer's position for the past four years. He is a native Californian, coming from Los Angeles originally. He attended Stanford and the University of Nebraska and for the past fifteen years has been engaged in road building on the Pacific Coast. For seven years he followed a general civil engineering practice in the Midwest.

He was field engineer for the United States Public Land Bureau, operating in Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Montana, when he was named to his present position four years ago.

ASKED BY ROLPH

Vandegrift was given a leave of absence by the Taxpayers' Association at Rolph's request. He will work with Director King, studying the budget which will be submitted to the new Governor and will report his findings. He will act as Rolph's representative and not as a member of this association. Rolph sent letters to Gov. Young and to the various department heads at Sacramento asking that they give what assistance they could to Vandegrift.

On Friday night the Governor-elect will go to Los Angeles for a two-day visit, returning in time to attend the Oakland meeting Monday morning on the San Francisco Bay bridge question.

QUALITY OF FILM PLAYS ATTACKED

Motion-Picture Unit Hits Lack of Attention Given to Topic at Child Parley

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25. (AP)—The Federal Motion-Picture Council today made public a resolution deploring what is termed inadequate consideration given the "destructive effect" of motion pictures by the recent White House child health conference.

The board of directors of the organization, which seeks Federal regulation of photoplay production in the interest of moral improvement, said the White House conference ignored the emotional reaction and eyestrain resulting from frequent attendance of children at motion pictures.

Another resolution warned the public against expecting improvement "in the moral quality of motion pictures" from the methods advanced by the film industry.

Chicago Bomb Injures Infant

CHICAGO, Nov. 25. (AP)—Police today sought bombers they termed "worse than murderers," because their blast injured an 8-months-old baby. The infant, Lorraine Travelin, was with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Travelin, at the home of Carl Wildey, auto plant executive, when a bomb damaged the Wildey home to the extent of $800. The baby was taken to a hospital suffering from cuts about the face from flying glass. No one else was injured. Union labor trouble was blamed.

Three Children Burned in Barn

BELLEVILLE (Ont.) Nov. 25. (AP) Three small children were burned to death today in a fire which destroyed a barn owned by their father, Thomas Woolman, twenty miles northeast of here.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The fact-telling series of articles just completed in the Los Angeles Times, showing that crops in the five counties of Los Angeles, Ventura, Orange, San Bernardino and Riverside have brought the largest cash returns in the history of the community, have been reprinted in the form of single-page newspaper sheets.

Coming at a time when agriculture elsewhere throughout the world is at a low ebb, this achievement by local orchardists, farmers and dairymen demonstrates in a most impressive manner the stability back of Southern California's growth. By reason of diversified industries this favored section can ride through a business depression with its basic and greatest single source of income unimpaired.

Believing that such facts should get the widest possible circulation, The Times will supply these reprints for mailing purposes at a little less than the cost of production, or at the rate of $1 per hundred. Single copies mailed postpaid for 3 cents. Address, Promotion Department, Los Angeles Times.

EUROPE HAS MORE RAIN AND FLOODS

Paris Suburbs Inundated; Belgium Most Affected; Thousands Homeless

LONDON, Nov. 25. (AP)—Rowboats splashed through the streets of Parisian suburbs tonight, men worked long hours to repair the broken dikes along the rivers of Belgium and the rain still pounded on a Europe, already suffering heavily from disastrous floods.

Belgium felt the heaviest blow. Her crops are ruined, her live stock drowned in great numbers, her fields are under water and thousands of her people are temporarily homeless.

The large hospital at Namur was flooded and the sick were carried to the topmost floors. The old battlefields around Nieuport were inundated and the dunes protecting the lowlands from the French to the Dutch borders were broken in many places.

The situation in Paris is acute. The Seine, already high above its normal levels, continues to rise, pouring water into the suburbs and seeping into the city itself. Pumps were working all day long and although metropolitan transportation facilities were not interrupted, the city is on guard for any emergency.

The important town of Juvisy found itself in a trap with the River Orge rising on one side and the Seine menacing the other. Paris put itself on short water rations, for the normal supply has been fouled by mud and there is no means of bringing in additional supplies of bottled water.

'Mother' Jones Waits for End

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25. (AP)—Mary (Mother) Jones could not recognize her "boys" from the ranks of union labor leaders who came to her bedside today "to stay until the end."

The 100-year-old crusader for organized labor lay silent with death expected at any time. She has been unable to take nourishment for several days.

John Walker of Chicago, former president of the United Mine Workers, and Edward Knuckles, also of Chicago, found their friend too weak to open her eyes.

Two Million Army Needed

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25. (AP)—A potential army of 2,000,000 available within a year if the United States should become involved in another war was held today by Gen. Charles P. Summerall to be necessary for reasonable security.

This statement was made in the annual report of Gen. Summerall, who recently retired as army chief of staff. The general described the report as his farewell to the army after forty-two years of service.

EARTHQUAKES IN JAPAN KILL AND INJURE 900

Famed Resort Area of Izu Peninsula Rocked for Thirty Minutes; Casualty List May Increase

TOKIO, Nov. 26 (Wednesday) (AP)—An earthquake stretched a belt of death and destruction across the northern portion of the beautiful Izu Peninsula early today with the toll of dead and injured mounting steadily as fragments of the disaster story emerged from the stricken area. The Governor of Shizuoka Prefecture, which includes the Izu Peninsula, announced 187 persons were known to have perished while the number of injured is likely to bring the total casualties to more than 900.

The Chief of Police at Numazu reported 163 dead in the Numazu police district alone, including thirty-seven killed at Nirayama, eight miles southeast of Mishima.

An accurate tally of the dead was impossible owing to destruction of communications throughout the peninsula.

FIRES FOLLOW SHOCKS

The fate of a large portion of Southern Izu was still unknown at a late hour, while reports from such important centers as Atami, Ito, Nagoako and Shuzenji were of the most meager variety.

Although first reports designated Mishima as the center of the quake zone, that railway junction appears to have suffered less than resorts to the southward.

At many places fires followed shocks, greatly increasing material losses.

Attempting to determine the full extent of the disaster, Shizuoka authorities dispatched two airplanes to survey the stricken area. Troops of the Third Division, with headquarters at Shizuoka, were ordered to the quake zone to assist with relief.

HUNDREDS IN TUNNEL

An unconfirmed report to the Ministry of Railways said ninety persons perished in a landslide at Shuzenji Hot Springs.

Some anxiety was felt concerning workmen in the famous Tanna tunnel between Atami and Numazu, the western mouth of which collapsed during the quake. About 400 workers are normally employed in this section and it was feared many were inside at the time of the quake.

The Tanna tunnel, which cost 20,000,000 yen (about $10,000,000) about ten years of labor and many workmen's lives, is just nearing completion.

Today's quake was the climax of a series which have shocked parts of the Izu Peninsula an average of 300 times a day since the 10th inst.

The peninsula is Japan's choice playground, especially in the winter, owing to the warm climate abounding at its various hot springs. Scores of famous resorts have been established on the peninsula.

The seacoast between Atami and Ito is one of the most beautiful of the Japanese empire and is called the "Riviera of Japan."

CALEXICO FEELS TWO EARTHQUAKES

CALEXICO, Nov. 25. (AP)—Two slight earthquake shocks were felt here at 12:20 and 4:40 o'clock this morning. Dishes and windows rattled but no damage has been found. The temblors appeared to have been entirely local in the southern end of Imperial Valley. They did not extend to Brawley.

SHOCKS CAUSE FISSURES IN ALBANIAN TOWNS

TIRANA (Albania) Nov. 25. (AP)—The government today announced the recent earthquake has resulted in formation of vast fissures across the villages of Trebis and Dhremi, making impossible the erection of new dwellings. Mild but extensive shocks still continue in the earthquake zone near Berati.

ICY DEATHS FOR THIRTY

Blizzards Take Midwest Lives

Alhambra Woman Perishes in Wreck of Car on Road Glazed by Winter

Frigid Blast Hits Nebraska Tearing Down Phone Lines; Tornado in Missouri

BY JOHN P. GALLAGHER
"Times" Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, Nov. 25. (Exclusive)—Upwards of thirty deaths were reported today when winter tightened its grip on the Middle West and spread its icy fingers practically all over the country east of the Rocky Mountains. Snowstorms, blizzards and near-zero temperatures continued during the day in Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan, Minnesota, Iowa and Nebraska, the latter State reporting the worst storms.

Meanwhile, the government forecaster here tonight predicted that a severe cold wave which is expected to bring temperatures as low as between 10 above and zero is expected to hit the Middle West either Wednesday night or early Thanksgiving Day.

ALHAMBRAN KILLED

Among the deaths reported during the day was that of Mrs. Patricia Hill, 36 years of age, of Alhambra, Cal., who was killed near Ottawa, Ill., when the automobile in which she and her companion, Mrs. A. E. Carney of Detroit, slipped from an icy road and turned over. Mrs. Carney was seriously injured.

Deaths directly attributable to the storms and cold wave were reported from as far south as Atlanta, Ga., and Ludlow, Ky., tonight. The list of fatalities in the blizzard which has been sweeping the Rocky Mountain region was increased to twenty with the discovery of the bodies of five additional dead along snow-blocked roads in Colorado and Wyoming.

NEBRASKA SUFFERS

North Nebraska tonight is in the grip of the worst windstorm in its history. A fifty-mile gale has been blowing since this morning and considerable damage had already been reported. Heavy gales blew the roofs off box cars and carried them hundreds of feet into the fields. Many trees have been blown down and scores of cars on highways were blown over. The Northwestern Bell Telephone Company reports thirty repair crews work hampered by the gale in the storm area where 4000 poles are lying on the ground. Scores of windows in Norfolk were blown in and crashing signboards menaced pedestrians. Temperatures tonight are rapidly falling. Snow flurries are falling tonight.

In Iowa an inch of snow and high winds made driving dangerous, while reports from South Dakota said pheasants killed by sleet were being picked up by wagon loads. Iowa also found traffic crippled by the snow.

"Revolutionists" in Moscow Face Smoking Judges While Shrieking Foes Circle Building

MOSCOW, Nov. 25. (AP)—While the trial of eight leaders of the Industrial party charged with high treason and plotting foreign intervention in Russia proceeded within the House of Columns, the Moscow Trade Union, more than 500,000 unionist workers, tonight paraded past the building with numerous banners demanding their execution.

The parade was one of the greatest demonstrations of its kind in the city's history.

The opening of the trial was occupied principally with the reading of indictments which included portions of "confessions" of the accused. Two lawyers were appointed to represent the defendants.

The defendants seemed the most composed persons present, some smoking cigarettes and reading magazines, while clerks droned out the indictments.

Four judges sat wearily smoking cigarettes while the indictments were read, all dressed in soft-collared shirts.

Chief Prosecutor Krilenko, who has sent many men to death, idly watched the proceedings.

Surrounding the stage of the courtroom was a battery of movie and talkie cameras recording every movement of the prisoners, judges, lawyers and clerks. In front of the the stage more than 100 local and foreign journalists watched the proceedings. Soldiers surrounded the building and only those with tickets were permitted to enter.

Leonid Ramzin, one of eight defendants, made a voluminous confession.

In his two and one-half hours on the stand he pleaded guilty to the entire list of crimes charged in the recent indictment and spared none of his co-defendants, annihilating, as observers viewed it, whatever

Shortening of Labor Day and Week Sought

Methodist Board Appeals for Unfortunates

Catholic Prelates Also Issue Statement

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 25. (AP)—A shorter working day and shorter week in order to relieve the unemployment situation were urged in a statement issued today by the Board of Bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church after a meeting here.

"It is a grave indictment of our present economic system that multitudes of men and women are forced to walk the streets jobless, seeking employment and finding none," the statement said.

"Unless a way is found by which the hours of labor may be lessened and the days reduced to correspond to the output of machine production, labor saving devices may prove a curse rather than a blessing to those who are dependent upon their daily toil for their living.

"Further, we cannot escape the conviction that there is something unjust in a system that allows an industry to absorb the surplus earnings of its employees in prosperous periods and to cast them aside for society to care for when their labors are no longer profitable.

"Those who receive the benefits of labor in good times should bear their share of labor's maintenance in 'lean' times."

UNEMPLOYMENT CALLED PEACE-TIME TRAGEDY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25. (AP)—Unemployment was described today as "A sign of deep failure in our country" due to lack of good will and "neglect of Christ," in a statement issued in behalf of Catholic cardinals, archbishops and bishops of the United States.

The statement, issued by Most Reverend Edward J. Hanna, Archbishop of San Francisco, added that unemployment is "the great peace-time physical tragedy of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries," and "one of the great moral tragedies of our time."

"We call upon Catholics," the statement said, "and we ask all to do more than give alms and more even than take measures to provide work and reduce the present army of the unemployed. Both are imperative. People are suffering and we are obliged to help them.

"But our country needs, now and permanently, such a change of heart as will, intelligently and with determination, so organize and distribute our work and wealth that no one need lack for any long time the security of being able to earn an adequate living for himself and for those dependent upon him."

WOMAN OF 109 STAYS ON JOB

Birthday Luncheon Given by Her Fellow-Employees Only Diversion

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 25. (AP) Mrs. Emma McMahon, 109 years of age, went to work as usual today.

She was honored by her fellow-employees in a quilting factory at a birthday luncheon, an annual affair at the place of business where she appears for work six mornings a week.

Asked whether she had a recipe for happiness the seamstress said: "None at all; only get up early in the morning and work all day."

COL. WOODS URGES ROAD CONSTRUCTION

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25. (AP)—Construction of new roads and repairing old ones was described tonight in a radio speech by Col. Arthur Woods, chairman of the President's unemployment relief committee, as one of the important means to aid the jobless.

Speaking over the National Broadcasting system, Col. Woods said this would "contribute to a return to business stabilization by employing labor, and by buying materials at a time when they are cheap and when their use will be most important in restoring normal business conditions.

"For every man employed at actual labor on the roads," he added, "three others are engaged in other activities, in mines, quarry, factory and office to make that labor and material possible. Thousands and tens of thousands can be effectively employed on the construction and repair of our road system."

Meanwhile governors of nine States telegraphed Col. Woods that construction of roads and public works were planned for the near future as the result of approval of bond issues either by the States, cities or counties. The States reporting were New Jersey, Wyoming, Montana, Louisiana, Michigan, Illinois, Pennsylvania, Maryland and Washington.

WIRE GLASS COMPANY TO RESUME WORK

CONNELLSVILLE (Pa.) Nov. 25. (AP)—The plant of the Pennsylvania Wire Glass Company at Dunbar, near here, will resume operations within the next two weeks after being idle for three months, it was made known today. One hundred and fifty men will be employed.

BUSINESS GOOD AT INDIANA RADIO PLANT

MARION (Ind.) Nov. 25. (Exclusive)—Business is so good at the United States Radio and Television plant here that the force of 1000 employees has been increased by 200.

UNEMPLOYMENT GAINS IN GERMANY

BERLIN, Nov. 25. (AP)—Unemployment in Germany increased 230,000 during the fifteen-day period between October 31 and the 15th inst., when it was estimated at 3,484,000.

During the same period the number of unemployed receiving relief increased by 127,000, the total being 2,200,000, or 1,000,000 more than a year ago.

BRITISH REPORT MORE MEN JOBLESS

LONDON, Nov. 25. (AP)—Britain's unemployed on the 17th inst. totaled 2,285,987, representing an increase of 24,201 over the previous week, and 1,012,456 over a year ago, it was officially announced today.

daughter. The storm swept along Locust Creek Valley but no other casualties were reported.

Snow and sleet caused an airplane crash at Gaylord, Mich., this morning. Clark Travis, pilot of Petoskey, received a double fracture of the jaw, and George Pierce of Chicago, a passenger, a broken nose besides numerous bruises. The ship, a Monocoupe, was completely wrecked.

Ludwig Levy, 45, a New York salesman, was killed when his automobile slipped on an icy road and crashed into a train at Aurora, Ill.

ZERO IN DIXIE

The coldest point in the South today was on Mt. Mitchell in North Carolina, where it was zero at 7 a.m. The mercury fell to 24 deg. in Huntsville and Florence, Ala., and was below freezing in Northern Georgia and Mississippi.

Heavy damage was done in Sioux City, Iowa, by a northwest wind carrying flurries of blinding snow and freezing temperature. Numerous plate glass windows were blown in. Electric signs were demolished and scores of trees uprooted.

Four deaths were reported in Chicago, where a snow and windstorm raged all day. Temperatures early in the day fell to 15 deg. Tomorrow, according to tonight's official forecast, will be still colder with strong winds and more snow.

The freezing temperatures brought great suffering to thousands of homeless and destitute men and women and children and increased the burdens of relief agencies. Police stations tonight sheltered hundreds as did the organized shelters, and hot coffee was served to thousands.

SPOKANE BOMB SUSPECT JAILED

Man Held in San Francisco for Northern City

Share in Associated Press Plot Confessed

Revenge Reported Sought on Political Foes

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25. (Exclusive)—Thomas E. Boyle was jailed for Spokane authorities here tonight after admitting he accompanied a trunk laden with 130 sticks of dynamite and eight ounces of glycerine from this city to Seattle and shipped it to the Associated Press office in the Cowles Building there, where it failed to explode because one of the wires of the timing device were disconnected.

Boyle's story implicates Henry A. Ilse, arrested here early last Sunday morning, but it disagrees in some respects with that told in Spokane by John Farley, police and reform-school character, who furnished information upon which Boyle was arrested.

REVENGE SOUGHT

Boyle disclosed himself as the hitherto mysterious "O'Malley" who shipped the trunk from Seattle to Spokane. He said he was hired by Ilse for the purpose and offered $250 for the "job," and was willing to do it because he wanted to get even with "political enemies" who forced him out of the bootlegging business in Spokane.

He said Ilse instructed him to set the timing of the bomb so it would explode when the newspaper offices were empty.

At Seattle, where Boyle took a room at the Bush Hotel, he said he met Farley, a friend, and Farley dissuaded him from a legitimate bombing so he disconnected a wire. This is contrary to the story told by Farley to Tacoma police, who questioned him. Farley said Boyle offered him $500 a "job" for a series of dynamitings and it was Farley who disconnected the wiring so the bomb would not explode. Both are agreed the ingredients only were shipped from San Francisco and the construction of the bomb in the trunk was accomplished in the north.

OFFICE NOT EMPTY

Farley also said the timing device was set for 11:30 a.m., last Saturday. At this time there were many persons working in the Cowles Building and the bomb was amply powerful, had it exploded, to kill or maim all of them and destroy not only the building, but a great deal of surrounding property.

Boyle said he was one of the two men who carried the trunk to the point on Ashbury street in this city where it was picked up by an expressman. He named Ilse as his companion. A 14-year-old schoolgirl, Adele Romano, has identified Ilse as one of the men but the expressman, Joseph Axen, is not positive.

Spokane advices are that Farley is being brought here, but police say they have no information to that effect.

British Envoy Banquet Guest

NEW YORK, Nov. 25. (AP)—Guest of honor tonight at a dinner of the English - Speaking Union of the United States, Sir Ronald Lindsay, British Ambassador, called the relations between Great Britain and America the most pacific in the history of their separate political existences.

He defended briefly his country's policy in India and urged extension of the principles of the London naval treaty to further the cause of international disarmament of every kind.

Radio Stations Get Extensions

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25. (AP)—The Radio Commission today extended until December 31 the temporary licenses of a number of stations against which charges have been filed and which were operating under thirty-day permits from November 1.

The commission has held hearings on the various charges against the stations but no decision has been rendered.

The stations include: KGAR, Tucson, Ariz., and KMPC, Beverly Hills, Cal.

NEW BARRYMORE IN DEBUT

Ethel in Blackface Shares Broadway's Acclaim With Daughter in Negro Play

NEW YORK, Nov. 25. (AP)—Another Barrymore, comely, tall and 19 years of age, came to Broadway tonight—the first new stage recruit of her famous theatrical family in twenty-seven years.

Ethel Barrymore Colt, on the stage of a theater named for her mother, shared with that mother the applause of a first-night audience which gathered not only to see the stage-coming of the daughter, but to see Ethel Barrymore behind burnt cork in the role of a Negro woman.

The play, a dramatization of Julia Peterkin's 1928 Pulitzer prize novel, "Scarlet Sister Mary," was less the thing than the appearance of a leading actress of her time in blackface and th debut of a fifth generation of the Lane-Drew-Barrymore stage line.

Miss Colt, as Seraphine in the drama of Negroes, was content with a minor role for her first stage appearance.

But she was thrilled, she said, to be on the stage.

Some in the audience recalled that not since 1903 had Broadway seen a new Barrymore. Then it was John, playing a part in some long-forgotten play called "Glad of It."

Ethel Barrymore Colt made her first appearance on any stage at Columbus, O., some weeks ago in the role she played tonight.

For her mother, tonight's premiere was exactly two months short of the thirty-sixth anniversary of her stage debut at Broadway's Empire Theater, January 25, 1894, as Julia in "The Rivals."

chance they might have had for their lives.

Ramzin daubed with the same brush former President Raymond Poincare of France, Aristide Briand, French Foreign Minister, and the French and English general staffs, charging that they furnished brains to Rumanian and Polish legions for an intervention planned in the summer just passed.

He traced the history of the asserted conspiracy from the time of its inception through conferences purported to have been held with representatives of the French General Staff.

Ramzin's testimony was that the French and English general staffs, while not being called upon to furnish man power, were to figure the strategy which was to be used by Poles, Rumanians and whatever number of footloose white Russians could be mustered.

Ramzin bared his breast completely as he told of his activities.

"I wouldn't think of defending myself," he said, "as my destructive activities are evident. I hope by this trial to nullify all counter-revolutionary attempts."

FORMER KING SEEKS AFGHANISTAN THRONE

LONDON, Nov. 25. (AP)—A movement to restore former King Amanullah to the throne of Afghanistan is reported in a Peshawar dispatch to the Daily Herald today. The Suleiman Khels, a powerful trading tribe, were reported to have turned against King Nadir and to be ready to fight his armies if any are sent from Kabul.

WAR ON CRIME STATE'S AFFAIR

to Congress any extension of the Federal criminal laws to cover racketeering is untrue.

"Every single State has ample laws that cover such criminality.

"What is needed is the enforcement of those laws, not more laws.

"Any suggestion of increasing the Federal criminal laws in general is a reflection on the sovereignty and the stamina of State government.

NOT SATISFACTORY

"The Federal government is assisting local authorities to overcome a hideous and corrupt gangster control of some local governments. But I get no satisfaction from the reflection that the only way that this can be done is for the Federal government to convict men for failing to pay income taxes on the financial product of crime against State laws.

"What we need is a more widespread public awakening to the failure of some local governments to protect their citizens from murder, racketeering, corruption and other crimes, and the rallying of support to the men of these localities who today are making a courageous battle to clean up these places."

CHICAGO JUDGE STARTS CRUSADE ON CRIME

CHICAGO, Nov. 25. (AP)—The war between the "public" and its "enemies" went on apace today.

As the lid was clamped down on gambling in the Loop another gangster was held on $150,000 bail by Judge Lyle, crusading municipal jurist. He continued the trial of "West Side John" Barry on charges of burglary and larceny and set his bond at $150,000.

BURGLARY CHARGED

Barry and James (Fur) Sammons, who also drew a recent bond of $150,000 from Judge Lyle, are charged with the burglary of the Morand Brothers' liquor warehouse four years ago.

Judge Lyle then called Chief of Detectives Norton and asked him why, with 5000 men on the police force at his disposal, he had been unable to drive out "a little band of assassins headed by Capone and Moran." Norton replied the police were doing the best they could and picking up the "enemies" as fast as "they could."

SCORES EASY JUDGE

The jurist then opened an attack on some of the other judges, naming Judge David in particular, and saying it sometimes did the police no good to arrest men as the courts released them right away.

Referring to Judge David's reduction of the bonds of Claude Maddox, Capone gangster held on a charge of attempting to kill a policeman, Judge Lyle said his colleague "seems to be willing to turn criminals out on the street."

Arms Parley Draft Revised

GENEVA, Nov. 25. (AP)—The preparatory disarmament commission today completed the second reading of its draft convention and suspended its sessions until tomorrow afternoon to permit printing of the draft in its present status.

The third and final reading will began then. Eduardo Cobian of Spain and Maurice Bourquin of Belgium have been named as the commission's reporters.

ROCKETS MAY CONQUER FOG

Edison, Devoting Attention to Aviation's Worst Problem, Believes Solution to Be Simple

WEST ORANGE (N. J.) Nov. 25. (AP)—Thomas A. Edison today is devoting his inventive ability toward developing mechanisms to defeat aviation's greatest enemy—fog. In an interview with Lieut. Richard Aldworth, director of Newark Airport, the famous inventor said today he believed the solution is "much simpler" than it seemed to many students of the problem.

Edison said he was working out a system of signaling with rockets, using lights at night and black smoke in the day time. The rockets would be shot up 4000 feet and would tell the depth of the fog and the location of the airport.

ASKS MANY QUESTIONS

Mr. Edison questioned Aldworth at length on the character and appearance of fog, asking such questions as:

"What color are various degrees of fogs? How soon before you emerge from the fog does the color lighten? How does it look from the top? If you know the depth of the fog, can you land safely?

The answers, written by Aldworth because of the inventor's difficulty in hearing, covered twenty-five sheets of paper.

"I have been studying aviation intensely," Edison said. "And am giving my time, thought and activity to one of the greatest problems of the day, this matter of fog."

FEWER INSTRUMENTS NEEDED

He inquired what instruments are available to aviators at present and was informed by Aldworth that the need was "for fewer and less complicated instruments."

"That is true," Edison answered. "It seems to me that aviation can't see the mountain for the molehill."

On two recent visits to the airport, Edison had shown much interest in the autogyro plane invented by Juan De Cierva. He again questioned Aldworth about it today and showed the aviator his scrap book for 1906, in which the "Edison flying machine" was advertised. The "flying machine." Aldworth said, looked much like the autogyro, except that in place of horizontal propellers it had box kites fastened by piano wire.

LIBERTY MOTOR IN REDS' HANDS

Communist Inquiry Witness Startles Committee

Army Airplane Engines Bought by Trickery

Other Traitorous Activities Detailed to House

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25. (AP)—A special House committee heard today that American army airplane motors have been shipped to Russia, although the State Department "looks with disfavor" on the practice.

Basile W. Delgass, a former vice-president of the Amtorg Trading Corporation, made the charge before the House Communist-investigating committee. He said 400 Liberty motors, accompanied by "secret plans" for which "bribes" might have been paid, were sent to Russia as "other machinery."

"AMERICANS" BUYERS

The motors, he added, were bought from the War Department by American citizens whom he did not name, and resold to Amtorg.

Delgass also charged:

Passports were obtained illegally for thirty-nine Russians who entered the United States, some of them joining Amtorg's cipher and secret service department.

Andrew W. Petroff, his successor, obtained valuable information on a tour in the summer of 1929 of Middle West and West Coast Federal flying fields.

There are in the United States representatives of the Ogpu, soviet secret police, who are called "close neighbors" because of their closeness to the powers in Russia.

Various other witnesses described Communist activities in the United States during the hearing.

REPORT FORECAST

After Delgass had testified Chairman Fish of the committee said additional hearings will be held in a week or ten days and that a report and recommendations for legislation will be ready for Congress the latter part of December.

He added he planned to subpoena William Z. Foster, a former Communist candidate for President; Boris E. Skvirsky of the soviet information bureau of Washington and a representative of the Daily Worker.

RUSSIA ASSURED NO SLIGHT INTENDED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25. (AP)—Additional assurance that new Treasury regulations to bar goods made by convict labor from this country were not aimed at soviet Russia was given today by President Hoover.

In approving the regulations yesterday Secretary Mellon said they were not aimed at any particular country and were of general application.

The regulations, made in compliance with provisions of the Smoot-Hawley tariff bill, were general, the President said, and were in the ordinary course of making more effective the enforcement of laws against convict-made goods.

Mr. Hoover added the United States had not entered into and did not intend to enter into any trade conflicts with Russia.

ITALIA-RUSSIAN TRADE PACT DUE

Litvinoff's Visit Believed to Close Negotiations

Soviets Replace Market Now Barred by Tariff Here

Oil, Coal and Lumber to Be Shipped in Return

ROME, Nov. 25. (AP)—Observers were confident today that yesterday's conference between Foreign Minister Grandi and Maxim Litvinoff, soviet envoy, was a step in framing the second part of the important Italian-Russian trade treaty signed last August.

That treaty did not specify what Italy was to buy from the soviets. Under its terms Russia agrees to buy $10,000,000 of Italian manufactured goods during 1930 and 1931. A 75 per cent government credit over five years is assured to the sellers, leaving as a gamble a 25 per cent margin of profit.

AMERICA LOSES

When the treaty was under discussion last year it became known that an American oil firm was dickering to supply oil and gasoline to Italy. These negotiations were broken off by the Italian government, which informed the Americans that Italy would buy her oil from Russia.

At the same time permission was given Petrolia, the Russian oil concessionaire here, to build two refining plants. Well-informed opinion holds that the Russian organization was formed as a distributing organization to flood this part of Europe with cheap soviet oil.

Another phase of the situation is that Italy needs supplies of cheap lumber, coal and ore, all of which Russia has in plenty.

And there is a pressing need for building up Italian industry to offset the country's tremendous military expenses.

DUMPING UNFEARED

Italians find themselves in such a position as to be unafraid of Russian "dumping," because all Russia's products are badly needed in Italy and the American tariff wall cuts off Italy's most important market.

Since the present treaty has an extension clause providing for its renewal over two one-year periods on an increasing scale of $15,000,000 and $25,000,000 in Russian purchases here, it is regarded as likely that Italy now is ready to specify just what Russian products and how much of them she will need during the first one-year period.

INCREASED TARIFF DUE IN MEXICO

Senators Ask Ortiz Rubio to Levy Additional Duties as Aid to Industry

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 25. (AP)—Extension of the protective tariff policy to include many articles which under the present tariffs are still able to compete with Mexican products has been suggested by the Senate in a memorial to President Ortiz Rubio.

The President has extraordinary powers to deal with tariff matters and already has established a tariff wall against various articles while it is understood under the projected new grant of power he will extend it to other products at present imported on a large scale.

A decree just published in the official gazette establishes what is expected to be a prohibitive tariff on eggs, fruits, buttons, pencils, tin, zinc, chinaware, bricks and electric light bulbs.

Gangs Preying on Bargemen

NEW YORK, Nov. 25. (AP)—A tale of racketeering and terrorism was brought to the District Attorney's office today by two representatives of the Independent Tidewater Boatmen's Union, composed of barge captains and their crews.

Carter Hudson and William Murphy said that along the East River, where coal barges moor their hulks, gangsters have beaten and robbed the bargemen, attempted to attack their womenfolk and exacted tribute from women and children who hover around the docks picking up coal.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25. (Exclusive)—Senator Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic leader in the Senate, returned to Washington today for the reopening of Congress next Monday firmly of the opinion that the Democratic party will not recommend repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment in its 1932 platform.

"I do not think," he said, "that the Democratic platform will call for repeal. I do not favor repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment and I do not think it will be repealed.

"As for modification, I have no comment."

VIEW SIGNIFICANT

His statement was regarded as of unusual significance in view of the very definite wet trend in the Democratic ranks and the belief that exists in the minds of observers here that the party will nominate Franklin D. Roosevelt or some other dripping wet to head its national ticket in the next Presidential contest.

Robinson's attitude was taken as fresh and substantial warning that the southern wing of the Democratic party will fight to retain prohibition against the Democratic party leaders in the North and East who demand repeal or modification.

Meanwhile, it is becoming apparent that the wets and drys will have an opportunity to test their strength soon after the short session of Congress opens Monday. A showdown will come on the question of appropriating additional enforcement funds asked by Col. A. W. W. Woodcock, prohibition director, and Dr. James Doran, chief of the alcohol permit division of the Treasury.

SEEKS MORE FUNDS

The prohibition bureau wants approximately $2,000,000 more money next year to enable it to hire 500 additional enforcement agents. The request will bring on a fight which eventually will find its way to the floor of House and Senate.

In presenting its request to Congress the bureau must face an entirely new group of inquisitors this year as a result of the recent transyear as a result of the recent Treasury to the Department of Justice.

Heretofore the bureau's appropriations have been in charge of the House subcommittee on appropriations for the Treasury. That subcommittee has been notably sympathetic to the bureau's demands. From now on the bureau's appropriations are to be handled by the subcommittee on appropriations for the Department of Justice. The chairman of the subcommittee is Representative Shreve, Republican of Pennsylvania. Mr. Shreve is in favor of law enforcement, he says, but he is not listed as an ardent prohibitionist. The other two members of the subcommittee are Representative Tinkham, Republican of Massachusetts, and Representative Griffin, Democrat, of New York. Mr. Tinkham is one of the most enthusiastic wets in the House. Mr. Griffin is a Tammany Congressman from New York City and he is just as wet as Mr. Tinkham. Col. Woodcock must go before this subcommittee and convince it that the increased appropriation is necessary.

MAY CAUSE FIGHT

Representative Shreve frankly described his subcommittee today as "hard-boiled."

"We want to be fair," said Mr. Shreve, "but unless the prohibition bureau makes a good case of its needs it will not get the additional $2,000,000 requested."

The appropriations subcommittees in the House are powerful. Their recommendations are rarely overthrown. In this case, however, if the subcommittee declines to approve the prohibition bureau's request for more funds the fight is almost certain to be carried to the floor of the House and perhaps ultimately to the Senate. The drys are not likely to yield tamely and they are prepared to back Col. Woodcock's request to the limit.

GRAPE STAND SOUGHT BY MRS. WILLEBRANDT

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25. (Exclusive)—It became known today that Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, as attorney for the California interests, has asked the Department of Justice to restate its policy of noninterference in connection with the manufacture and use of nonintoxicating ciders and fruit juices in the home.

Mrs. Willebrandt's purpose, it is indicated, is to forestall any further interpretations of Section No. 29 of the Volstead Act that might prove a handicap in the campaign of grape growers to dispose of their surplus products in the form of grape juice concentrates.

As counsel for Fruit Industries, Ltd., a $30,000,000 California cooperative, Mrs. Willebrandt has filed a brief with the legal department suggesting that in the interest of clarity the government reaffirm its attitude. This attitude was officially set forth August 6, 1929, in a Treasury Department circular letter dictated by James M. Doran, then prohibition commissioner.

RUSSIA-CHINA RIFT WIDENS

Sharp Differences Shown on Railway Question

Soviet Curtly Turns Down Oriental Proposal

Threat of New Trouble on Border Increases

MOSCOW, Nov. 25. (AP)—A further interchange of notes over operation of the Chinese-Eastern Railway has disclosed a sharp difference of opinion between Russia and Moh Te-Hui, Chinese chairman of administration of the road.

Moh Te-Hui in a letter to L. M. Karakhan, assistant Commissar of Foreign Affairs, on the 17th inst. contended the present status of the road does not contravene the stipulations of the Peking-Mukden agreements of 1924 and until the status is modified by mutual consent or by China redeeming the railway, the status should not be altered by either party. He contended the Khabarovsk protocol must not be constructed so narrowly as to leave no room for modification.

Karakhan, in reply, expressed amazement at the stand taken by Moh Te-Hui, contending it contradicts reiterated statements by Chinese authorities. He charged Moh Te-Hui with expressing himself ambiguously and declares his position creates serious misgivings.

"The Union government," he concludes, "therefore considers it necessary to declare with special persistence and emphasis before representatives of the Chinese Republic and authorities of the three eastern provinces the complete inadmissibility of the arbitrary and unilateral actions in relation to the Chinese-Eastern Railway for precisely such actions created in 1929 a serious menace to the peace and neighborly relations between the U.S.S.R. and China."

The strained relations in 1929 led to fighting between troops of the two countries in Western Manchuria. A conference at Khabarovsk gave principal control to Russia, but this agreement later was repudiated by China. A conference again was called and most of the Khabarovsk obligations were fulfilled by China.

NATIONS HONOR NORWAY'S KING

Haakon Has Been on Throne Twenty-Five Years

Danish Royalty Present at Anniversary Fete

Prince George Represents England at Event

OSLO (Norway) Nov. 25. (AP)—Denmark joined with Norway today in celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of assumption of King Haakon VII, of the country's throne. King Haakon, until he became ruler of Norway, was Prince Carl of Denmark.

King Haakon and Queen Maud naturally were the chief figures in the national celebration, but grouped around them in the capital's principal church in a solemn commemorative ceremony this morning was a royal company that included King Christian and Queen Alexandria of Denmark, other members of the Danish royal family, and Prince George of England, who is the nephew of Queen Maud.

THOUSANDS APPLAUD

Many thousands of Oslo's population turned out to applaud the royal figures as they arrived at the church. The commemorative service was of simple character.

Many gifts have reached the royal pair from all over the world. The shipowners' association, representing Norway's great mercantile fleet, donated a large painting depicting Haakon's entrance into Oslo twenty-five years ago.

No representatives of the Swedish royal family was present except those who are blood relatives of the Norwegian royal figures, such as the Princess Inceborg, who, although wife of Prince Carl of Sweden, is a sister of King Haakon.

RELATIONS FRIENDLY

Although relations between Norway and Sweden have never been more friendly, and there is the warmest feeling between the Swedish and Norwegian royal families, the Norwegian people would not expect any member of the Swedish royal family to come to Oslo to celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of dissolution to the union between Sweden and Norway.

The dissolution cost the Swedish royal family its rights of inheritance to the Norwegian throne. In arranging today's celebration it was foreseen that there might be embarrassment if any of the Swedish royalty were present, since the Norwegian orators at such a festival could hardly help recalling the principal political events leading up to Haakon's assumption of the throne.

MAJ. FRANCO HIDES DEEP IN WHISKERS

Jail-Breaking Spanish Air Hero in Hirsute Disguise as He Eludes Pursuers

MADRID, Nov. 25. (AP)—Maj. Ramon Franco, flashing caballero who walked out of an old jail yesterday and has evaded all the police in Spain, is hiding behind a new set of whiskers, the authorities believe and plans to slip out of the country under cover of this disguise.

The police learned today that during his incarceration for writing objectionable political articles the foremost aviator of Spain had been letting his beard accumulate. Some of the prison guards remembered the whiskers seemed to change his whole appearance.

The agents seeking the fugitive have been ordered to treat him without deference for his standing as a national hero when and if they capture him, and to return him to jail to await punishment.

Work to Start Soon on Road Link in Mexico

NOGALES (Ariz.) Nov. 25. (AP)—Actual construction work on the proposed Nogales-Hermosillo highway will begin next February, according to F. G. Spilsbury, president of the Arizona Industrial Congress, who returned from Hermosillo today, where he attended a cattlemen's convention and a conference of prominent Americans and Mexicans relative to highways.

"Gov. Elias of Sonora informed me that funds now are available for highway work and that the project will be inaugurated in February. He said that the work will continue uninterrupted until the highway is completed," he said.

The highway is to be a part of the Pan-American highway from Alaska to Argentina.

Billings Case Decision Near

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25. (AP)—Chief Justice Waste of the California Supreme Court announced today the court on December 2 will issue to Gov. Young its recommendation on the pardon appeal of Warren K. Billings, convicted with Thomas J. Mooney of bombing a preparedness parade here in 1916.

The court, sitting informally off bench, recently held an extended hearing on the Billings application.

STATE PUBLIC WORKS DIRECTOR RESIGNS

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 25. (AP)—Bert B. Meek, director of the State Department of Public Works, tendered his resignation to Gov. Young today, to become effective January 5, 1931. Meek was prominent in the Governor's unsuccessful re-election campaign and it was not expected he would be asked by the Governor-elect to remain in office.

The Parker System of Group Dentistry Improves Service and Reduces Cost

Dental Practice on Large Scale Cuts Cost of Work

THERE is only one way to practice good dentistry at a moderate price to patients, and that is on a large scale and according to a plan.

Dentistry has too many branches and too many details for one man to do it well alone in a small office. There are extracting, filling, treating, artificial plate-making, crown and bridge work, examinations, advising patients, bookkeeping, making appointments, buying supplies, sending bills and many other business details to be looked after.

Under the E. R. Parker System a number of dental surgeons, dental mechanics, trained nurses, stenographers, bookkeepers and attendants work together in the cause of serving the public.

Each has some particular kind of work to do, and thus becomes expert in it, doing it better and in less time.

Advertisements are put in the papers telling what good dental work is done by the use of this Modern System, and many patients come in and have their teeth cared for.

Better dentistry can thus be given for less money. Where the patronage is large, the price can be made smaller.

You are invited to have you teeth examined free.

HAYS EXPLAINS FILM DECISION

Supreme Court Clarified Situation, He Says

Voluntary Arbitration Plan Now Being Developed

Credit System to Become Individual Matter

NEW YORK, Nov. 25. (AP)—Decisions of the United States Supreme Court yesterday which held compulsory arbitration and credit committee practices of motion-picture distributors to be in violation of the antitrust laws "definitely clarify distributor-exhibitor relationships," said Will H. Hays today.

Mr. Hays is president of the Motion-Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., representing the ten motion-picture distributors against whom the government acted in its suits.

"In the arbitration case," Mr. Hays said, "The Supreme Court affirmed the decision of Judge Thatcher of the United States District Court rendered a year ago last October. Since that time the industry has not operated under the plan questioned by Judge Thatcher.

"Since then the distributors and exhibitors have been developing a new system of voluntary arbitration to the end that the values of arbitration may be saved without including any compulsory provisions, and progress is being made in that direction.

"In his decision a year ago Judge Thatcher upheld the industry's practice in the operation of its credit committees, but this decision was reversed yesterday by the Supreme Court. The new decision simply means that individual distributors will determine with individual exhibitors a system of credit in each case."

Escaped Slayer of Dry Agents Killed by Posse

EUGENE (Or.) Nov. 25. (AP)—Ray Sutherland, 67 years of age, Marcola (Or.) slayer of two prohibition officers several months ago, was killed in a gun battle with deputies this morning. Officers surrounded him in the timbered hills between Oak Ridge and West Fir, east of here. The officers had been trailing him for eleven days.

Sutherland shot and killed Oscar Duley and Joe Saunders, special officers, last summer when a party of prohibition officers raided his place and sought to arrest him on liquor charges.

He then fled into the heavily timbered hills. Although posses searched for him for weeks after the killing he was successful in evading them. A reward of $1500 was offered for him, dead or alive.

GOLD STANDARD MADE ELASTIC

Adjustment Needs Remedied by Reserve Act

Many Faults Which Caused 1907 Panic Corrected

System Has Done Wonders; Perfection Not Claimed

The following is the third of four articles discussing the so-called "hard and soft money" controversy which has arisen again as a result of the present world-wide depression.

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR
[Copyright, 1930, by North American Newspaper Alliance.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 25. (Exclusive) After the long struggle for a gold standard had been won American business leaders began to see clearly that at least two seriousness weaknesses stood out in their banking system, currency inelasticity and deposit inelasticity.

The volume of money was based upon the volume of government bonds outstanding, not upon the needs of industry. Thus periods of inflation were followed by periods of deflation and no adjustments of the volume of currency in circulation to the needs of industry could be scientifically carried out.

SENSELESS SYSTEM

It was an awkward, senseless system. Today one may smile at the thought of basing the volume of currency upon the amount of government bonds outstanding. The inelasticity of the volume of money was a fundamental and far-reaching source of trouble.

A large proportion of the reserves of the 7000 national banks could not be gotten together quickly in times of emergency. They would freeze and remain frozen and unavailable for other parts of the country. This inelasticity of deposits brought the crisis quickly to a head.

The 1907 panic brought this out forcibly. Call loans advanced as high as 60 per cent, and above 25 per cent on seven days. Banks failed. The Knickerbocker Trust Company of New York failed in October, 1907. Wholesale liquidation followed, with 2000 firms in New York becoming insolvent.

RELIEF VOTED

The 1907 panic directed the public attention first to the fact that the nation's industry and commerce had grown much faster than the banking facilities. So the Aldrich-Vreeland Act, to make the currency more elastic, was passed in 1908 as a relief measure. At the same time the United States Monetary Commission was appointed to consider the whole problem of currency legislation.

Under the chairmanship of Senator Aldrich, Rhode Island, an exhaustive study extending over several years was made. In 1912 Senator Aldrich submitted his report and his recommendations to Congress. He asked for a central bank of issue with power of note issue, based on an elastic system. But Congress turned down the plan because its machinery was thought too concentrated and not democratic enough.

RESERVE ACT PASSED

When the Wilson administration came into power one of its first steps was the passage of the Federal Reserve Act of 1913, which represented, as Prof. Beard in his "Rise of American Civilization" said: "The union of Jacksonian hope and financial propriety."

This measure created the Federal Reserve Board, consisting of seven members, including the Secretary of the Treasury, the Controller of the Currency, ex-officio, and five others nominated by the President. The country was divided into twelve Federal Reserve districts, and the twelve Federal Reserve cities selected at that time were Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Cleveland, Richmond, Atlanta, Chicago, St. Louis, Minneapolis, Kansas City, Dallas and San Francisco.

BANKERS' BANKS

These banks do not deal with the public, they are not people's banks; they are bankers' banks. They receive deposits, make rediscounts and hold reserves for member banks. All national banks are compelled to become members, and State banks have every opportunity to join the system.

The most important function of the Federal Reserve banks, according to the Federal Reserve Act, is to "furnish an elastic currency." Federal Reserve notes, guaranteed by the government, are issued by the twelve Federal Reserve banks and secured by commercial paper of a character defined in the act.

PROTECTION FIXED

Any arount of reserve notes can be issued but they must be protected by a 40 per cent gold reserve, which provision, however, can be modified if necessary, but in that case a graduated tax on notes outstanding makes overissue unprofitable.

Now for the Federal Reserve system itself. Is it fulfilling the functions intended? Has it really been putting on the brakes when things moved too fast and speeding up when things moved slowly? Is it, after all, concerned with world finance much more than with American business? Do its methods discriminate against any class? Has the Federal Reserve favored stock speculation as against the business needs of the nation?

DEFECTS CITED

Laurence Laughlin, formerly professor of finance at the University of Chicago, thus summarized the defects in the old banking system which the Federal Reserev system was supposed to correct.

An inelastic bank note circulation; an even more dangerously inelastic credit system; ineffective use of large supplies of gold; a shattering of reserves and lack of cooperative action by banks in times of stress; a rigid reserve system which induced panics; State banks and trust companies doing a commercial business but in different systems; an independent Treasury divorced from the money market which imperiled bank reserves in times of difficulties; the drift of idle funds to the call-loan market, where they helped stock speculation, and the want of American banking facilities in other countries to aid United States foreign trade.

CHAMPIONS GOLD

Whether or not the Federal Reserve has been able in its sixteen years to correct all defects in the old system, it has accomplished wonders in mobilizing credit and reserves in a way never before accomplished.

Se Cerrarán a Medias las Minas Hulleras Belgas

BRUSELAS, Noviembre 25.—Las minas belgas de carbón, que tienen en existencia 2,500,000 toneladas de hulla, van a reducir su rendimiento a partir del mes entrante; de tal modo que los mineros tendrán una quincena de jornal completo, y la siguiente recibirán socorro. La Compañía de Ferrocarriles Nacionales está ayudando a dar salida a las existencias de carbón, fijando cuotas reducidas para el transporte de dicha mercancía y usando exclusivamente carbón belga en sus locomotoras. Como la industria metalúrgica está recibiendo pedidos del extranjero, se espera que pronto vuelva la situación normal para las minas carboníferas.

Los Desocupados Británicos Crecen en Número

LONDRES, Noviembre 25.—El 17 del actual llegaban a 2,285,987 los desocupados en la Gran Bretaña; es decir, había 24,201 más que en la semana precedente, y 1,012,486 más que hace un año. Tales son las noticias oficiales de hoy.

El Mayor Franco Oculta sus Facciones entre Tupida Barba

MADRID, Noviembre 25.—El mayor Ramón Franco, audaz aviador militar evadido ayer de una vieja cárcel, y que ha podido eludir a la policía de toda España, ha cambiado su fisonomía, según alegan las autoridades, tras tupida e hirsuta barba, y tiene la intención de salvar las fronteras del país amparado por su disfraz.

Hoy supo la policía que durante su prisión, por haber escrito artículos políticos de ataque, el más famoso aviador de España se había dejado crecer la barba. Algunos guardias de la cárcel se fijaron en que, mediante tal arbitrio, su fisonomía había cambiado notablemente.

La Policía Australiana Bastonea a los Comunistas

SYDNEY (Nueva Gales del Sur), Noviembre 25.—La policía aprehendió hoy a diez presuntos comunistas, después del disturbio causado por cincuenta manifestantes que querían enviar una diputación al primer ministro con un memorial referente a la falta de trabajo. Los manifestantes intentaron marchar hasta la Casa del Parlamento, donde abrió hoy formalmente sus sesiones el parlamento de la Nueva Gales del Sur. La policía fue atacada y hubo de recurrir a sus palos para someter a la muchedumbre.

Tejas Invita a Varios Jefes de Estado a una Celebración

AUSTIN (Tejas), Noviembre 25.—El gobernador Moody ha firmado hoy invitaciones a un rey, dos presidentes, un cardenal y dos embajadores extranjeros, para que visiten a San Antonio el día 14 de Marzo próximo, con motivo de la dedicación del palacio de los gobernadores españoles, en una celebración cívica del ducentésimo aniversario del establecimiento de un gobierno civil en la Ciudad del Alamo.

Las elegantes invitaciones, grabadas sobre badana, fueron dirigidas al rey Alfonso de España y su reina, al presidente y la señora Ortiz Rubio, de Méjico; al presidente y la señora Hoover, al cardenal Hayes y a los embajadores español y mejicano en Washington.

Cuadrillas de Bandidos que Atacan a los Patrones de Gabarras

NUEVA YORK, Noviembre 25.—Un relato de terror y bandolerismo ha sido hecho hoy en la fiscalía por dos representantes de la Independent Tidewater Boatmen's Union, que se compone de patrones de gabarras y tripulantes de las mismas.

Relataron Carter Hudson y William Murphy que a lo largo del East River, donde se amarran los lanchones de carbón, las cuadrillas de malhechores han golpeado y robado a los patrones de gabarras, intentando violar a sus mujeres, y cobrando tributo de los mujeres y niños que vagan por las dársenas recogiendo carbón.

El Juez Difiere la Sentencia de Hulme

Ayer fue diferida por el juez superior Schauer la sentencia de Phillip D. Hulme, corredor de inmuebles de Alhambra, mientras se oye la petición de nuevo juicio, que está anunciada para la mañana de hoy. Hulme salió convicto de homicidio.

Cuando fue citado el reo ayer para sentencia, su defensor, Richard Cantillon, presentó una moción de nuevo juicio basada en supuestas irregularidades.

Hulme fue consignado por haber atropellado y muerto a David Thomas en el puente de la calle Siete Este, la noche del 10 de Agosto último.

El Jurado Declara que dos Japoneses Mataron a un Ranchero

La muerte de Luz Mata, de 45 años, ranchero mejicano de Thermal, fue causada por U. Tanaka, de 28 años, y Frank Nokano, de 37, japoneses. Tal fue el veredicto del jurado del forense reunido la mañana de ayer para una encuesta en la funeraria de Addleman y Flingerman, en El Monte.

Uno de los miembros del jurado manifestó que no podía fijar la responsabilidad del asesinato.

Con la cabeza enteramente desfigurada a golpes, el cuerpo de Mata fue hallado la mañana del último jueves en un zanja de riego cercana a Arcadia. El robo y la cancelación de un pagaré que debía Nokano a Mata fueron los motivos para el asesinato, según los tenientes sheriffs Cloud y Aires.

ARMY SENTRY SHOT ON DUTY

Private Cooper's Own Gun Used to Wound Him

Attacked by Two Men Clad in Sailor Uniform

Guard Over Rockwell Field Bombers Hit in Side

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 25.—Private Maxwell E. Cooper, army sentry, was shot with his own pistol at Rockwell Field this morning after he had been attacked by two men in sailors' uniforms while guarding a fleet of bombing planes. A .45-caliber bullet pierced Cooper's left side and came out on the front of his left shoulder. His assailants escaped.

Extra guards have been posted at Rockwell Field, and no one is being permitted to leave without special permission of the commanding officer. Special guards also have been placed at Fort Rosecrans to prevent the two fugitives from escaping across the channel by boat.

The sentry went on duty at 5 a.m. today. He was walking down the line of bombers when suddenly he heard a suspicious noise. Drawing his .45, he loaded it and stopped to investigate. Without warning, two men dressed in sailors' uniforms jumped out from behind a plane and grabbed him. One snatched his pistol. "I tried to call the corporal of the guard," said Cooper when questioned in the hospital, "and the man with the gun pointed it at me and fired. He tried to shoot again but the gun jammed. He threw it down and both men started running."

The sentry, bleeding and groggy from his wound, managed to stagger as far as the army hospital, where he was received for treatment about 6 a.m. The alarm was sounded, but both the attackers eluded capture.

A double investigation of the shooting is being made by army and navy authorities at North Island. The sentry's jammed pistol was found lying beneath one of the planes. Cooper's condition is not thought serious at the hospital.

Capone Visits Ontario, Rumor Keeps on Saying

ONTARIO, Nov. 25.—Al Capone, the scar-faced beer baron and racketeer of Chicago, has been paying frequent visits to this city, according to rumors today that continue to grow.

He was in Ontario on "business," according to Italian grape growers, who refused to tell with whom he has been transacting his "business." His visits have been for the purpose of negotiating grape purchases, the unconfirmed rumors declare. His desire to acquire grapes was motivated by the recent stand of grape juice merchants in announcing they would sell their concentrated grape juices in drug stores regardless of threats from gangland.

Efforts to locate the Italian grape men with whom Capone is supposed to have transacted "business" were futile.

Asserted Case of Suicide Has Mystery Angle

SANTA MONICA, Nov. 25.—Mystery today surrounded the asserted suicide of W. P. Siems, 38 years of age, secretary-treasurer of a Los Angeles automobile finance company, who was found dead in his car near here yesterday. Police say they have found his financial accounts in good condition, his personal life wellordered, and absence of a motive for self-destruction.

Siems, according to police, died from the effects of gas fumes from the motor pouring into his closed car. From witnesses the officers obtained information indicating that Siems drove his machine to the brink of a precipice overlooking the ocean between 10 and 11:30 a.m. yesterday. The body is at the Price-Daniel funeral home at Sawtelle. Funeral arrangements have not been made.

SANTA MONICA BAN ON HANDBILLS BEGUN

SANTA MONICA, Nov. 25. (AP)—A city ordinance prohibiting distribution of circulars and handbills in this city, adopted by the City Council at the request of the Apartment-House Owners' and the Merchants' associations and the merchants' division of the Chamber of Commerce, went into effect here yesterday. Circulation of newspapers or other publications entered under second-class mailing rights, whose delivery has been ordered by receivers, is not interfered with. The ban includes littering automobiles with street-delivered handbills and advertising matter.

TODDLER'S TOUR OF WORLD HALTED

UPLAND, Nov. 25.—Earl Batchelor, 4-year-old son of John Bachelor, Jr., 1753 Second avenue, decided on a tour of the world without saying anything to anybody about it. Consequently, when his absence was discovered, a wide search was made, with police and neighbors scouring the community. Three hours were spent in futile search for the lad. The suspense was ended when he walked into a drug store in quest of an ice cream cone. The clerks had heard of his disappearance and after the cone was delivered he was carried off to his home.

TRAIN HITS AUTO AND TWO HURT

Espee "Coaster" Strikes Car Driven by Mrs. Stella Torres at Oxnard

OXNARD, Nov. 25.—Mrs. Stella Torres, 26 years of age, suffered a broken shoulder and possible internal injuries at 9:50 a.m. today when the roadster she was driving was hit by the Southern Pacific Coaster at the First-street intersection in this city. Her 4-year-old daughter Stella was bruised but otherwise unhurt. The woman was removed to St. John's Hospital here, where her condition is said to be grave.

In a statement to Deputy Sheriff Ed Hearne, given after she was cared for at the hospital, Mrs. Torres said she stopped at the crossing to let a west-bound freight train pass. As it went beyond the street intersection she started her car and was hit by the east-bound passenger train, which was on the opposite track. She said that she heard no whistle or warning of any kind.

Engineer Nesbit, Conductor Welch and Fireman Donald of the train crew aided the woman following the accident, which was witnessed by Manual Barrios of this city and J. W. Greffey of Ventura.

Man Accused of State Medical Law Violation

SANTA ANA, Nov. 25.—Said to have written hundreds of bogus prescriptions during his stay of several weeks in this city, during which he put up at one of the leading hotels, "Dr." Paul Pritsell, 50 years of age, who says he is a registered pharmacist in New York, is under arrest here charged with practicing medicine in California without a license.

Pritsell, who said he had come to California from Bayside, Long Island, New York, had a number of prescription blanks from San Diego and New York drugstores in his possession when he was arrested, according to Albert Carter, special agent of the State board of medical examiners, who brought about his arrest. Deputy Sheriff Herman Zabel assisted Agent Carter in the arrest.

The "doctor" was arraigned today before Justice of the Peace Kenneth Morrison.

San Bernardino Municipal Store to Aid Needy

SAN BERNARDINO Nov. 25.—Under the direction of Mayor John Ralphs Jr., a municipal store was opened here today to take care of the unemployed and needy this winter.

The store is being operated without any overhead and at no cost to the city. Every article on its shelves has either been donated or purchased from cash donations made by the public. Mayor Ralphs said any citizen who cares to do so can donate money to be used in the purchase of bread and milk tickets to be distributed among families where there are a number of children.

A meeting of San Bernardino organizations will be called by the Mayor as soon as the store becomes more firmly established. These will include the Woman's Club, American Legion, county welfare board and others.

As funds become available, Mayor Ralphs said that probably the crops of entire orchards or truck gardens will be purchased and the food stored for distribution as needed. The whole-hearted response to his venture assures its success, he added.

Ontario Pastor in New Venture

ONTARIO, Nov. 25.—Rev. J. Orrin Gould, former pastor of Ontario First Baptist Church, who led part of his flock from the church following a break in the congregation some weeks ago, will launch out on a new religious venture here starting Sunday, the 30th inst., he announced today.

Rev. Gould will conduct services hereafter at the local Fox-Granada Theater, he said in his announcement. This will bring about a dream of twenty-six years, according to his statement.

"This will not be the creation of a new denomination religiously, but will be an endeavor to enlarge on the work begun by the Great Teacher nearly 2000 years ago," said Rev. Gould. "There will be no creed or ritual used in these services, but an informal program of religious education, inspiration and enlistment for life for the practice of true religion and Christian philanthropy as taught in the sacred Scriptures. We desire to promote a program based on the teachings of Jesus Christ, that will be an honor to Him, and helpful to those of us who are living in the community today."

ANCIENT AIR BROUGHT UP BY TRUCK FIRE

ONTARIO, Nov. 25.—"Yes, we have no bananas." This old frazzle-edged tune was revived this week by the San Bernardino Produce Company. It was sung with feeling and truth. A truck loaded with bananas owned by the San Bernardino company caught on fire between Monte Vista and Ramona avenue and before the fire department could get to the scene the entire cargo had gone up in smoke. The bananas were worth $210 and the damage to the truck exceeded that figure.

LANG COMPANY GETS FRANCHISE

Ten-Year Agreement Given by Long Beach Council

It Covers All But Electric Car Transportation

Cut in Municipal Gas Rate Also Sanctioned

LONG BEACH, Nov. 25.—Lang Transportation Company was granted a ten-year franchise covering all transportation except electric cars, by action of the City Council today. The franchise insures 5-cent city-wide fare and universal transfers.

Under the terms of the franchise the Lang company will pay $1000 a year for it.

The Lang company has operated most of the bus lines of the city on a permit for the last three years and conducted other lines on short-term franchises taken over in a purchase of four lines.

The City Council ordered a cut in the municipal gas rate from 75 cents for the first 1000 cubic feet to 60 cents, in a motion adopted this afternoon authorizing the City Attorney to draft the measure. Under the new ordinance the rate will be 60 cents up to consumption of 10,500 cubic feet per month.

Preparations for Next Citrus Season Begun

UPLAND, Nov. 25.—One season for citrus fruits having closed, preparations are under way for the next one, and packing-houses of the community are being made ready for the 1931 crops.

At the close of each season the packing-houses are in need of repairs and general overhauling, and such programs are being carried on in Upland, Alta Loma, Cucamonga, Etiwanda and Ontario.

Annual meetings have been held by the various associations, and in practically all cases showed greater returns for the fruit shipped than last year when more oranges and lemons were handled.

By repairing the machinery and buildings during "in between seasons" employees are kept on the pay rolls of the packing-houses, and the unemployment problem given that much assistance.

Picking of the next crop of oranges may get started in December. Indications are that there will be large orange crops next season, but will not be as large as some previous seasons.

March Field to Open Bids Soon

RIVERSIDE, Nov. 25.—Bids for the construction of building and ground improvements supplementing the present construction program being carried on at March Field, government airport and army pilot training field, will be opened December 10, it was announced today by Col. W. C. Gardenhire, quartermaster.

Completion of the new March Field hospital, the major improvement in the program, and twelve bungalows for officers' quarters, is expected in February. The hospital is practically half finished. It is being built by R. J. Chute, Los Angeles firm. An addition to the finished hospital structure to house kitchens, dining-rooms, recreation and squad rooms will also be made. Bids for this job have been opened but no contracts have been awarded.

Another item in the improvement program under way at March Field is the recently completed sprinkling system installed on the grounds at a cost of $25,000.

An extensive program of landscape gardening is planned for spring. Bids to be opened next month are for the laying of water, gas and sewer lines, and building walks, drains and roads.

Sidebottom to Be County Sealer

SANTA ANA, Nov. 25.—J. Fred Sidebottom, circulation manager for a Los Angeles newspaper in Anaheim, member of the Orange County Council of the American Legion, today was appointed Orange county Sealer of Weights and Measures to succeed the late George McPhee.

Sidebottom, who was proposed for the place by Supervisor William Shumaker, will retain James Randell, present assistant, as his aide, it was announced. Sidebottom, selected from nearly a score of applicants, takes office immediately.

Miss L. M. Craemer of Orange, sister of Justus Craemer, newspaper publisher, was named Orange county statistician. She will work in the office of Auditor-elect W. T. Lambert. Miss Craemer was statistician several years ago under County Auditor William Jerome.

TRUCK DRIVER HURT IN CRASH EXPIRES

VENTURA, Nov. 25.—C. F. Fri, who was injured yesterday, when the truck he was driving skidded and turned over on the State highway near Ivy Lawn Cemetery, died yesterday afternoon at the Big Sisters' Hospital from his injuries. The truck collided with a car driven by W. C. Gorman of Fresno, who was not hurt.

UNION PLANNED SERVICES

MAYWOOD, Nov. 25.—The six churches of Bell and Maywood will hold a union Thanksgiving service tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock in the Grace Lutheran Church in Bell. These churches are the Baptist, Christian, Lutheran, Friends, Methodist and Presbyterian.

MOTHER AND SON REUNITED

Chance Joins Long-Separated Pair

Mrs. Jack Barbour and Fremont Trobet

Fremont Trobet and his mother, Mrs. Jack Barbour, who have been reunited after a search of twenty years by the mother for her son, who was taken from her when he was a baby. Photo by Mowry studio.

GLENDALE, Nov. 25.—A chance invitation, issued by one youth and accepted by another as they sat by an Oregon trout stream, ignorant of the fact that they were first cousins, has led to the reunion of a mother and son in Glendale and has terminated a search that has covered the last twenty years and that has ranged all the way from Alaska to California.

Twenty years ago Mrs. Jack Barbour, now residing at 754 Omar street, this city, left Alaska, where her child by her first husband had been born, and came to Seattle. Shortly thereafter divorce proceedings were filed, but before the decree was issued the husband took the baby and returned to Alaska. The child had been named Fremont Trobet.

Mrs. Trobet, as she was then, followed and obtained the child. On the ship that was to carry them back to the United States she left him alone in her stateroom just before the vessel swung away from the dock, and when she returned the baby was missing.

Since then Mrs. Barbour has pursued the search for her lost son up and down the coast, sometimes drawing close to the object of her hunt, only to lose him again and the child and his father moved to a new location.

In the meantime the boy had grown to manhood. Recently, while residing on a ranch in Oregon, he became acquainted with another youth who lived in the same district. The friendship between them grew and they spent as much of their time together as possible.

The friend recently invited Trobet to visit him at his home, and when he presented Trobet to his mother the latter said, "I have a sister who had a boy by that name, but she hasn't seen him for twenty years."

Trobet and his new friends compared notes and he learned that the woman was his aunt and that the boy with whom he had formed his friendship was his cousin.

With the knowledge that the mother whom he had never known was alive, Trobet saved his money until he was able to buy a ticket to Glendale. On his arrival here he went to his mother's home.

"I was busy about my household duties one day when I saw a young man come walking up the path to the door. I was in two minds about answering his ring for I thought he might just be another house-to-house salesman, but finally I opened the door," Mrs. Barbour related.

"Are you Mrs. Jack Barbour?" the young man asked.

"Yes," the woman replied.

"Well, I'm Fremont Trobet," he said, and the twenty years of separation ended in a hugging bee.

"Christmas! Say, my boy has brought me himself, the finest Christmas present my heart could have wished," said the happy mother today.

Trobet has already had a year of college work and is planning to continue his education in Southern California, with the ultimate intention of engaging in journalism.

"He's going to stay with me now—permanently," Mrs. Barbour declared emphatically.

CHURCHES IN COMMUNITY SERVICES

Congregations Will Unite in Thanksgiving Rites at San Bernardino

SAN BERNARDINO, Nov. 25.—Plans to hold a community Thanksgiving service by the churches of San Bernardino were announced today by Rev. Lowell A. Young, president of the San Bernardino Ministerial Association. The service will be held Thanksgiving Eve in the First Methodist Episcopal Church.

The service is open to the public and will take the place of individual worship in the city churches with the exception of a few, where Thanksgiving observances will be Thursday morning. Among these are the two Catholic churches and that of the Christian Scientists. Offerings taken at the community service will go to the ministerial union this year.

THANKSGIVING SERVICES IN ONTARIO THURSDAY

ONTARIO, Nov. 25.—Ontario churches will unite Thursday morning for the annual community Thanksgiving services, Rev. C. L. Knight, pastor of Bethel Congregational Church, secretary of Ontario Ministerial Union, announced today.

The services are to be held at the Nazarene Church, of which Rev. F. Arthur Anderson is minister. Mr. Anderson will serve as chairman of the committee on arrangements.

The sermon will be preached by Rev. Shirley R. Shaw, pastor of the First Christian Church. His subject will be "The Grace of Gratitude."

J. L. Grahame of the First Methodist Church is in charge of the musical program.

WEED GANG NUMBERS WILL BE INCREASED

SOUTH GATE, Nov. 25.—As a means of relieving unemployment here to some extent, the City Council has instructed the superintendent of streets to increase the number of men employed in the "weed gang." Five of the men who have had steady employment for some time, have been laid off for a few days, and others are being employed. The new squad of ten or more men will be given work for a week after which another group will be put to work to fill their places. In the meantime these workers will file their applications for steady employment, and every effort will be made to obtain work for them within the city.

AUDITOR GIVEN SENTENCE

One-to-Fourteen Years' Term Imposed Upon Harry E. Raymer at Riverside; Probation Denied

RIVERSIDE, Nov. 25.—Sentence of from one to fourteen years in San Quentin penitentiary this morning was pronounced on County Auditor Harry E. Raymer by Judge G. K. Scoville of Orange county. Raymer was sentenced on five counts of falsifying public records, grand theft and giving of fraudulent certificates. The terms are to run concurrently.

"Probation in this case would be a mockery," Judge Scoville asserted, after listening to an impassioned plea by H. L. Thompson, the Auditor's attorney. "When a man elected by the people deliberately violates his trust, he is not entitled to benefit from the probation law."

Raymer's chances for probation faded when the report of Probation Officer C. W. Mathews was presented. "I find no mitigating circumstances," Mathews said, in concluding his twenty-four-page report. The probation officer revealed that Raymer had declared his salary was too small to support his family and that he had misappropriated money from the tax-redemption fund for two years. The defalcations were said to total more than $9000.

In pleading for his client, Attorney Thompson declared that Raymer, after hastily leaving the city, had returned of his own volition. "He pleaded guilty in court, and has aided in straightening out his accounts. He certainly is entitled to some consideration."

Raymer's shortage was discovered three weeks ago by a special audit made for the grand jury.

PRIZE OFFERED FOR PICTURES

Palm Springs Association Announces Contest

Awards Cash and Expenses at Hotels

Short Essays to Accompany Each Photograph

PALM SPRINGS, Nov. 25. (Exclusive)—A photograph and essay contest calculated to produce outstanding impressions of the desert surrounding this resort was announced today by Palm Springs Associates, an organization dedicated to civic development. Beginning Friday it will be open to all excepting professional photographers and writers. Winning contestants are to be awarded cash prizes and week-end visits to Palm Springs hotels.

Rules governing the competition are as follows:

Each photograph must be accompanied by a letter, not exceeding 200 words, in which the amateur photographer describes the scene in simple English prose and explains why it inspired him to photograph it.

Each contestant may submit more than one photograph and essay. His name and address must be written plainly on the back of each picture and at the top of his essay. No entries will be returned.

All entries are to be addressed to B. W. Hunter, Palm Springs Desert Contest, Palm Springs, Cal.

The board of judges comprises A. Katchamakoff, head of the Palm Springs Art School; Victor MacLaglen, film star, and Charles A. Rook, Jr., a resort specialist.

"To the average person the desert is like nothing else he has ever seen," Hunter said today in announcing the contest. "No two pictures of the desert are similar. There is a fascination about these great sweeps of barren grayness which the visitor at first does not understand, but which demonstrates its grip upon him by compelling him to return again and again.

"To the amateur photographer the desert here offers beauties without number. They have only to be encountered—the clumbs of cacti, the strange rock formations or the many other vistas of loveliness—to be appreciated by the artistic eye. Let the amateur artist visit Tahquitz Canyon or Andreas Canyon or the sparkling Tahquitz Falls or the Date Gardens, and he will be unable to resist the temptation to make a picture and write a description.

"A mile or so beyond Palm Springs is a forest of smoke trees, the only one of its kind in America, while in Palm Canyon, which soon is to be made a national park, are trees of prehistoric origin. And to think that these and the countless other scenes of exquisite beauty are but a few hours by motor from Los Angeles!"

Orange Show to Be Decked Like Persian Palace

SAN BERNARDINO, Nov. 25.—Transformation of the National Orange Show Building into a Persian palace for its twenty-first annual exposition, is expected by officials to bring a record-breaking throng to San Bernardino next February. Settings for the show will be far more dazzling than for any previous event, Manager Roy Mack promises.

Predictions of unequaled success for the show are being made by its directors on the basis of the number of exhibits already promised. Among those who have definitely announced their intention of entering features are Los Angeles county, Orange county, Ventura county, the Pacific Electric and Redlands Chamber of Commerce.

Among the feature exhibitors will be a number who have never been represented in the show or who have not entered a display for several years. San Diego county is planning an elaborate entry after an absence of two years. The Hemet-San Jacinto Chamber of Commerce also will be represented after an absence of several years.

Virtually all of the fruit-rack space has been taken, said Mack. The American Fruit Growers will have its regular allotment of eighty feet, while the Mutual Orange Distributors is expected to have a similar space. Arizona growers are considering entering a rack of grapefruit. Imperial county has definitely announced it will have fruit on display.

With exhibitors being lined up far in advance of other years, orange show officials are confident of having their greatest exposition next February.

CHAMPIONSHIP TEAM TO BE KNOWN SOON

EL CENTRO, Nov. 25.—Imperial Valley's high school football championship this season is to be decided in the final game of the schedule, when Calexico and El Centro, both undefeated, are to meet on Calexico's field Thanksgiving Day. In a previous contest, the 10th inst., the two teams played to a scoreless tie. Both schools have defeated Brawley and Holtville in the four-team league twice.

CALEXICO FEELS THREE TEMBLORS

CALEXICO, Nov. 25.—Three light earthquake shocks were felt here last night, the first at midnight, the next at 4:30 and the third at 6 a.m. The shocks were of short duration and no damage was done, the tremors being so light that many residents were not awakened from their sleep.

OLD CLASS BELL BINDS PUPILS

Boys and Girls of Long Ago Meet Again to Hold Commencement

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 25.—Old memories were revived at a church dinner here at which the honor guests were members of the first graduating class of what is now known as the Bakman Avenue Elementary School. That was in 1896. North Hollywood was then a ranch settlement, known under the Indian name Toluca, which gave way to the name Lankershim in 1907, and then later to North Hollywood.

The class members assembled just as they did at commencement thirty-five years ago, using the old school bell, teacher's desk and class motto, all now the property of the class. The place of Prof. Salee, pioneer pedagogue, now dead, was taken by R. M. Killion and diplomas again were awarded.

Members of the old class present were Cecil Wilcox, veteran editor; Mrs. May Van Winkle Webster, Mrs. Edith Burke Chamberlain, Mrs. Helene Schutte Kurky, Dan Bakman and Ado Van Winkle.

OLD CENSUS DOCUMENT UNEARTHED

Report on Old Town, West of Redlands, Made Before Mexican War, Found

REDLANDS, Nov. 25.—A census made of Old Town, west of Redlands, and the San Bernardino Valley by the Mexican government before the war with the United States has just been discovered in the office of the City Clerk in Los Angeles. It was found by George W. Beattie of the Historical Society.

The census gives the names of the Mexican citizens and members of their households living in Yucaipa, San Bernardino and Jurupa, which is near what is now Riverside. In the list are the names of Jose Bermudez and Maria Armenta, with whom the Americans who arrived in the Mormon migration first became acquainted.

Maria Armenta was the first business woman of the valley. She freighted produce to Los Angeles and San Pedro and conducted a store in which she sold the goods she got in exchange. The birthplace of Bermudez was given as Lower California and that of his wife, Maria, as Los Angeles. They lived in the San Timoteo Canyon, between Yucaipa and Redlands.

The name of Diego Sepulveda, who won out in contest with Ygnacio Palomares for the Yucaipa Valley, heads the list of Yucaipa. It is stated that he built the first substantial house of walls there.

Beattie also learned that Andreas Pico, brother of Pio Pico, once applied for a grant of San Bernardino Valley, asserting it had been abandoned by the Mission San Gabriel.

Retention of Biscailuz Urged

SANTA MONICA, Nov. 25. — A petition asking Governor-elect Rolph to retain Eugene Biscailuz, Young appointee, as head of the California State Highway Patrol Service, was forwarded from Santa Monica today, bearing the signatures of hundreds of leaders in business and civic affairs.

At the head of the list was the name of Mrs. D. G. Stephens, the "Mother of Santa Monica," whose leadership in philanthropic and civic affairs last week brought her a personal tribute from President Herbert Hoover, on the occasion of her ninety-second birthday.

Biscailuz, a local resident, has occupied the important office but a short time, leaving a post as Undersheriff of Los Angeles county to accept the appointment. A statement declares: "The abilities and efficiency of a man should be rewarded, and his retention in the office is paying homage due to the service of Eugene Biscailuz."

PEACE OFFICERS GIVE CHRISTMAS CIRCUS

SANTA ANA, Nov. 25.—Plans for a Christmas circus, featuring five rings of big-top performers, with all the accoutrements, from pink lemonade to the tattooed lady, were announced here today by John Stanton of Tustin, president of the Orange County Peace Officers' Association, as the annual entertainment for the benefit of the association's relief fund. The circus will be held here December 12 and 13 with performances in the afternoon and evening. Heading the big-top organization is Al Copeland, technical director and adviser for many motion-picture companies in scenes employing a circus or carnival background. Several cowboys who gained fame in the silent motion pictures will be here with the circus, Copeland said. A number of the foremost acts from the largest circuses will be included on the bill. The circus will be held on the Union Pacific site on East Fourth street.

United Artists to Lease New Pasadena Ho...

PASADENA, Nov. 25.—A ... theater building, soon to rise on ... south side of Colorado street, ... east of Madison avenue, will be ... leased by the United Artists ... Corporation, which is planning to ... erect twenty-five similar theaters ... smaller California cities, it was ... learned here today.

The United Artists' decision to ... acquire a chain of theaters throughout the United States, leasing the first twenty-five in this State, is reported to be an aftermath of the "war" between United Artists and the Fox-West Coast organization. It was announced yesterday that Samuel Goldwyn has been made production head of United Artists, succeeding Joseph M. Schenck.

Sol Lesser and Lou Anger, ... said, will be associated with Schenck in erecting and operating the new major theater chain. Lesser announced today that the local theater, ... leased for twenty-five years by ... Pasadena syndicate and that it will be equipped with the latest motion picture apparatus.

"Plans are being drawn and attorneys are preparing the papers," James S. Macdonnell, president of the First National Bank, announced this afternoon.

Unofficial reports indicate that each of the new theaters in the Fox-nation-wide chain will be of similar design and will accommodate about 900 persons each.

Costa Mesa Church in Fi...

COSTA MESA, Nov. 25.—The $40,000 Community Church ... burst into flames late Sunday ... and two boys passing by discovered the smoke and gave the alarm. ... saved the edifice from complete destruction. The fire burned a hole in ... tion of the floor of the auditorium, ... a part of the walls, the tower and ... some of the balcony. The damage ... is estimated to be somewhere between $5000 and $10,000, which is ... covered by insurance.

Costa Mesa has no fire department, therefore, there was an alarm box to tap to call out the fighting crew, and citizens were helpless to give aid. Some one called on the Newport fire department for assistance and the firemen responded at once. They worked with perfect system and after a hard fight had the fire under control.

Costa Mesa citizens are proud today in their praise of the work done by the Newport Beach fire department. If it had not been for them and the two boys who discovered the fire—the church would be in ashes, they say.

CHINESE FORM LINE FOR REGISTRA...

MEXICALI, Nov. 25.—Se... hundred Chinese stood in line today awaiting their turn to be registered in accordance with a decree issued by Gov. Arturo Bernal requiring all foreigners in the city to appear before registering officials. The order, it was said, is designed to check against the illegal entry of orientals into the district and is being carried out under police supervision.

BANDIT WAKES MAN TO EMPTY HIS PUR...

SOUTH GATE, Nov. 25.—A ... he had retired for the night Charles (Dad) Carlson heard some one knocking at his door. He asked who was there.

"An officer," came the reply. Carlson opened the door to find himself looking in the barrel of a revolver.

"Stick 'em up," came the command and the bandit took the contents of his wallet, $28.

EXTRAS PLANNED

...t is the fifth anniversary ... Tropical Inn, located at ... of Washington Boulevard ... Adams street. John G. King, owner and founder of this popular cafe, announces his regular chicken-dinner price will be in effect for the holiday dinner tomorrow. Due to the fact that Thanksgiving Day and the birthday of the inn come at identical times, holiday extras and trimmings with the regular dinner are offered to friends and patrons at no increase in price.

SPECIAL MENU PLANNED

For the first time in its history, the Good Fellows' Grotto Cafe, 341 South Main street, will serve tomorrow a complete turkey dinner, table d'hote, according to G. Arnerich. Heretofore no special observance has been made, but due to the many insistant demands of friends and patrons plans are now to make their dinner tomorrow one to be long remembered. The cafe has been under the same management and in the same location for twenty-five years.

Conservatives and Unionists Reach Party Peace

Former Premier Accorded Vote of Confidence

MacDonald and Liberal Deal Insures Longer Term

LONDON, Nov. 25. (AP)—Delegates to the central council of Conservative and Unionist associations, forming in effect a full "party meeting" today buried the hatchet of party civil war and gave former Premier Stanley Baldwin an overwhelming vote of confidence as the Conservative leader.

As if inspired by their tribute, the former Prime Minister launched into a speech in which he denounced almost every act of the MacDonald government since it took office.

DOOM PREDICTED

"They are conscious," he said, "that their existence now is only from day to day and that at any moment their doom may be sounded and they will go out of office for years and years."

In the opinion of a majority of commentators, the "doom" to which he referred was at least temporarily postponed by a quiet deal consummated today between the Laborites and the Liberals.

DEAL WITH LIBERALS

The Liberals had announced they intended to move for postponement of the effective date of the government education bill which is making painful progress through the House of Commons. The Conservatives seemed likely to vote with the Liberals and thus bring about a defeat of the government on this issue.

Today, however, the Labor Minister of Education announced the Laborites would accept the Liberal amendment deferring that effective date from next April to September, 1932, and thus Ramsay MacDonald's much-harrassed government was given another respite.

A.F.L. HITS BOTH DOAK AND WHITE

Green Tells Hoover That New Secretary of Labor Should Be Union Man

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25. (AP)—Opposition of the American Federation of Labor to the appointment of William N. Doak as Secretary of Labor was expressed today to President Hoover by the federation president, William Green.

Doak, whose appointment to succeed Secretary Davis after the latter resigns to become Senator December 1, has been considered likely, is legislative representative of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, which is not affiliated with the American federation.

Robe Carl White, an assistant Secretary of Labor, also has been considered a possible successor to Davis in view of the division in labor circles, but Green said he understands White is not a federation member and that he will oppose him.

Green said the federation feels the Secretary of Labor should come from federation ranks since he thinks the organization representative of the Labor movement in the United States.

Senator Fess of Ohio called at the White House after Green. He said he feels the federation president's statement was "unfortunate."

"I think the American people will insist," Fess said, "that the President be allowed to make his own Cabinet appointments."

AUSTRALIAN POLICE CLUB COMMUNISTS

SYDNEY (N. S. W.) Nov. 25. (AP) Police today arrested ten alleged Communists after fifty demonstrators who wished to send a deputation to the Premier with a memorial on unemployment had created a disturbance. The demonstrators attempted to march to Parliament House where the New South Wales Parliament formally opened today. The police were attacked and had to use their clubs to subdue the crowd.

CHICAGO SCIENTIST DIES ON IOWA TRIP

WATERLOO (Iowa) Nov. 25. (AP) Dr. Leo Frachtenberg, Chicago anthropologist, died here today. He was regional director of the Palestine Foundation Fund, in which capacity he had come here to confer with Jewish leaders. In late years he had made researches among Indians of North America, especially those living on the Pacific Coast, seeking establishment of the genetic relationship between several languages spoken by Indians of the Northwest.

FARM LEADERS ASK MORE FUNDS

Balance of $250,000,000 Sought for Board

Attempt to Revise Law This Session Opposed

Ban on Short Selling of Grain Favored

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25. (AP)—Leaders of three national farm organizations urged the Senate Agriculture Committee today to refrain from attempts to amend the Farm Marketing Act at the short session of Congress, but to give the Farm Board an additional $250,000,000 to carry on its price and marketing stabilization operations next year.

The testimony of the agricultural chief concluded a two-day hearing to determine the sentiment for additional farm - relief measures.

S. H. Thompson, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation; L. J. Taber, master of the National Grange, and C. E. Huff, for the National Farmers' Union, said they will back the Farm Board to the limit. Taber, however, said this did not mean his organization is sidetracking its favorite plan—the export debenture—and he believes it will be revived in the Senate at the short session.

The farm organization leaders went on record for legislation to curb short selling in cotton and grain futures but still permitting what they termed "legitimate hedging."

Former Envoy to Mexico Asks Wife to Change Line for Diplomatic Reason

NEW YORK, Nov. 25. (AP)—Because Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow was the wife of an Ambassador to Mexico she had to be careful not to offend her Mexican friends in writnig a story book for children, she told the Women's City Club today.

In the fanciful picture book she had penned a line, "Generals are brittle and easily broken," referring to toys. Her husband thought it should be changed to real "Glass generals are brittle and easily broken."

The change was made.

GERMAN REGIME HITS NEW REEF

Economic Party Withdraws Support From Bruening

Minister of Justice Hands in Resignation as Result

Chancellor Likely to Carry on Fight for Program

BERLIN, Nov. 25. (AP)—Chancellor Bruening's government ran into new difficulties today when the Economic party notified the Chancellor it no longer supports the Cabinet.

Johannes Bredt, Minister of Justice and a member of the Economic party, accordingly has presented his resignation.

The party's action was based on a decision not to support any government influenced directly or indirectly by the Socialists. The party charged Chancellor Bruening with relying for support on the Social Democrats "at the sacrifice of the vital interests of the German people and German economy."

Despite today's blow, it is generally taken for granted that Chancellor Bruening will continue his course and, if necessary, challenge the Reichstag to unseat his Ministry.

LEWIS SCOLDS WRITERS

Nobel Prize Winner at New York Dinner Says Authors Lack Seriousness

NEW YORK, Nov. 25. (AP)—American authors don't take their work seriously enough; they have a tendency to become a bit abashed in the presence of washing machine and carburetor magnates, Sinclair Lewis told a gathering of writers tonight.

The first American winner of the Nobel Prize for literature was guest of honor at a dinner given by the P.E.N. Club. He sails for Stockholm Saturday to receive the Nobel award.

Writing celebrities of the country were present, with Will Irwin as master of ceremonies and Fanny Hurst and Alice Duer Miller in the seats of honor at Lewis's right and left.

The novelist's speech, which was broadcast, was a gentle reproof to writers for their part in educating the American reading public.

"It isn't the fault of the public that Babe Ruth is more eagerly read after than James Branch Cabell," he said. "It's our own fault, for almost any of us would love to sit down and break bread with Babe Ruth—if he breaks bread."

Mrs. Lewis, who followed her husband on the program, said he is afraid of dentists and thinks he can drive an automobile better than anybody else.

At school, Dr. William Lyon Phelps of Yale said, Lewis was adept at substituting imagination for knowledge. Even then, he said, Lewis was more interested in literature than in anything else.

He termed the novelist "not just a master of sarcasm, or an exposer, but an idealist."

MORGAN GIVEN OXFORD HONOR

American Financier Made Doctor of Civil Laws

Gifts of Rare Books and Psalter Recognized

Hoover, Dawes and Pershing Bear Same Degree

OXFORD (Eng.) Nov. 25. (AP)—J. P. Morgan in a flowing scarlet gown and "beef-eater" hat, walked through narrow, cobbled ways far more ancient than Wall street to receive the highest honor of England's oldest university, the degree of doctor of civil laws conferred by Oxford.

The little procession headed by four mace-bearers marched through the streets without attracting a second glance from shopkeepers and square-capped undergraduates to whom medieval pageants are everyday affairs.

But such a scene would have stopped traffic in New York's financial district.

At the consultation hall Mr. Morgan stood with solemn face as the university orator read an address in Latin in which mention was made of the recent generosity of the American financier.

This was a reference to Mr. Morgan's purchase of the Bedford book of hours and the famous Luttrell psalter for the British Museum.

The degree of doctor of civil laws is an honor previously given to President Hoover, Ambassador Dawes and Gen. Pershing.

LONDON "TIMES" SAYS HONOR DESERVED

LONDON, Nov. 25. (AP)—The London Times in an editorial termed bestowal today by Oxford University of an honorary degree of doctor of civil laws on J. P. Morgan a "well-won honor."

"A famous father's more famous son," the paper called the American financier. The editorial emphasized particularly Mr. Morgan's action in enabling Great Britain to retain the Bedford books of the hours and Luttrell psalter, and his financial aid during the war.

His liberality, in connection with the famous books, the paper termed an unusual element of magnanimity since they would have been most welcome additions to the famous Morgan Library in New York.

Power and Paper Plants to Be Built in Alaska at Cost of $15,000,000

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25. (AP)—American plans to break the virtual newsprint paper monopoly of Canada through establishment of power and paper pulp plants in Alaska today were approved by the Federal Power Commission.

The commission granted to George Cameron of San Francisco, associated with Harry Chandler of Los Angeles, and to I. and J. D. Zellerbach of San Francisco, licenses to construct power and paper pulp projects near Juneau and Ketchikan, Alaska, to cost $15,000,000.

Potential pulp production in Alaska is estimated at 1,000,000 tons yearly by R. F. Heintzleman, Forest Service expert. The two proposals plan a maximum production of 800 tons daily or approximately 350,000 tons yearly.

Three power sites at Long, Crater and Dorothy lakes with an estimated 80,000 horsepower capacity are involved in the Cameron-Chandler project.

The Zellerbachs propose to develop four power sites near Grace, Mirror, Ella, Manzanita and Swan lakes with estimated production of approximately 70,000 horsepower.

MAKING ONE DOLLAR DO THE WORK OF TEN

MORE than 80 billion dollars of our annual trade volume represent business transacted on credit. This enormous credit fabric is held together by Stock Fire Insurance. By means of it the average dollar is made to do the work of ten.

Underlying this vast commercial turnover, and serving to give it the stability which credit demands, are the more than 150 billions of dollars the stock companies have at risk against fire loss, with an almost equal amount of protection covering hail, windstorm, earthquake, and other hazards.

Stock Fire Insurance thus provides a service that makes the uncertain certain, that protects the individual's investments and shields him against disaster; that enables destroyed properties to be replaced and cities to rise from their ruins.

STOCK FIRE INSURANCE

performs many functions. The principal ones are:

1—Payment of losses.

2—Prevention of fire.

3—Stabilization of credit.

In furtherance of these the stock companies maintain and operate numerous departments and activities, the effectiveness of which is reflected not only in a decline in the total of losses due to fire but in a steady reduction in the average cost of fire insurance.

LOS ANGELES GAS REPORTS

Decrease of 19 Per Cent in Net Profits Shown

Gross Business in Year Holds Near 1929 Level

Equity for Pacific Lighting $1,000,000 Lower

Net profits of the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation for twelve months ended October 31 amounted to $4,736,328.76 after all charges including depreciation and amortization, against $5,856,182.35 reported a year ago, a decrease of $1,119,853.59, or 19 per cent, according to a statement issued yesterday by the company. The profits are equivalent to $34.20 a share on the greatest amount of preferred stock outstanding during the period.

After providing for dividends on the preferred stock there was a balance remaining available for the common stock and surplus of $3,568,467.70. This is $1,122,926.19 less than the balance remaining after preferred dividends a year ago, representing a decrease of more than 23 per cent. All of the common stock is owned by Pacific Lighting Corporation.

Gross earnings of the company, which covers both the electric and gas departments, aggregated $23,-823,121.97 for the twelve months' period just closed. This compares with $34,075,600.31 reported a year ago, indicating a decline of $252,-478.34, or about 1 per cent. Operating expenses including taxes, however, increased $463,053.53, or 3.6 per cent, from $12,712,296.36 a year ago, to $13,175,351.89 for the period just ended.

This left a balance as net operating income of $10,647,700.08 as compared with $11,363,302.05 in 1929, a decrease of $715,531.97, or more than 6 per cent.

Interest charged to operation of $2,463,492.58 was substantially the same as last year but depreciation charge-off was increased $417,012.03 from $3,815,512.43 last year to $3,232,524.46 for the period just closed. Amortization charges amounted to $195,434.23 against $207,800.68 last year.

The 9 per cent cut in gas rates ordered Monday by the State Railroad Commission would mean a reduction in gross revenues of $1,350,000, in the opinion of the commission. The new rates have been ordered effective January 1, next, with the option of a 7 per cent cut for 1931 as an experiment. A $750,000 reduction in electric rates was put into effect last December and ordered continued by the commission.

Oil Output in Texas Reduced by State Order

AUSTIN (Tex.) Nov. 25. (AP)—The State Railroad Commission issued an order today placing the State oil industry under a production curtailment program for sixty days on the basis of an allowable production of 680,238 barrels.

Common purchasers were authorized in the order to make such agreements among themselves as would allow them to exchange oil, exchange connections or otherwise make plans to prorate oil from all producers.

The common carriers had feared to make such agreements, fearing the anticombination laws would be invoked against them. Failure to cooperate had resulted in discriminations which caused North Texas producers, unable to get a pipe-line outlet, to throw their crude on the market. The order becomes effective the 27th inst.

Present allowable production in Texas is 750,000 barrels a day, but testimony at the hearings which preceded issuance of the order was to the effect actual production was approximately 780,000 barrels.

Two Companies Pay in Stock

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—Allied Chemical and Dye Corporation today declared a stock dividend of 5 per cent in common stock on common and the regular quarterly cash dividend of $1.50. A similar stock dividend was declared at this time last year.

International Business Machines Corporation declared a dividend of 5 per cent in stock on its capital stock and the regular quarterly cash dividend of $1.50. In November, 1929 and 1928, a stock dividend of 5 per cent was declared and a year ago the cash rate was increased to $6 annually from $5.

What stocks will likely be leaders in next rising market?

How do present conditions compare with 1921 depression?

These and other important economic questions discussed in our current market letter which lists bonds and stocks in order of preference.

STEEL PAIR OPTIMISTIC ON OUTLOOK

Officials of Otis and Republic Believe Turn for Better Due Soon

CLEVELAND, Nov. 25. (AP)—Increased employment and improved earnings are predicted for the steel industry tonight on the strength of opinions by two of the most prominent steel men in the Middle West.

The fact the country is using more steel products than mills are producing was taken by B. C. Fairless, first vice-president of the Republic Steel Corporation, as proof increased production is near at hand.

E. J. Kulas, president of the Otis Steel Company and of the Midland Products Corporation, said higher production will be accompanied by higher prices.

The increased prices of steel products has "simply got to come," Kulas said. "Steel companies are not making money and large consumers of steel in forcing prices down have created a serious situation for many of the producers."

Kulas pointed out the steel industry is committed to a policy of high wages as being an essential to restoration of normal business conditions. "It is important also to pay dividends," he said. "The prices of ore, limestone and other things that go into the manufacture of steel, as well as taxes, are not coming down, so the only thing we can do is to raise prices."

Average Daily Output of Oil Lower in Week

NEW YORK, Nov. 25. (AP)—The daily average gross crude oil production in the United States decreased 22,700 barrels for the week ended the 22nd inst., totaling 2,281,-630 barrels, says the weekly summary of the American Petroleum Institute. The daily average production east of California was 1,674,650 barrels, a decrease of 28,-100 barrels.

Refineries representing 95.7 per cent of the estimated daily potential refining capacity, operating at 64.1 per cent of their capacity, reported daily average run of crude oil to stills as 2,290,800 barrels. Daily average the previous week was 2,292,-700 barrels for refineries representing 95.7 per cent of potential capacity operating at 64.2 per cent of their capacity.

Union Oil and Edison Among Companies Showing Gains in Stockholders; Low Prices Attract

BY EARLE E. CROWE

Testimony from a number of large corporations corroborates the belief that investment stocks are passing into strong hands. Wherever recent data are available these companies report substantial increases in numbers of stockholders during and after the last collapse of prices.

In California, the Union Oil Company and the Southern California Edison Company are two that have added a respectable number of new stockholders during this period of low prices. The increase in holders has been particularly noticeable since Edison dropped below 50 and Union Oil below 30.

UNION'S RECORD

Since July 31, last, the Union Oil Company reports an increase of 800 stockholders on the books of both the Union Oil and Union Oil Associates, the latter the holding company. But since September 30, the period covering the last severe decline in market price, the increase for both companies has been 550 stockholders.

Edison's record discloses a net gain of more than 400 common stockholders in the period between July 20 and October 20, the time of the last study of the transfer books. The curious point about the Edison increase is the disclosure that eastern stockholders have been the sellers and California investors the buyers.

Either this tendency indicates that eastern investors have necessarily been liquidators of stocks and California investors have had the ready funds to become buyers, or the eastern public has not retained the same faith in Pacific Coast public utilities that Californians have.

OTHERS PARTICIPATE

Undoubtedly other California companies of established character have experienced the same growth in number of partners. The Standard Oil Company was reported in November to have shown an increase of 1700 holders since the first of the year, but this figure has probably been substantially increased since that time.

An article in the current issue of a national magazine cites figures showing how quickly the investors step in when stocks are on the bargain counter. According to this authority, the Radio Corporation registered new stockholders after the November break a year ago at the rate of 200 a day. General Motors registered new holders at the rate of 1500 daily.

American Telephone, states this authority, had 456,000 stockholders prior to November, 1929. By the end of the year it had added 14,000 more, and since that time has accumulated another 58,000. Standard Oil of New Jersey increased its holders from 76,000 before the break to 101,000 six months later.

Seaboard Bank Unit Declares Extra Dividend

Directors of the Seaboard National Securities Corporation, Seaboard National Bank and Seaboard Company of Los Angeles, at a meeting last night declared a special cash dividend of 15 per cent, payable December 20, next, for the Seaboard Company.

This announcement, made by George L. Browning, president of the bank, stated the Seaboard Company had paid 5 per cent previously this year, which makes a total of 20 per cent in dividends for 1930. The bank and Securities Corporation each pay regular 6 per cent dividends annually.

The Seaboard National Securities Corporation owns the controlling stock of the Seaboard National Bank and Seaboard Company. The company is the investment banking arm of the organization retailing securities to the public.

Belgium Plans to Refund Loan

BRUSSELS, Nov. 25. (AP)—The Belgian 4½ per cent exterior loan totaling about $28,000,000 for refunding the American 8 per cent loan is to be launched at Amsterdam, Basel and Stockholm, and to be followed by another short-term loan of about $26,000,000, covering the budget deficit resulting from the industrial and commercial crisis.

Should German reparations payments be discontinued, it is held, payment of the American debt would have to be postponed.

EASTERN BUSINESS SENTIMENT BRIGHTER

Confirming recent reports of an improved business sentiment in the East, C. S. Beesemiyer, vice-president of the Gilmore Oil Company, who has just returned from the American Petroleum Institute convention in Chicago, yesterday stated that the year-old lull in business in eastern centers shows every indication of yielding to a revival of prosperity. The petroleum industry on the Pacific Coast is faring better than in the East, due to climatic conditions here and the year-around demand for gasoline, the oil executive said.

LESLIE CALIFORNIA SALT DIVIDEND CUT

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—Leslie California Salt Company declared today a quarterly dividend of 20 cents a share, reducing the annual rate to 80 cents from $1.60 a share. St. John Whitney, president, stated that this action was taken to conserve funds and strengthen the company's position.

AMERICAN BELL HEAD OPTIMIST

Prosperity Era Never Before Equalled in History Predicted

SALEM (Mass.) Nov. 25. (AP) Walter S. Gifford, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, predicted the arrival soon of an era of prosperity never before equalled, in a speech at the Essex Institute last night.

"As sure as I am standing here," Gifford said, "this depression will soon pass and we are about to enter a period of prosperity the like of which no country has ever seen before; a new era of big business working for the fulfilment of its social obligations, a new development in industry to work out the problems of distributing what we have, on the basis that we have plenty to go around."

COMBINE OF STEEL UNITS VOTED UPON

National Company Plans Acquisition of Michigan Corporation

DETROIT, Nov. 25.—Completion of plans for the acquisition of the Michigan Steel Corporation by the National Steel Corporation was announced today. The former is one of the largest manufacturers of automobile sheets in Detroit. George R. Fink is president of both companies.

National Steel recently completed a steel works at Ecorse, near here, and is now producing sheet bars, billets, etc. The Michigan Steel Corporation consumes about 180,-000 tons of sheet bars a year, making the merger a logical proposition for the two companies.

Terms of consolidation have not been announced, but it is presumed an exchange of securities will be proposed. Michigan Steel stockholders are expected to receive cash and securities on a basis of approximately $50 a share, with an option to take not more than one-fourth of the consideration in stock of the National Steel Corporation.

A meeting of Michigan Steel stockholders will be called to authorize the transaction, which has been approved by the directors.

Power Utility Profits Show Sharp Advance

American Commonwealths Power Corporation and affiliated companies reported yesterday net earnings for twelve months ended October 31 of $6,062,088 after charges, including subsidiary preferred dividends but before reserves and Federal taxes, against $4,766,353 a year ago, a gain of $3,095,733, or more than 44 per cent.

The balance remaining available for reserves, taxes and common dividends after the corporation's preferred dividend requirements amounted to $4,448,021, equivalent to $2.75 a share on the average amount of Class A and B common shares outstanding, against $3,434,-261 a year ago. After estimated depreciation and reserves the amount available for the common stock is computed by the company at $1.86 a share.

Gross earnings from all sources aggregated $27,809,760, compared with $23,361,740 a year ago, an increase of $4,448,021, or approximately 20 per cent. Figures for both years reflect the earnings of properties owned at respective dates and are not adjusted to reflect any income from new investments.

Clorox Company Tells Earnings

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—Clorox Chemical Company today reported earnings for the four months ended October 31, last, were at the annual rate of $3.45 a share on the combined A and B stocks. As of October 31, the ratio of quick assets to liabilities was 6.2 to 1. Undivided profits were $411,058.

The company's plant is operating at present at capacity with the manufacturing department working twenty-four hours a day. Directors declared the regular quarterly 50-cent dividends on the A and B stocks, payable January 1 to stock of record December 20.

NEW TRADE CURE OFFERED

Head of General Motors Export Unit Suggests International Economic Pact

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

[Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance]

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—J. D. Mooney, president of the General Motors Export Company, has suggested the calling of an international economic conference to discuss all of the basic problems relating to the economic recovery of Europe, and its relation to this country.

Call such a conference, let America participate whole-heartedly, and abide by the results which are worked out at the conference, is his suggestion.

"No nation can sit back in isolation," Mr. Mooney thinks, "and look from the side lines on the world's trouble, for sooner or later every nation is affected. Only by co-operation with Europe is it possible to solve not only the problems of Europe, but the economic problems confronting the United States as well."

John E. Edgerton, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, is one of those business men who believe that the present depression is basically due to the forces which were unleashed by the great war. So far as the United States is concerned, he thinks the worst is over, and that "the late winter or early spring will witness a stable and gradual improvement generally."

"We are nearer real stabilization than at any time since then," says this manufacturer. "If all the people, producers and consumers, will demonstrate their faith in our industrial structure by producing and buying normally—and now—this will do more than any other effort to carry the country well out of its spasm of inertia and into practical action and better times."

Why not try it—for a change.

J. Herbert Case, chairman of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, selected to head the new giant $1,000,000,000 New York bank merger in the making, is a big broad-shouldered, deep-chested, athletic-looking individual. He is serving as president of the National Association of Community Chests, and has given liberally of his time to various social and religious activities.

While Mr. Case is not a college man, having gone to work at an early age, he has the scientific approach to the problems which interest him. He is treasurer of Elmira College, and gives much time to its financial affairs.

A close associate of Mr. Case gives this description of him:

"Mr. Case must have been a red-headed boy, although he is bald today. He is a splendid executive and extremely popular—a first-class mixer. He is round-faced, with clear, blue eyes. A student of business statistics, sympathetic to bank research, a good public speaker—far better than the average—fluent, able to express himself without difficulty. He is a home man, as distinguished from a club man. He has two sons and one daughter, both sons being graduates of Princeton University. One of them is now private secretary to Owen D. Young.

"Mr. Case dresses conservatively, and plays business man's golf—yes, about 100 is his score! The Federal Reserve Bank of New York will greatly miss him, for he is one of its most popular employees."

Mr. Case is expected to resign shortly from the Federal Reserve Bank to enter upon his new and important duties.

MEETING ADJOURNED

CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—Due to a lack of quorum the special stockholders' meeting of the Advance-Rumely Company to vote on the proposed recapitalization has been adjourned until December 10.

NEW NEON COMPANY ORGANIZED

Epco Investment Will Offer Stock of Delaware Unit to Employees

Formation of Epco Investment Corporation, Ltd., as a wholly owned subsidiary of Electrical Products Corporation of California, was announced yesterday. The purpose of the new company is to acquire stock in Claude Neon Electrical Products Corporation, Ltd., of Delaware, and to offer the same to employees of Electrical Products Corporation in Oakland, Portland, Los Angeles and Mexico City plants and to employees of the affiliated companies, Electro Therapy Products Corporation and Hyde Technical Laboratory.

The employees will be privileged to subscribe to an amount of stock equivalent to from 20 to 45 per cent of their annual salaries, dependent on their length of service, at $20 a share. Payment for the stock will be made by deductions from salaries monthly over a five-year period.

Additional offerings will be made from time to time, and the company also plans to offer later to the public an opportunity to purchase shares on an installment plan, it was stated. The general objective will be to obtain wider distribution of the company's shares through ownership by employees, customers and the general public along the lines successfully used by the Southern California Edison Company.

Officers of Epco Investment Corporation, Ltd., which will have a capitalization of 2500 no-par shares, include John B. Miller, chairman; Paul D. Howse, president; John W. Harris and Otto L. Little, vice-presidents, and Morris B. Miller, secretary-treasurer. In addition to these officers, directors include W. I. Hollingsworth, George I. Cochran, M. M. Kauffman and John E. Barber.

Selling Heavy on Milan Mart

MILAN (Italy) Nov. 25.—The Milan bourse is weak with selling in all classes of shares, particularly public utilities and realty stocks. The market fears that dividends of various companies will be reduced as result of the Italian government's campaign to lower prices.

Cut in prices of electricity has been demanded in several quarters and decision awaits the findings of a committee, which is studying the position of the whole industry. It has been pointed out, however, that the government is exerting pressure chiefly upon retail prices in the interest of the consumer and that consequently industrial companies may be affected only indirectly.

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, Nov. 25. (P)—Strength of United States governments and the marked improvement in German obligations stood out in an irregular bond market today. The volume of transactions showed a substantial increase over yesterday.

Liberty 3½s advanced ⅛ of a point, and the first 4½s were 2-32nds higher. Wide movements for these issues, the largest turnover was in Liberty fourth 4½s at their peak price of the year.

The recent reactionary trend of German bonds was definitely reversed following the improved sentiment created by the 2-point rally of German International 5½s. The Young loan again rose 2 points, but closed ⅛ net higher.

Announcement Danish Consolidated Municipal Loan 4s of which $10,000,000 are outstanding would be redeemed at 107½ and had little effect on the price of the bond.

On a few sales it gained ¼ and closed at 108 1-8.

Domestic bonds failed to display a notable trend one way or the other. Public utility issues were a little firmer.

While the main body of railroad bonds held within a narrow range, offtrees appeared in a score of issues. Among those depressed to new 1930 lows were Erie 1st of 1975 and Kansas City Southern 3s.

The closing price is quoted when same as the low and both low and close when same as the high.

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, Nov. 25. (AP)—The curb market moved up to its recent resistance point today, but found itself unable to push into new high ground for the year, and turned reactionary before the close.

Pricing prices showed a wide assortment of narrow gains and losses. Total sales were 460,800 shares.

Utilities showed a friction higher. Electric Bond & Share fell back to close at 18¼, net. Utilities Power & Light moved up a point to 12 and Cities Service, reflecting declaration of special extra of 2½ cents, together with extra of 15 cents on the class A stock.

Declaration of extra dividends by two petroleum companies were regarded merely as a transfer of cash to holding companies and failed to have any notable effect on shares. Interest centered on Standard of Kentucky, which moved up 2 points to 225, a point and Cities Service Co., manufacturing trained by Humphreys, Leeds and Atlas Utilities, opening with a block of 1,000 shares, moved up 2 points to 13. It later slipped back to the previous day's reflected the news that the company, in which it owns 50 per cent of three other banks, is declaring a small stock dividend. Preferred shares preferred "B," a special issue, for which the market has been inactive, the preceding issue of one share each was had been 17½ bid.

Trading notice is omitted when same is low and both low and close when as the block.

OIL NEWS

BY HOWARD KEGLEY

After remaining idle for nearly six months the Palisades Petroleum Corporation's Meigs No. 1, northeast of the old Palisades oil field and a short distance west of Santa Barbara, has just been drilled out, with bottom at about 2225 feet, and is reported to have put out 300 barrels of oil during the first nine hours.

This well is a short distance northwest of the Rhoades No. 1, which came in several months ago and flowed oil for a few days, but was soon suspended. The Meigs lease, embracing 150 acres, was originally leased by the Standard Oil Company nearly two years ago and lated quitclaimed when the Palisades field failed to develop satisfactory production.

Meigs No. 1 is the second well north of Cliff Drive to show any promise, according to field scouts. It will require a few more hours to clean up the flow. The oil is said to test about 21-deg. gravity and to be free from sulphur. Pressure on the casing is 400 pounds and the pressure on the tubing is increasing. Palisades Petroleum's Meigs No. 2 is drilling below 1960 feet.

Preparing to Offset

The Associated Oil Company is preparing to offset the Texas and Richfield oil companies, tests in the north Belridge district, and will drill in Section 21, 27-30. Associated controls most of the acreage on that section. The majority of Section 22, with the exception of that held by Richfield and Texaco, is also held by Associated. Much of the new activity in the north Belridge district is centering in that locality and as a result the Belridge Oil Company intends to start two offsets for protection, and will drill another short distance of the Union Oil Company's No. 17, which recently spudded in on Section 36, where Standard is drilling McPhail No. 1 and preparing to start McPhail No. 2.

Deep Test Interests

A production test under way in George P. Getty's No. 48, near the top of the structure in the Santa Fe Springs oil field, is of considerable interest. Bottom is below 8900 feet, and the project is said to be favorably located as a test for deep production.

Getty's No. 48 as one of the deepest holes at Santa Fe Springs, being not far from Getty No. 21, which went to 8300 feet and afterward suspended. There has been considerable speculation as to the possibility of finding deeper production there since the lower Clarke and Hathaway zones have been in a rapid decline.

To Install Compressor

Because it did not respond to the gas lift, Phillip L. Bixby is preparing to install a compressor in his No. 4 on the north flank of the original area of Signal Hill. The well swabbed for several days with bottom below 7000 feet, and but little "kick" was noted.

In the southeasterly portion of the Signal Hill field the Republic Petroleum Company's Long Beach No. 1 near the corner of Nineteenth and Temple streets is coring in oil and below 6900 feet, and is expected to drill to at least 7300 feet. Republic's Miller No. 22, near the intersection of Twenty-first and Cherry streets, has been swabbing since Sunday. The Plymouth Oil Company's No. 12 in the same area is coring at 7330 feet.

Oil Showings

Oil showings have not been encountered in the J. H. Cochran No. 1 test about one and one-half miles west of the Elwood field. This project topped the Vaqueros formation at 4656 feet and cored to 4805 feet, but failed to find sufficient showings to justify further drilling. Cochran's undertaking is not far from the wildcat drilled by the Padre Oil Company more than a year ago.

Sidetrack

The Chanslor-Canfield Midway Oil Company has decided to sidetrack down in Hobson A-2 two miles southeast of the Seacliff oil field in an effort to get past eighty feet of rotary drill pipe. Bottom of the hole is at 7521 feet.

A whipstock will be set at 7431 feet so that the drill can go past the fish. The company eventually plans to deepen this project in search of a deeper formation.

Securing Foundation

Foundation for derrick is going in for the Texas Company's Olive community No. 1, located in the northwest corner of Section 7, 4-9, near Olive, in Orange county. Texaco recently acquired considerable property near Olive and will test out in entirely new district. The project is strictly wildcat.

Completes One

After cleaning out to bottom the Gas & Oil Company's No. 1 in the Rancho Cerritos field came in at the rate of 400 barrels of oil a day. This well was brought in about three weeks ago and later sanded up. The Signal Oil Company's No. 1 is flowing at the rate of 450 barrels daily and Dabney-Johnston's No. 8 and No. 78 continue to flow steady since their completion several days ago. Daily production at Signal Hill is in excess of 96,000 barrels of oil.

New Completion

The Ohio Oil Company's Block, No. 1 well in the Venice field has just been brought in for 500 barrels daily, and its Block K-1 is swabbing for production from the shallow zone. The Metropolitan Oil Company's No. 1 recently came in for 400 barrels daily, and its No. 2 continues to swab. Gassney & Kahn's No. 1 and George Wolfe's No. 4 are on steady production. Venice yesterday produced 42,000 barrels of oil.

Kettleman Committee Meets

The Kettleman Hills oil and gas conservation committee, headed by Gillis-Reinhardt, chairman, met yesterday in the assembly rooms of the California Oil and Gas Association and continued its deliberations regarding the future development of the Kettleman Hills oil field. A subcommittee went into session yesterday afternoon when Mr. Reinhardt's committee adjourned to continue its discussions this morning.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

Union Oil Drops Back to Record Low Level While Other Stocks Ease Fractionally

Union Oil and Union Associates held the center of the stage on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange yesterday when a severe wave of selling piled up transactions to a combined total of 9400 shares. The operating company, after opening at 26¼, sunk to the record low previously established at 25¼ and finished at the bottom for a net loss of 1¼ points. The Associates broke to a new low at 24 and ended at 24¼, off 1 point net. The selling was attributed to investment trust liquidation.

The only other stocks on the board that were actively traded were Transamerica, Standard Oil of California and Southern California Edison. In common with the market as a whole, however, only fractional recessions were recorded. Exceptions were Los Angeles Gas and Electric preferred, which dropped a full point to 103, and Associated Gas and Eelteric, not traded for some time on this board, which sold for 21 5-8 to record a net advance of 3 3-8 points. While fluctuations during the session were confined to very narrow limits most final prices were the lowest for the day.

Transamerica opened at 16 and after dipping to 15 1-2 ended at 15 5-8, off 1-8 net. Standard Oil of California was traded to the extent of 3200 shares and finished off 1-4 net to 50. Southern California Edison achieved 49 7-8 early in the day but finished at 49 for a net loss of 1-2.

Rio Grande lost 1-2 to 8, and Richfield, of which only 400 shares were traded, yielded 1-4 to 6 3-8. Bolsa Chica was steady at 13 1-2 and Hancock the same at 10.

Pacific Finance was more active than usual and firmed up 1-8 to 15 1-2 while Pacific Mutual Life eased 1-2 to 62. Pacific National Company turned up 20 cents to 1.70. Security-First National Bank held to 91 on a light turnover.

Sales totaled 29,186 shares, valued at $707,916; previous day, 9152 shares, valued at $220,415.

Wheat Futures Point Down on Bearish Mart

CHICAGO, Nov. 25. (AP)—Fading of buying power helped make grain values average lower today. Transient rallies ran against enlarged selling pressure in all the pits, and the day's bottom was reached just before the close.

Wheat price advances scored heretofore third week appeared to have checked demand for the time being at least, especially in view of a late announcement of 7,875,000 bushels increase of the world's visible supply.

Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled, ⅝@1⅛ a bushel lower than yesterday's finish. Corn closed 1⅛@1⅜c off. Oats unchanged to ½c down and provisions varying from 5c decline to a rise of 20c.

Enlargement of the world's visible stock of wheat by nearly 8,000,000 bushels for the week came in rather striking contrast with 3,883,000 bushels decrease a year ago, and the final setback followed receipt of the figures.

Corn traders took their cue mostly from the action of wheat. Oats displayed considerable firmness at times on account of reports of liberal sales having been made for shipment into districts which suffered from drought.

Provisions went lower with hogs.

LOS ANGELES MARKET

CATTLE—Moderate fresh receipts and holdovers of 327 were not in as good demand as the past few days, the influence of the coming holiday being the main factor in the lightened demand. Prices, however, were mainly steady and majority of desirable offerings finally changed hands.

A load of good 1302-pound California steers brought 9.00, with a few loads and odd lots of medium steers, mostly of intermountain origin, going at 7.50@8.50, weights ranging from 759 to 1082 pounds. Two loads of 875 to 910-pound Arizona Mexican steers made 7.40.

Part loads of medium to low good heifers brought 6.50@7.15, with a few down to 6.25. A few odd head of heifer-fat cows sold up to 6.50, with a part load of Utah cows at 6.25, and a few head at 6.00 including some dairy type animals. Bulk of common to medium cows made 4.50@5.50, with low cutters and cutters largely 2.75@4.25 and some thin shelly southwesterns down to 2.00. Medium to good bulls scored 5.00@5.50, with cutter kind down to 3.50.

CALVES—Demand was good and prices fully steady on the small number of native milk vealers, odd head of medium to choice kind selling at 10.00@13.50. The one load of southwestern calves offered was in first hands shortly after noon.

HOGS—The light supply of hogs sold in good season at steady to 10c higher rates. A load of 192-pound Oklahoma butchers topped at 10.35, with two loads of 173 and 174-pound Idaho and Utah hogs at 10.00@10.15. A few lots of trucked in local fed hogs brought 9.35@9.85, with heavies down to 9.00. A few packing sows made 8.00@8.50, with weighty stags at 6.00.

SHEEP—A deck of medium Utah lambs and a package of trucked-in stock arrived during the forenoon and changed hands at about steady prices. The deck of Utahs averaged 88 pounds at 9.60 with five yearlings out at 5.00. The trucked-in lambs averaged 98 pounds at 9.35, with some 175-pound aged bucks at 3.00. Medium to choice lambs, 75 pounds down, are quoted at 8.50@9.75, with medium to choice ewes quoted 3.00@4.00.

COTTON EXPORT TRADE AT PEAK

Total for Season Forecast at 350,000 Bales

Volume Approaches Closely That of Last Year

Harbor Plant Handles Bulk of Southwest's Crop

BY WALDO DRAKE

This season's cotton exports through Los Angeles Harbor will closely approach last season's record of 360,000 bales, it was announced yesterday by executives of Anderson, Clayton & Co., in a production forecast for the California, Arizona, Utah and Baja California areas. The season reached its peak this week, with the enrolled $1,000,000 compress and warehouse at the harbor operating to the limit of its 75,000-bale capacity.

Export commitments through the port provide for 350,000 bales, divided almost equally between the European and oriental markets, with 10,000 additional bales booked for both Atlantic delivery. Government estimates for cotton production in the Southwest this season total 450,000 bales, the additional 90,000 bales being scheduled for domestic consumption. From August 1, last, to the 15th inst., approximately 185,000 bales, or nearly half of the season export total, were compressed at the various ginning centers in the Southwest area.

The various freight rate differentials of the 1928-29 season between cotton shippers and ship operators have been completely ironed out and all European exports will go to Liverpool, Bremen and Hamburg at a uniform rate of 60 cents per 100 pounds. Last year's rate of 25 cents to Japan and 30 cents to China will also prevail this season.

NEW BANISH LINER
RUN ON MAIDEN TRIP

Arrival at Los Angeles Harbor shortly after January 1, next, on the maiden voyage of Danish East Asiatic Line's new passenger-cargo liner India, just commissioned at Copenhagen, was announced yesterday by Alf Balfour, Guthrie & Co., Pacific Coast agents. The India, of 15,000 deadweight tons, is the first of several motorships to be built by the Danish East Asiatic Line to supplement its express liners Amerika and Canada in European-Pacific trade.

The India will sail homeward from San Francisco about February 20 and from Los Angeles Harbor about February 22.

Having a loaded speed of fourteen knots, she is 498 feet long and has a beam of 62.5 feet. She was designed to meet the particular needs of both the Northwest grain trade and the California citrus fruit trade having 20,980 cubic feet of refrigerator space in her 'tween-decks area and 688,000 cubic feet of specially built grain-carrying holds.

A bell buoy will be established about January 1 at the outer end of the new Fish Harbor entrance channel, Harbor Engineer George P. Nicholson was advised yesterday by Harry Rhodes, United States assistant engineer of lighthouses for the Twelfth district.

Efforts to secure more efficient navigational aids marking the Point Fermin reef will be discussed at the December 19 meeting of the Marine Service Bureau as a result of the recent grounding there of the Dollar Line steamer Charcas.

Lassen's cabin liner Calawall is due from Honolulu late tomorrow with 100 passengers and a full cargo of pineapples, sugar and other fruits from the islands. She will get outward at noon Saturday on the return voyage in Hawaiian service.

The Navy Department yesterday announced a system of illuminating the sights of a sextant in taking star shots, devised and perfected by Lieut. E. H. McSweeney, on duty with the submarine S-46. Lieut. McSweeney writes in description of his method:

"A small, well-known flashlight of the type known as 'Snap Lite' was secured to the sextant arm by means of a piece of shim brass, which made a sleeve for the flashlight to fit in. The shim brass is secured in place for the vernier reading by a piece of glass through two holes which are located so that the lens fits around the vernier and a snug fit around the body of the flashlight. The cover glass of the flashlight is directed on the vernier scale, which is illuminated by snapping open the cover of the flashlight, which acts as the switch.

"This inexpensive arrangement makes no alteration of the sextant itself and cannot impair its accuracy. The navigator is able to use both hands while reading the altitude and another person with a flashlight is not required."

WANT TO LOOK YOUNG?

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are gentle in their action yet always effective. They help bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c, 30c, 60c.—[Advertisement.

"TIMES" THEATER GUIDE

MOTION PICTURES

Bard's, Eighth, between Broadway and Hill—"Rocky Gavin." A gridiron with Jack Buchanan and Jeanette MacDonald.

Boulevard, Washington at Vermont—"Playboy of Paris." An indifferent film despite Maurice Chevalier's appearance.

California, Main and Eighth—"Doña Mentiras" and "Una Cana al Aire." A fine performance by Carmen Latrabiesi makes the former worth while. And Charley Chase does the same for the second.

Carthay Circle, Carthay Center—"Min and Bill," a drama of the water front which runs from slapstick to tragedy. Marie Dressler and Wallace Beery.

Chinese, 6925 Hollywood—"Morocco." Reviewed in today's Times.

Figueroa, Figueroa at Santa Barbara—"Lost Souls." A scenic travelogue of great beauty.

Criterion, 642 South Grand—"Billy the Kid." An exciting series of escapes intensified by the large film. John Mack Brown.

Filmarte, 1228 North Vine—"The Tiger of Berlin." A mystery in German, which should be interesting to the understanding.

Forum, Pico at Norton—"All Quiet on the Western Front." A gripping account of war admirably acted by Lew Ayres.

Loew's State, Broadway at Seventh—"Remote Control." William Haines's wisecracks raise this to the level of mediocrity.

Million Dollar, Broadway at Third—"Playboy of Paris."

Paniagua, Hollywood at Vine—"Laughter." A distinct treat to see and enjoy, Frédric March and Nancy Carroll.

Paramount, Hill at Sixth—"Sea Legs." cracks about the peril of this to maidenity. Jack Oakie chatters and capers and some of it is quite funny.

Rita, Wilshire at La Brea—"So This is London." Will Rogers in a comedy to please his fans.

R.K.O., Hill at Eighth—"The Silver Horde." Rex Beach's melodrama of the North has several moments of suspense and a good performance by Evelyn Brent.

Uptown, Western at Tenth—"A Lady Surrenders." Splendid work by Genevieve Tobin and Rose Hobart.

United Artists, Broadway near Ninth—"Feet First." Laughable and thrilling is this new Harold Lloyd comedy.

Warners' Downtown, 321 at Seventh—"Sunny." Marilyn Miller in a musical comedy enhanced by Joe Donahue.

Warners' Hollywood, Hollywood Blvd. at Wilcox—"Bunny."

Wilshire, 8440 Wilshire Boulevard—"The Virtuous Sin." Not so good. Walter Huston and Kay Francis.

STAGE

Belasco, 115 at 11th—"The Bird of Flame." The exotic tropics and that charming vampire, Dorothy Burgess.

El Capitan, Hollywood Blvd. nr. Highland—"Strictly Dishonorable." A delightful tale of romance, drawn with spell by Dale Winter and Henry Duffy.

Hollywood Playhouse, Vine near Hollywood Blvd.—"Mister Antonio." The favorite Leo Carrillo returns in an ancient vehicle that creaks.

Music Box, Hollywood Blvd. nr. Gower—"Strictly Dishonorable." A delightful story lives which ends in a note of half-tragedy. Murray Kinnell and Olive Meehan are outstanding.

Vine St., Vine near Hollywood Blvd.—"The Green Bottle." Chuckling hands and other things that go into a mystery play formed for confusion. Oscar Adel is the featured player.

BURLESQUE

Follies, Main at Fourth—Burlesque.

Young Points Way to Enjoy Thanksgiving

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 25. (Exclusive)—Gov. Young today called upon Californians to make Thanksgiving "a day of unselfish consideration for others less fortunate than ourselves." In his proclamation, he said:

"Despite depressed business conditions; despite the fact that many of our fellow-citizens are unemployed, there should be no depression in our hearts. We know that these unfortunate conditions are only temporary and they have touched California far more lightly than in many other portions of the world.

"Let this Thanksgiving Day, then, be one of unselfish consideration for others less fortunate than ourselves."

Extradition of Suspect Asked

JEFFERSON CITY (Mo.) Nov. 25. (AP)—Gov. Caulfield today issued a requisition on the Governor of California for the return of Edward Raymond Kilpatrick to Jackson county.

Kilpatrick is under arrest in Los Angeles charged with embezzlement of $63,000 worth of municipal and industrial bonds.

COUNTY TO LIST WORK HUNTERS

Registration Bureau Will Be Authorized Today

Fact-Finding Committee to Study Job Situation

Show's Program Adopted by Citizens' Gathering

As one of the first steps toward relieving the unemployment situation in Los Angeles county, the Board of Supervisors today will authorize the establishment of a registration bureau to obtain the names of men and women out of work. This will be done in three ways. First, through all the schools of the county. Students whose families are out of employment will turn in a registration card to the school in their district. The registration will be taken in the same manner as voters are registered every year. Second, through the various charitable agencies such as the Salvation Army, Midnight Mission, Jewish Relief and Catholic organizations. Third, through the regular charitable channels of Los Angeles county already functioning under the Board of Supervisors.

COMMITTEE MEETS

This was the plan of procedure agreed upon by Supervisor Shaw in conference with W. H. Holland, secretary of the meeting of the county-wide citizens' committee, held in the hall of Records yesterday, had submitted the Supervisor to make a study of unemployment registration.

The citizens' committee, called to confer with the relief of unemployment, also authorized Supervisor Shaw to appoint a fact-finding committee of five members which will bring to the next meeting definite recommendations for providing work for the persons found needy under the county-wide registration.

The citizens' committee yesterday adopted in its entirety the prospective program as outlined by Supervisor Shaw, who was named permanent chairman of the committee and in his chairman of the Supervisors' committee which was increased from three to five members by adding Supervisor-elect Hugh A. Peebler and J. Don Mahaffey. The other members of the committee who already have been functioning are Supervisors Quinn and Wright. Supervisor Wright was named secretary of the citizens' committee.

The next meeting will be held as soon as the fact-finding committee is ready to report with its recommendations of available work and needs as the registration committee is able to give the names of those actually needing it.

CO-OPERATION NEEDED

Aid from throughout the county, from almost every municipality, there were representatives who pointed out the needs in their particular community and it was the unanimous opinion of all present that the problems now faced is county-wide and should receive the co-operation of industry from the harbor to the desert.

The present situation was branded not only a psychological condition, but an actual employment need. It was said there is an apparent lack of the bank depositor to release cash which, if placed in circulation, would offer, not a complete solution of the situation, but temporary relief. There are others who hold the opinion that it is the responsibility of the big bankers to put their money at reasonable interest rates instead of putting the responsibility on the private depositor to get it in circulation again.

That there are sufficient quantities of merchandise, food, clothing and housing facilities on hand was generally admitted.

The question of persuading all employers to cut down their working hours so that the unemployed can work for a few hours a week to earn money for their bare needs was generally agreed should be done.

PLENTY OF EVERYTHING

"It seems odd when the country is in an oversupply of everything to read that there are so many people going to hungry," said Harry Chandler, publisher of The Times-Mirror. "I could get the idea over to the workers to cut down hours of labor so they could cut down unemployment overnight.

"Some years ago, as many of us will recall, the working day was ten hours. Then we cut it down to ten and one-half then to ten hours and finally to eight. When machinery came it was found that the hours of labor were cut. Machinery is doing now many times more than what human labor did. Machinery has brought a marvelous problem and its solution, to my mind, is the cutting

ACTRESS TO FACE OPERATION TODAY

Dolores Del Rio

MISS DEL RIO UNDER KNIFE FOR ILLNESS

Actress in Hospital in Critical Condition to Be Operated Upon Today

Reported to be in a critical condition, Dolores Del Rio, Mexican motion-picture actress, was taken to the Good Samaritan Hospital late yesterday and will be operated upon today by Drs. E. C. Fishbaugh and Arthur B. Cecil, it was learned last night.

The operation, it was understood, is a delicate nature, is deemed necessary to correct a kidney ailment that has not responded to other treatment. The actress will be confined in the hospital for several weeks.

Miss Del Rio's illness is declared to date back to shortly after her recent wedding in Santa Barbara to Frederick Gibbons, art director of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios. Excitement incidental to the ceremony, which was attended by many motion-picture celebrities, was declared to have been too great a strain for the actress and she became ill shortly after.

The illness continued and Miss Del Rio was forced to give up work in a picture she was making at United Artists' studio and a few days later was ordered to bed under the care of physicians.

At the Good Samaritan Hospital last night the actress was reported as resting well and apparently in good condition for the operation today.

Weather Man Expects Fair Day Tomorrow

A fair Thanksgiving Day is in sight for tomorrow. Or, rather, in the words of the Weather Bureau, nothing so far has shown up, to indicate that the weather man has anything unusual in store for the holiday. Today is to continue fair and warm, the bureau forecast.

The wind yesterday dropped to around the November normal, four or five miles an hour, after gradually tapering off from last week's havoc-wreaking gales. The temperature, however, stood at 82 deg., the same as the day before. This is 10 deg. above the average of November maximum temperatures.

SUIT ASKS INJUNCTION

Suit was filed yesterday in United States District Court by the Los Angeles Downtown Shopping News seeking an injunction to prohibit that city from inforcing an ordinance preventing distribution of the pamphlet. An order to show cause was issued, returnable December 1, next.

THANKSGIVING DOINGS VARIED

Celebrations Include Church Services and Football

Charity Dinners Prepared for Many Jobless

Thousands of Newsboys to Dine at Alexandria

Los Angeles tomorrow will celebrate Thanksgiving in its homes, at its churches, on its football fields and in its theaters, but greatest thanks will be offered at its charitable institutions, where an unusually large number of hungry will find cause to rejoice.

All banks, public offices, big stores, markets, the postoffice, Public Library and branch libraries will be closed tomorrow and there will be no more school until next Monday.

The main event in sporting circles will be the football game between the University of Southern California and University of Washington teams at the Coliseum at 2:15 p.m.

MISSION TO FEED MANY

Brother Tom Liddecoat announces that he is prepared to feed more than 2000 jobless men at the Midnight Mission, 396 South Los Angeles street. Anyone wishing to donate food, money or clothing to the mission for this special occasion is asked to telephone Mr. Liddecoat.

Brig. James C. Bell, commanding officer of the Los Angeles and South Coast Division of Salvation Army, said the various corps of the army will send out hundreds of well-filled baskets to needy families.

Distribution of food and clothing for over 600 families as a part of the charitable work of Angelus Temple will commence today, according to Business Manager Winters. Today a number of automobiles will be loaded with food and clothing consignments to serve 600 homes. Members of the Temple yesterday contributed their offerings.

At the industrial department, 133 Weller street, Col. W. H. Gooding, assisted by Commandant Herbert Carroll, will give a dinner to 500 elderly men at noon tomorrow. Music will be provided by the Citadel Silver Band. The men who live at the hotel maintained by the industrial department, will be among the guests. Thanksgiving services will be conducted by Adjt. Frank Howell at 10 a.m. at the temple at 832 West Ninth street. In the evening a band concert will be given at 125 East Fourth street.

More than 3000 newsboys will be guests at a turkey dinner at the Alexandria at noon tomorrow. Presiding will be Fay Smalley, general manager of the Alexandria. The affair is being sponsored by James Woods, Carlo Curtis, Jack Doyle, Jack Dempsey, James J. Jeffries and others.

CHURCH SERVICES

Services of thanksgiving will be conducted at 11 a.m. at all Christian Science churches, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, at Boston, Mass. The subject of the Lesson-sermon is "Thanksgiving," the Golden Text being "Rejoice in the Lord, ye righteous; and give thanks at the remembrance of His Holiness."

Special masses will be said at all Catholic churches and missions at 9 a.m., with the exception of St. Agnes Church, at which the mass will be at 10:30 a.m.

At 10 a.m. tomorrow a community thanksgiving festival will be conducted at Faith Lutheran Church, 310 West Ninety-fifth street, in charge of Rev. C. W. Berner.

At St. Paul's Cathedral Holy Communion will be celebrated at 7:30 a.m. and at 10 a.m. a musical program will be given, to be followed by an address by Dr. George Davidson of St. John's Episcopal Church.

UNION SERVICES

Fifty great union services for today and tomorrow in Los Angeles and outlying districts have been arranged by the Church Federation. In point of attendance, probably the greatest will be that of the central district at First Methodist Church at 10 a.m. tomorrow. Dr. E. E. Helms will preside.

Invocation will be offered by Dr. John Snape of Temple Baptist Church. The musical program will be directed by John Smallman, choir conductor of First Congregational Church. Scripture readings will be given by Dr. Warren Grafton of First Christian Church and the Church Federation message will be read by Dr. Helms. Dr. W. S. Dysinger of First English Lutheran Church will read the President's proclamation; Dr. Hugh K. Walker of First Presbyterian Church will

DAISY DE VOE INDICTED

Grand Jury Accuses Clara Bow's Former Secretary With Thefts Totaling $16,000

Climaxing a two weeks' controversy between Clara Bow, motion-picture actress, and her former secretary, Miss Daisy De Voe, the county grand jury returned an indictment against Miss De Voe charging her with thirty-seven counts of grand theft.

The charges in the indictment concern checks on a special account maintained by Miss Bow from which Miss De Voe is accused of withdrawing small sums totaling approximately $16,000 during her employment as secretary to the actress.

The indictment was returned fifteen minutes after Miss De Voe had appeared before the grand jury and told her side of the story. Miss Bow, the complaining witness, testified last week.

Later in the day Miss De Voe obtained a release from Superior Judge Hardy after posting $1000 bond guaranteeing her appearance in court for arraignment. The release was obtained through Irving G. Glasser of the Charles Jones Bonding Company.

The break between Miss Bow and her former secretary became known two weeks ago when it was disclosed that Miss De Voe had been taken into technical custody by District-Attorney's investigators and the contents of her safety-deposit vault seized. Later, Miss De Voe filed suit against Dist.-Atty. Fitts and Blayney Matthews, his chief investigator, charging the unlawful seizure of some of her personal effects.

It was then announced that a complaint would be filed against Miss De Voe but this procedure was abandoned and the inquiry was placed before the grand jury. Miss De Voe, after leaving the grand-jury room, announced through her attorney, Nathan O. Freedman, that she expects to disprove the charges when her case is called for trial.

MOTHER'S LOVE FINDS CHILD

Reunited Pair

Betty Lou, 4 years of age, after reunion with her mother.

MRS. MARGUERITE MAGDEN searched for two years to find her baby, Betty Lou, taken away by the child's father when the couple separated. She testified when she was awarded a divorce and custody of the infant in Superior Judge Fleming's court yesterday.

Mrs. Magden, a daughter of Detective Sergeant Miller of the Los Angeles Police Department, married Paul A. Magden, May 14, 1925, and three years later quarreled with him because, she said, he was a bootlegger.

"I was determined to get that baby back if it took the rest of my life," said Mrs. Magden. "I got a job in pictures and earned money to hire two detectives. Then I bought an old automobile and drove all over the State following the clews they gave me. Finally, I found Betty Lou on a ranch near Clayton."

On motion of Attorney S. S. Hahn, for Mrs. Magden, Judge Fleming ordered Magden to pay $10 a week for the child's support.

EVANGEL'S ILLNESS SLIGHT

Mrs. McPherson's Physician Declares Pastor Needs Only Rest and Quiet for Few Days

Aimee Semple McPherson is not seriously ill and should be out of bed within two or three days, according to her attending physician, Dr. Edward Huntington Williams, yesterday, after he had made a thorough examination of the Angelus Temple pastor at her home on Park avenue and Lemoyne street, adjacent to the church edifice, where she was mysteriously carried Sunday morning on her return from New York.

Armed guards still patrol the streets and buildings at Mrs. McPherson's home. The padlocks are still on the iron gates. Temple officials are censoring every statement issued as to temple affairs, her mother, "Ma" Kennedy, had a "temperature" yesterday, she announced after her brush with temple supporters and denied herself to reporters. There is a hushed silence and members of the organization walk softly past and gaze at the heavily shrouded windows behind which Mrs. McPherson is in the care of white-capped nurses.

MYSTERY EXPLAINED

However, there is nothing seriously the matter with her, Dr. Williams declared.

"I gave her a thorough examination today," he said. "Her heart is in fine condition and there is nothing organically wrong. She still is suffering from her nervous breakdown of last August. I have told her to stay in bed for two or three days.

"Possibly I am to blame for much of the mystery that has surrounded her homecoming. I was called from the city Sunday and Monday and followers telephoned me that she was coming in Sunday morning and asked me what they should do, as she was not feeling very well and had not stood the trip as she had thought she would. I told them not to let people meet her and to take her from the train at Pasadena and put her to bed and when I came back I would call and see her. She appeared very happy yesterday and I told her not to think of appearing on the platform Thanksgiving evening or any time soon. If she does appear Thursday evening, as announced, it will be against my orders."

OVERWORK BLAMED

Dr. Williams said that Mrs. McPherson's illness had been caused by overwork and worry and that she was seriously ill at one time last summer. He explained that recovery in nervous cases such as Mrs. McPherson suffered is slow. He said she should not preach for three months.

It developed yesterday that at the

FINAL DATE FOR TAXES APPROACHES

December 5 Last Day on Which First Payment Can Be Made Without Fine

Friday, December 5, next, marks the dead line for the collection of first installment taxes for the fiscal year 1930-31, it was announced yesterday from the office of Tax Collector Welch on the third floor of the Hall of Justice. All first installment taxes unpaid at this time become subject to a penalty of 10 per cent.

Collection of first installment taxes to date totals approximately $13,609,968.42, or about 10.50 per cent of the total tax to be collected of $126,131,533.60, according to office figures. Close to 60 per cent of the total tax is expected to be collected as first installments.

First installment taxes consist of all taxes on personal property secured by real property and one-half of the taxes on real property. Second installments, consisting of the remaining half of the real property taxes, become due on January 20 and if unpaid by April 20 are subject to a penalty.

U. C. ASKED FOR BOOK AID

The faculty of the political science department of the University of California at Los Angeles has been requested to co-operate in the preparation and editing of two important French publications. One is a new review, "Archives de Philosophe du Droit et de Sociologie Juridique," of which Louis Le Fur of the University of Paris is editor, and the other, "Annuaire Interparlementaire," prepared under the direction of Leo Boissier, secretary of the Interparliamentary Union.

THREE SEA-DEATH SISTERS AT REST IN SINGLE GRAVE

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, Nov. 25. (Exclusive)—Three elderly sisters who walked to their death in the sea last week to escape financial difficulties are resting in one grave here tonight, following a triple service at which the heaving of the billows and the pounding of the surf—to which they chose to deliver their lives—was recalled in poetry.

While he preached the sermon over the sisters lying in coffins near the pulpit, Rev. John R. Hunter of the Swedenborgian Church of New Jerusalem, quoted Aimie Johnson Flint's "The Place of the Sea" and "The Beyond," favorite poems of the three women.

The services were conducted in Todd & Leslie's memorial chapel, and interment was in Woodlawn Cemetery.

The sisters, Mrs. Ada McKeon, 80 years of age; Miss Abbie Miller, 70, and Miss Jessie Miller, 60, are presumed to have walked hand in hand to their death in the sea last Wednesday night to escape financial difficulty, although their brother said they had sufficient property to have kept them comfortable.

HUGE ADDITION TO POLICE FORCE URGED BY BOARD

Council Asked for 1077 New Men, 108 Cars, Secret Service Fund and Sharpshooting Bonus

To cope with the increasing robberies and burglaries in the city and to bring the police department up to date, the Police Commission yesterday asked the City Council to provide 1077 additional men and 108 cars and restore the former marksmanship bonus and secret service funds at a total cost of $1,451,954 for the remainder of the fiscal year. The action was taken on recommendation of Chief of Police Steckel on a unanimous vote by the commission on motion of Commissioner Coe, seconded by Commissioner Walkup. A second motion provides that Chief Steckel and his deputies shall appear before the Council to press the request.

The additional personnel requested includes six detective captains, ninety-four detective sergeants, fifteen lieutenants of police, thirty-eight sergeants of police, 915 policemen, five juvenile officers, and transfer of 260 police to detective sergeants and fifty-five policemen to motorcycle officers.

PROPOSAL EXPLAINED

The Chief explained that six men now are doing the work of detective captains and should receive pay as such; that the new positions of detective sergeants should be created for work which is similar in the detective bureau to that of sergeants in uniform, and that the fifty-five policemen now doing hazardous motorcycle duty should receive pay as motorcycle officers. He said that 260 policemen now are doing the work of detective sergeants and should be given additional pay.

Additional personnel asked consists of two automobile mechanics, sixty-eight general clerks to replace policemen now engaged in such work who then may be released for police duty, one chief engineer, one stationary engineer and three truck drivers.

The cost of the additional personnel and increased pay requested is estimated at $1,262,866 for the remainder of the fiscal year.

Equipment asked consists of fifty-four closed cars, equipped with bullet-proof glass for protection from gunmen and to protect officers during inclement weather, and fifty-four smaller cars which with cost of maintenance would total $122,838.

ADDED BONUS WANTED

The additional marksmanship bonus asked would amount to $12,500 for the remainder of the fiscal year. Chief Steckel pointed out that before the bonus was reduced in this year's budget an average of 200 officers appeared as candidates for sharpshooter qualifications each month, but with the reduced bonus the number has dropped to eighteen a month.

"We consider that knowledge of the ability of our officers to shoot with accuracy is one of the chief deterrents against banditry and to maintain our reputation as pistol shots it is necessary to maintain an incentive for the men to qualify themselves," explained Chief Steckel.

The Chief pointed out that the Council has tentatively agreed to provide funds for radio equipment for police cars, and his recommendation includes a request for an appropriation for $21,500 to pay for the transmitter and 125 receiving sets.

QUIZ FUNDS SOUGHT

In requesting an appropriation of $30,000 for the balance of the fiscal year as a secret service fund, the Chief pointed out the department is seriously handicapped in its fight against crime and vice conditions by lack of investigation funds.

Chief Steckel, in uring the increased personnel, declared that there has been no increase since 1925 in spite of the fact that the city has doubled in population since that year, and that it has a proportionate increase in crime and traffic problems to combat. The addition of 915 policemen, he said, is the minimum needed to build up the department's ranks.

Following the action on the Chief's recommendation, his reorganization plan was formally approved by the commission and is to take effect beginning December 1. The plan, largely regarded as a readjustment of the personnel, consists of having three inspectors to co-operate with the various police division captains and districts, with a fourth inspector detailed to headquarters.

Much of the reorganization plan already is in effect, consisting largely of reducing the number of men at divisions not requiring as many as other divisions, where additional men have been placed.

The intelligence bureau, now quar-

CITY CRIME TIDE RISE CONTINUES

Officer Shoots Down Suspect Caught in Hold-up

Eight Robberies Reported for Monday Night

Burglaries Also on Increase, Police Records Show

Wounding of a bandit in the act of holding up a service station Monday night made but a ripple in stemming this month's crime flood, it was indicated in reports filed at the police statistical bureau yesterday showing eight robberies reported between 9 p.m. Monday and 6 a.m. yesterday. At midnight the record-breaking total was given as 221 robberies since the 1st inst., an increase of 116 when compared with a total of 105 for the same period last month. Burglaries increased to 483 as compared with 364 for October in the same number of days.

A youth giving the name of John Eaton was the bandit suspect shot. Eaton and a companion had held up Gerald McLaughlin and Glenn Biles in the Texaco service station at 2217 South Figueroa street and robbed McLaughlin of $10. As they were preparing to get away in their automobile, Officer R. H. Morrison stepped out of a place of concealment and opened fire. One bullet struck Eaton in the left shoulder and he dropped. His confederate escaped on foot, but so precipitously that he left his hat behind with his possible name inscribed on the inner sweat band. Eaton was taken to the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital and then placed in a cell at Georgia-street station. Detective Lieutenants Wessel and O'Connor at once began an investigation to connect Eaton with numerous recent service station robberies.

A few moments after he walked from a cafe at 123 East Jefferson street, Joe Garcia of 216 West Twenty-eighth street, was assaulted by three men and two women, beaten about the face and head and robbed of $30.

Two bandits, believed to have been operating in a stolen automobile, held up Edwin Jones in his service station at 4181 South Vermont avenue and robbed him of $70. Before they left the bandits locked Jones in the wash room, from which he was released half an hour later by his partner.

Not only was Robert Lefler of 415 Martelo street robbed of $65 in cash but he was also forced by a bandit to enact the role of taxicab driver for half an hour. Lefler told police the bandit stepped into his car at 421 Fetterly avenue and, after taking his money at the point of a pistol, made him drive about the neighborhood until they met another machine driven by the bandit's confederate.

E. J. Buttner of 401 West Twenty-seventh street found that even the doorstep of his home is unsafe. He was held up there by a bandit who robbed him of $17 as he stepped out at an early morning hour to go to work.

Thirty-one burglaries reported Monday night and early yesterday morning netted burglars approximately $5000 in cash and valuables.

In an automobile chase in which a dozen shots were fired, Frank La Marr, 23, who is said to have a police record, was captured at Melrose avenue and Irving Boulevard yesterday by Officers Maney and Chase. La Marr had a man companion in the car who escaped.

The car used by La Marr and his companion is said to have been stolen from V. W. Salmon of 1377 North Ridgewood Place. A charge of suspicion of grand theft was entered against La Marr.

PRISON URGED FOR DRIVERS

Bar Association Trustees Asked to Work for Severe Penalties to Punish Drunken Autoists

Sweeping changes in that section of the Penal Code pertaining to driving an automobile while intoxicated have been recommended to the trustees of the Los Angeles Bar Association by its committee on criminal procedure, Dep. Dist.-Atty. Beecher, a member of the committee, made known yesterday.

Beecher revealed the proposed amendments as one of the speakers at a conference of public officials and civic leaders, sponsored by and held at the Automobile Club of Southern California, to consider the best ways and means of co-operating with the police department in the interests of public safety.

In the majority of drunk-driving cases, Beecher said, his committee has found that the jury recommends payment of a fine, and in cases where a jail sentence has been imposed the penalty has been three or four months in the County Jail. Accordingly the committee, he stated, has recommended revision of Sec. 112, as follows:

(1.) Deny juries the right to fix the punishment.

(2.) Courts shall prescribe no fine as punishment or as an alternative of imprisonment.

(3.) Driving an automobile while intoxicated shall be constituted a felony, where personal injury has resulted, and shall be punishable, therefore, by imprisonment in a State prison.

(4.) Driving an automobile while intoxicated shall be constituted a misdemeanor, where no personal injury is involved, and shall be punishable by imprisonment in the County Jail.

In prefacing his remarks, Beecher mentioned that the law regarding manslaughter is, of course, adequate.

The discussion of safety matters yesterday resulted in the taking of one definite step looking toward their ultimate solution. By unanimous vote a committee of five was appointed and empowered to name a committee-of-the-whole. These five are D. W. Pontius, president of the Pacific Electric Railway; E. A. Dickson, newspaper publisher; T. C. Palmer, president of the Retail Dry

THE Native Sons are not pikers when it comes to recommending the purchase of landmarks to be added to the list of State parks. It would take more money than there is in the United States Mint.

Some of their recommendations are good and some are funny. I am sure that I don't want any of my share of the State funds to be spent on saving, as a sacred shrine, the home of Jack London. Or even the saloon which he inhabited. I might be willing to compromise on buying the soap box from which he spellbound the unwashed mob.

LANDMARK

Their most important recommendation is to save the South Calaveras Grove from the rapacious greed of certain lumbermen.

It would also be good to save old Fort Tejon, Camulos and the Vallejo home; but I am unable to shed any tears of emotion over the cabin where Edwin Markham wrote some poems.

GAME LOSERS

They are the worst licked of any university team of recent years, but I think these Berkeley boys gave an exhibition of nerve and courage that merits admiration.

Any team can fight when it has a chance; but it takes a fighting heart to march in with a brass band and head up to take another one on a well-battered chin.

THE COACH

Mr. Nibs Price may not have taught the Berkeley boys much football, but he taught them something far more valuable.

THE BANDIT FAMILY

The latest generation of the bandit family of the Youngers are shooting it out with the officers of the law in the accustomed manner. A survey of crime in the State of Indiana showed that nearly all the crime in that State could be traced to 150 families.

A SHOOTING COP

Two shot bandits to the score of Policeman Urquhart. If the cap Police Commission lets the Chief alone there will be more dead bandits.

INNOCENT AGE

Movie producers can draw a moral from the blazing success of "Min and Bill." Old-fashioned, rather blubbery hokum, beautifully done. The "age of sophistication" was a paste jewel.

NOT A CHANCE

If ice-bound Yukon is to find a nurse who will risk her life in making a wild trip to the Arctic; gain the undying gratitude of those she nurses in the epidemic; then agree not to marry for three years, they will have to find one with buck teeth, crossed eyes and so mean that the children crawl under the bed when they hear her coming. The chances of any ordinary-looking gal remaining a spinster in the face of that situation are not good. The people of Yukon had best accept her heroism; but have the preacher handy.

OIL PERMITS FAVORED

The City Planning Commission yesterday recommended to the City Council that permits to drill for oil in the Venice field be granted to M. C. Whalen, E. C. Sketter, A. M. Gunnett, A. I. Smith, Rose Lieber, E. M. Stanley and A. E. Cummings. An ordinance was adopted by the Council permitting Rose Lieber to drill at Forty-first avenue and the Esplanade.

YOUTHS REVEAL ROBBER CAREER

Three Jailed Following Their Asserted Confessions

Student Accused in Shooting of Inglewood Officer

Police Seize Suspects After Raid on Market

How they committed close to a dozen daring robberies within the last few weeks was revealed in asserted confessions of three youthful junior high school students, one of whom shot a private patrolman in a hold-up at Inglewood early yesterday morning, according to Capt. Stensland of the Sheriff's office.

The three youths, George L. Nelson, 16 years of age, of 152 East One Hundred and Ninth Place; Roy A. Stutsman, 18, 416 West One Hundred and Fourth street, and Roosevelt B. Buck, 19, 11102 Budlong avenue, are held in the County Jail on accusations growing out of the shooting and as robbery suspects.

YOUTHS CAPTURED

Nelson was captured when, in company with the other two, he sought to rob a market at One Hundred and Fourteenth street and Hawthorne Boulevard early yesterday morning after Buck is asserted to have shot A. J. Schrader, a private patrolman who surprised the trio, officers reported. Buck and Stutsman escaped from the scene and were captured later at Stutsman's home.

Schrader yesterday was in the Inglewood Hospital suffering from a bullet wound in the leg, according to a Sheriff's office report.

USED STOLEN CAR

The car used in the hold-up had been stolen and the gun in Buck's possession was obtained by Nelson from a friend, according to Deputy Sheriff's Jones and Higgins, who are investigating.

In the excitement attending the hold-up the youths failed to take a quantity of money they had obtained from two cash registers, leaving it on a counter, the officers reported.

tered in the Mayor's suite in the City Hall, is placed under jurisdiction of the Chief instead of the Mayor and will be moved to other quarters. Steckel explained that for the time being it will operate under his direction by doing secret service work as an aid in running down crime and vice.

Chief Steckel announced that he has selected Capts. A. W. Gifford of the Traffic Division, L. J. Ammon of Central Station and C. A. Hodson of the Valley division, as three of the inspectors under the reorganization plan. Inspector David A. Davidson will remain at Central Station.

Auto Injuries Prove Fatal to Three Victims

Three deaths from automobile accidents occurring earlier in the week were reported by the police yesterday. One victim of a Monday accident was Mrs. James Chin, 72 years of age, of 1040 Blaine street, who remained for twelve hours in a hospital before she was identified.

She was struck by a car driven by J. F. Owens of 3478 San Marino street as she stepped from the curb into the street. Owens was not held.

Mrs. Anna Medina, 42, 7533 Burr street, Bell, who was injured when her husband's car collided with another machine at Fourth and St. Louis streets, died at the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital. Neither the husband nor C. T. Wall, driver of the other machine, was injured.

Alexander Brougrerre, 40, died at General Hospital from injuries received when he was struck by an automobile driven by E. R. Williams of 813½ North Coronado street. The accident occurred at Main street and Sunset Boulevard.

'MERCY' KILLING DEFENSE OPENS

Mrs. Weimer's Admission to Police Read Into Records

Many Testify for Woman Who Slew Her Sister

Bonds of Affection Between Couple Told About

Asserted admissions of Mrs. Ruth Weimer to police indicating that she planned the murder of her sister, Mrs. Mabel Steele, on several occasions to end her suffering, were read into the record of Superior Judge Fricke's court yesterday as the closing point of the State's case against Mrs. Weimer, who is on trial for the "mercy" slaying of Mrs. Steele September 14, last.

Evidence introduced by George Stahlman, deputy District Attorney prosecuting the case, indicates the District Attorney is seeking to prove the killing was premeditated and consequently the death penalty may be asked.

With the introduction of Mrs. Weimer's asserted statement, the prosecution rested its case and the defense immediately began the questioning of more than a score of character witnesses. All of them testified that a strong bond of affection always existed between Mrs. Weimer and her sister, Mrs. Steele. On numerous occasions, it was stated, Mrs. Weimer brought home presents for her sister.

Later in the case Mrs. Weimer is expected to take the witness stand in her own defense, according to Nathan O. Freedman, her attorney. The defense contention is that the woman shot and killed her sister during a fit of emotional amnesia induced by the constant prayers of Mrs. Steele for death while she was grieving over the loss of her two children who were in the custody of her estranged husband.

Earlier in the trial Evelyn Rains, niece of Mrs. Weimer, told of witnessing the shooting, asserting that after shooting Mrs. Steele, Mrs. Weimer turned the gun on herself, but the shots went wild and lodged in the ceiling.

PRISON URGED FOR AUTOISTS

Goods Association; Sarah Bixby Smith, president of the Friday Morning Club, and Harry J. Bauer, president of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

It shall become the duty of the larger committee to conduct an exhaustive survey of traffic conditions and the problems of safety involved, and submit to the group assembled yesterday specific recommendations. These then will be acted upon and probably presented formally for proposed adoption by officialdom.

As chairman of the session, President Bauer raised the question of pedestrian lanes and disregard of the ordinance concerning them as a contributing factor in accidents. Not one motorist in ten, he declared, stops to allow a pedestrian to cross; and more than 10 per cent of the fatalities in Southern California occur in such lanes. His opinion was borne out by E. B. Lefferts, manager of the club's public-safety department. The club, Bauer promised, will interest itself at once in the matter of possible amendments to the ordinance with a view to increasing the safety factor.

Daily radio broadcast over every station was suggested by Wesley Barr, newspaper man, as a possible means of reminding the motoring public to "save a life today, by being careful." This was indorsed by Police Chief Steckel, who added that the proposed police department radio will be utilized to that end. Chief Steckel also urged that citizens report promptly to police all reckless or drunken drivers, thus giving the police cruising cars a chance to overtake or intercept them.

OTHER SPEAKERS

Others who spoke briefly at the meeting included Mayor Porter, D. W. Pontius, Miss Kate Smith, new appointee to the police commission, and W. J. Sanborn, president of the City Council.

Apropos of public safety, the City Council yesterday morning filed with the police commission a resolution urging enforcement of both State and local laws compelling motorists not to exceed twenty miles an hour at intersections, in residential districts and vicinities lacking traffic signals. The resolution was referred to Chief Steckel.

Gem-Robbery Suspect Jailed

Accused of executing a $300,000 gem robbery in a downtown office building here on the 14th inst., Rogerio Gargula, 25-year-old fugitive, also wanted in Salt Lake City for a $25,000 diamond theft, was booked in San Pedro Jail last night on a robbery charge and as a fugitive from justice.

A picture of the suspect, circulated following the local robbery, was reported last night from San Pedro as being one of Gargula. The local theft victim was Moe Reingold, robbed in his private office by a lone bandit while several clerks were at work outside his door, gagged and forced to give up $300,000 in rings and unset stones.

Gargula is wanted, Detective Lieutenants Evans and Fickes, of San Pedro division, the arresting officers, reported, by Salt Lake City police for committing a daylight robbery in which Louis Rothstein was robbed of his life savings in diamonds in front of the Salt Lake City Union Depot on September 21, last.

The officers arrested Gargula in a rooming-house at 4150 South Figueroa street when they trapped him there after an extended search. They reported that Gargula admitted his identity, but denied the diamond theft.

KIWANIS CLUB TO MEET

The McKinley Home for Boys committee will be heard at the regular meeting today of the Kiwanis Club of Los Angeles at the Biltmore. Mrs. Pearl Meade Barry will give readings and officers of the club will be elected. Dr. Dain L. Tasker will be the chairman of the day.

MUNICIPAL QUIZ TO GO ON

Harbor Commission Appointment Inquiry Will Be Pushed Despite Death of Key Witness

Despite the unexpected death of one who was described as a "key witness" in the case, the county grand jury today will continue an inquiry started yesterday, as part of its investigation into municipal affairs, into the proposed appointment of a certain man as a Harbor Commissioner, it was learned last night.

The witness who died was Arthur W. Knowles, well-known real estate man and active civic worker, who passed away Monday morning at his home at 1458½ South Norton avenue. Knowles was subpoenaed last Thursday by the grand jury and was scheduled to have testified yesterday. A written statement made by him to Dep. Dist.-Atty. O'Brien, it was learned, was read into the grand jury records at the request of the jurors when they learned Knowles had died.

Owing to Knowles's status as a witness, Chief Deputy District Attorney Stewart took official cognizance of his death and had the facts reported to him, and last night announced that he is convinced that death was due to natural causes. Dr. John Shafer of the Coroner's medical staff, performed a post mortem on the body and declared the cause of death was heart disease.

Knowles, S. R. Roseberg, president of the Golden Bear Oil Company; Mrs. S. R. Knowles, Mearl Allen and other witnesses were called to the grand jury room, it developed, to tell what they knew, if anything, about rumors that certain influences had been active in trying to dictate the appointment of a harbor commissioner.

In addition to those already mentioned, witnesses that appeared at the grand jury room yesterday included F. J. Hart, secretary of the Western Oil and Refining Company; Joe Buchta, former city investigator, and A. W. Taylor, vice-president of the Western Oil and Refining Company.

That the grand jury intends to continue its inquiry into municipal affairs was demonstrated again yesterday when more subpoenas were issued, calling for the appearance of witnesses as far removed as next Tuesday. Joe Berlinger, owner of Henry's Cafe on Hollywood Boulevard, was one of those subpoenaed.

Mayor Porter for the first time yesterday discussed the indictment of George Brown, Negro politician, and Bennie Kelso and Reuben Scott, Negro officers, for conspiracy to violate the liquor laws. The Mayor said:

"Chief Steckel kept me informed at all times of what was going on, and I gave him every assistance. I was fully in accord with what was being done to break up the liquor racketeering on Central avenue and will continue to give my assistance in the prosecution of the men facing the conspiracy charges."

The Mayor was informed yesterday by James Walters that at the last meeting of the Men's Brotherhood Bible class of the University Methodist Church that a vote of confidence had been given him for his integrity and for his "ability to lift our city out of the moral degradation into which it had fallen prior to your administration."

MRS. M'PHERSON ILLS BELITTLED

time of Mrs. McPherson's illness last summer following a battle with her mother, "Ma" Kennedy, in which the latter contends the Angelus Temple evangelist struck her reconstructed nose, which had just been redone by a facial surgeon, the evangelist, besides her ordinary church duties was writing a book, composing two oratories as well as taking test shots for her proposed motion picture, "Clay in the Potter's Hands." Rumors are current that a part of the plan for the picture included a less robust Mrs. McPherson as the principal character, hence the loss of weight so evident in the past few weeks.

The Crusader, the official organization newspaper, yesterday heralded her appearance at a meeting Thanksgiving night.

The report which was current about the Temple yesterday to the effect that Uldine Utley, eastern evangelist, is dickering for control of the Temple was vigorously denied by F. C. Winters, business manager. The report was that Mrs. McPherson would receive a large eastern estate and a considerable sum of money for her rights in the Temple.

Explanation of the contents of the mysterious black box which, because of its resemblance to a coffin, so excited Mrs. Minnie Kennedy when it was being borne into the Temple Monday, was made by Business Manager Winters yesterday. He said that it contained two oriental chairs which had been purchased by Mrs. McPherson on her recent trip to the Holy Land.

Another explanation put forward by observers was that the guards were about the building to repel possible process servers in some litigation which might be pending.

Mrs. Kennedy yesterday issued statements in which she said she believes Mrs. McPherson is being held a prisoner in her own home. After a verbal barrage with several Temple guards, when she demanded to see her daughter and was refused permission she went horseback riding. She has nicknamed her "hoss," "Billy Sunday." On her return she refused to talk, saying that she had raised a temperature and felt that she should retire.

ANGELUS TEMPLE LOSES $30,000 ESTATE

Mrs. Catherine M. McAdams was of unsound mind when she executed a will disposing of a $30,000 estate, the bulk of it to Angelus Temple organizations, Superior Judge Allen held in a decision filed yesterday, setting aside the testament. Mrs. McAdams was 67 years of age when she died December 5, 1929.

"Physicians said that Mrs. McAdams suffered cancer," the opinion sets forth. "She said that she was cured by teachings and prayers of the Temple. That constituted a delusion in itself. It is evident that she made the will under the morbid delusion that she was required to give all or nearly all of her property to the Temple to be cured by prayer."

The hearings disclosed that in her last years, Mrs. McAdams gave four dwellings, valued at $16,000, to Evangelist Aimee Semple McPherson. By the terms of the will, all but about one-fortieth of the McAdams estate was left to four organizations of the Angelus Temple, and to Rev. Joseph W. Arthur, assistant pastor, who was named as executor.

Contest was waged by Mrs. Marion E. McCabe, a cousin, who was willed nothing, and by John Edward McKeand, an uncle, who was left $500. Attorneys Charles Ruby, C. C. Pease, Harry Bruce and N. B. Nelson represented the contestants.

PERSONAL INJURY ACTION POSTPONED

When Concha Ochoa's $25,075 personal injury suit against Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson and others was called yesterday in Superior Judge Scott's court, hearing was continued until March 11, 1931. The plaintiff, 8 years of age, sued through her father, David Ochoa, naming as co-defendants the Echo Park Evangelistic Association, a corporation; the Church of the Four Square Gospel and Anna Benton.

The complaint sets out that on May 28, 1929, Anna Benton, as agent of the other defendants, was driving a car which hit the plaintiff at Sunset Boulevard and Hill street, fracturing her left leg and left-foot toes. The defendants assert contributory negligence on the part of the girl, and deny that Anna Benton was acting as their agent. Attorney Bert L. Irving appeared for the plaintiff, and Attorney W. Joseph Ford for the defendants.

Gangster Killing Held Justified

A Coroner's jury yesterday returned a verdict of justifiable homicide in the case of Robert Marion Collins, 26-year-old gangster-suspect, who was shot to death at 4 a.m. last Sunday by Policeman D. L. Urquhart of Culver City in a spectacular gun-battle in front of the latter's home.

The jury found Urquhart killed Collins in the performance of his duty. The inquest was conducted by Deputy Coroner Kane at the Culver City funeral parlors, Culver City.

RICH OIL MAN'S DEFENSE OPENS

Government Rests in Trial of Gilbert S. Johnson

Motion of Acquittal Denied by Judge Cosgrave

Promoter Charged With Use of Mails to Defraud

Government counsel rested its case yesterday afternoon in the trial of Gilbert S. Johnson, wealthy California and Texas oil promoter, now being tried before a jury in United States District Judge Cosgrave's court on a charge of using the mails to defraud in connection with the promotion of numerous oil companies in Texas and California.

Immediately following the action by the government, David H. Cannon and H. L. Arterberry, defense counsel, in the absence of the jury, entered a motion for a directed verdict of not guilty. They stated the evidence adduced by the government did not constitute an offense on the part of Johnson and that, on the other hand, he had paid out his own money for the various companies.

In denying the motion the court stated that in sending out "glaring" literature to thousands of prospective investors to induce them to invest in his companies he must have known what he was doing and what the result would be.

Defense testimony was started late in the afternoon and will be resumed today. It is expected the defense testimony will be completed by Friday night and that arguments in the case will begin Tuesday.

Prerogative Used by Woman After Night in Jail

Chastened by a night in the County Jail, Fanfle Heinal, 18 years of age, arrested late Monday for jaywalking at Seventh and Hill streets, gave her name to Municipal Judge Egan and entered a plea of not guilty to the charge. Her trial was set for Friday, next.

Mrs. Heinal was arrested by Traffic Officer Karl E. Kurts when she refused to obey his order to return to the curb, which, he reported, she had left against a signal. Kurtz attempted to give her a traffic tag, he said, but she refused to sign it or to give her name and was taken to Central Station, where she again refused to give her name. Brought before Judge Egan she refused to give her name for the third time and when he offered to set her case over until morning for arraignment, declared "set it over if you want to, I won't be here."

Judge Egan set bail at $1000 and when she was unable to provide it she was forced to spend the night in County Jail.

down of hours of labor. It seems to me to be a practical thing. It is not an experiment, it is nothing new."

Attorney Joe Scott said the banks should release the large deposits on hand at a low rate of interest into channels of trade. Herman Perry, banker of Whittier, however, declared the banks are merely trustees of other folks' money and if money is to be released, it is up to the depositor.

Susan B. Dorsey, former superintendent of Los Angeles city schools, took the problem as it affects the women and urged as a slogan, "Every home employ at least one woman a week."

MANY PRESENT

That there is keen interest in the unemployment situation in the county was evidenced by the large response to Supervisor Shaw's invitation to serve on a county-wide committee. Forty persons representing labor and the employers of labor were present.

Among the speakers were W. J. Prisk, publisher; W. H. Holland, county superintendent of charities; E. Manchester Boddy, publisher; Harvey C. Premming, deputy State Labor Commissioner and president of the Long Beach Labor Council; Robert Linton, president of the Pacific Clay Products Company; C. E. Chenoweth, Glendale; J. W. Mosell, secretary of the Los Angeles Labor Council; William Dunkerley, secretary of the Pasadena Chamber of Commerce; E. F. McDonald, Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce; C. A. Griffith, representative of the Citrus Growers' Association; E. J. Flemming, president Downtown Business Men's Association; Mrs. J. K. Lytle, president of the Parent-Teacher Association, and J. La Cathcart of Pomona, president of the Southern Service Laundry Chain.

SHAW'S PROGRAM

Six vital propositions presented by Supervisor Shaw as a working program were unanimously adopted. They are:

(1.) Create a four, or five-day work week, holding actual lay-offs to minimum.

(2.) Start a "buy-now" campaign.

(3.) Urge local firms to display and advertise locally manufactured products thereby stressing the general public's responsibility to buy locally produced goods.

(4.) Create a sane and humanitarian program for providing emergency aid to bona fide residents—not charity cases—suddenly impoverished by unexpected unemployment.

(5.) Devise a practical method of saving equity home owners from confiscation of their property through inability to pay assessments and taxes because of temporary financial stress.

(6.) Aid all employers in the county in working out their particular business problems and adopting a uniform program assuring steady and efficient employees continued employment over a period of the next six months to a year at reasonable wages.

SLAYING OF SON LAID TO MOTHER

Rose Tarlazzi Must Answer to Law for Shooting

Witness States Fatal Shot Fired After Quarrel

Victim's Wife, Dazed by Fear, Confused in Story

Although her statement was partly refuted by Mrs. Dorothy Tarlazzi, wife of the dead man, testimony by Ruth Biescar regarding a hand which she saw emerge from the bedroom holding a revolver was sufficient to hold Mrs. Rosa Tarlazzi, mother of Frank Tarlazzi, for trial for his murder, Municipal Judge Reid decided yesterday.

Miss Biescar, said by police to be one of their operatives, testified that after a quarrel between Tarlazzi and his mother the latter went into the bedroom, where her daughter-in-law followed her. An instant later, she said, she heard the latter say "Mother, what are you doing? Put that down. Are you trying to hurt someone?"

Tarlazzi went toward the bedroom to investigate, she testified, and a hand holding a revolver emerged from the door and fired the weapon. The shot struck Tarlazzi in the stomach, causing his death a short time later, according to County Autopsy Surgeon Werner. Miss Biescar said the arm holding the revolver was clothed in a long sleeve and was grasped at the wrist by the hand of a sleeveless arm. Mrs. Rosa Tarlazzi, she said, wore a dress with long sleeves while her daughter-in-law's dress was sleeveless.

Mrs. Dorothy Tarlazzi, called to the stand by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Sullivan, declared that she was not in the bedroom, as far as she could remember, at any time, and that she was in the front room when the shot was fired. She found her husband lying in the back yard immediately afterward, she said, and called for help.

Cross-examined by Alfred Paonessa, defense attorney, she said she did not see the gun that evening, while declaring that she did not see it until after the shooting, when she observed that it was in her own hand. She was in a daze at the time, she declared, and could not realize what was going on.

Arthur Scherer, a neighbor, testified that he was awakened about 1 a.m. by the sound of shots coming from the Tarlazzi home at 1145 Los Feliz street and that, in response to a woman's call for help, he telephoned for an ambulance and then went into the Tarlazzi back yard, where he found Frank lying. Dorothy Tarlazzi, he said, was there holding a revolver, which he took from her before carrying Tarlazzi into the house.

WOOD YARD AWAITS AXES OF JOBLESS

Midnight Mission to Open Pile Tomorrow and Also Emergency Dormitory

A wood yard where unemployed men may find temporary work while being cared for will be opened tomorrow morning in conjunction with the new 500-bed capacity emergency dormitory of the Midnight Mission, according to announcement of the Mission board of directors yesterday.

A warehouse at Sixth and San Pedro streets is being cleaned up by volunteer workers and 100 beds will be installed today to handle the overflow from the Fourth and Los Angeles streets headquarters of the Mission tomorrow night. Donations of bedding and sleeping equipment are sought for the installation of the additional 400 beds, officials report.

Trees cut down in street-improvement work and demolished in the recent windstorm will be transported to the wood yard by city street and parks departments to supply work for ax and saw men in the wood yard. The wood will be given to poor families in need and sold to others to supply funds for maintenance of the emergency dormitory.

Serving of the first Thanksgiving dinner for homeless men will start at 11:30 a.m. tomorrow and will continue until 3000 men have been served. Supplies to feed this number temporarily have been obtained.

WHITAKER GIVEN DIVORCE

Court Finds Beverly Hills Millionaire's Wife Mostly at Fault in Couple's Troubles

Superior Judge Guerin late yesterday granted Francis Whitaker, Beverly Hills millionaire, a divorce from Mrs. Margaret P. Whitaker, former motion-picture actress, who had sued for separate maintenance, naming Cleon Plato, co-respondent, as the main factor of wrecking the Whitaker home. Judge Guerin gave the husband educational supervision of the son, Thomas Van Rensselaer, 7 years of age. The judge held that Whitaker was entitled to the real property financed by his wife with the husband's money and that title to 1000 shares of Lehigh Coal stock claimed by the wife never had passed out of Whitaker's name, other than the estate. Mrs. Whitaker's contention that she built up extensive realty holdings from a $7000 cash gift by her husband were not found by the court to be borne out. He commented that Whitaker had been exceedingly generous and had given his wife $118,000 in stocks and bonds.

Mrs. Whitaker's title to $100,000 worth of property held in her own name was confirmed to her by the court. She also was given all household furnishings in their home at 1 Oakford Drive, Beverly Hills, with the exception of Whitaker's and his mother's bedroom suite and the boy's possessions. The judge found with both counsel that there was no community property. Both parties in this action admitted "drinking to excess," said Judge Guerin. "It is a sad commentary on the ability of the United States to enforce the prohibition law when a man can buy $2500 worth of liquor and go to drink in his home."

Judge Guerin gave Whitaker complete supervision of his son's education, otherwise giving the parents equal rights, each to have him during a portion of his school vacation periods. It was shown that they did not drink to excess and also that Mrs. Whitaker sometime her association with Plato.

Frederick Nixon, Supported by Daughter, Relieved of Wife's Request

Because Frederick Nixon's sole source of income is an allowance from his daughter, Marion Nixon, long a screen actress, his wife, Mrs. Etta Mae Nixon, yesterday was denied alimony when she appeared in Superior Judge Smith's court.

Mrs. Nixon was sued on the ground that she nagged her husband and called him names.

PROMINENT PASADENANS WILL WED

Edwin Thayer Will Take Miss Ruth Hubley as His Bride Saturday Afternoon

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Nov. 25.—Uniting two socially prominent local families, the marriage of Miss Ruth Hubley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Hubley of 1261 Mar Vista avenue, to Edwin Force Thayer, son of Mrs. Maynard F. Thayer of 789 East California street, will be solemnized Saturday at 4 p.m. in the Neighborhood Church.

Mr. Thayer, 27 years of age, was graduated from the California Institute of Technology in 1926 and is head of the public relations department for all street railways in St. Louis.

The bride-to-be is 24. She was graduated from the University of Washington, where she was a member of the Gamma Phi Beta Sorority. She majored in journalism and recently was employed as a feature writer by a Los Angeles news syndicate.

Miss Hubley will be given in marriage by her father, Henry Carpenter Hubley. She will have one attendant, Miss Ruth Chase of San Marino.

William H. Henry Hubley, brother of the bride, will serve as best man. Ushers will be Alfred Newton of Venice; Robert Fulwider of Los Angeles; Phyl Carrier and Joseph Walker, both of this city.

The ceremony will be performed by Dr. Hitchcock of Pomona. The couple will reside in St. Louis.

New President of Barker Bros. States Policy

Lawrence Barker was elected president of Barker Brothers yesterday by the board of directors of the furniture corporation.

LAWRENCE BARKER

Mr. Barker retired from active part in the direction of the business six years ago because of ill health. The action of the board of directors places him in the position his father, the late W. A. Barker, occupied for many years.

Restored to health and vigor, Mr. Barker stated after his election he contemplates making no changes in the corporation which his grandfather, O. T. Barker, established in 1880.

"It shall be my effort to continue the traditions and sources of success inspired by my father and my grandfather," he said. "I shall endeavor to assist the organization and business constantly to serve better the increasing and complex needs of Los Angeles and Southern California."

At yesterday's meeting Clarence A. Barker was elected vice-president. There were no other changes in the directorate.

PROTEST HEARING SET

The ordinance of intention for the opening, widening and extending of Van Buren Place between Twenty-seventh and Twenty-ninth streets was adopted yesterday by the City Council. The hearing of protests was set for January 7.

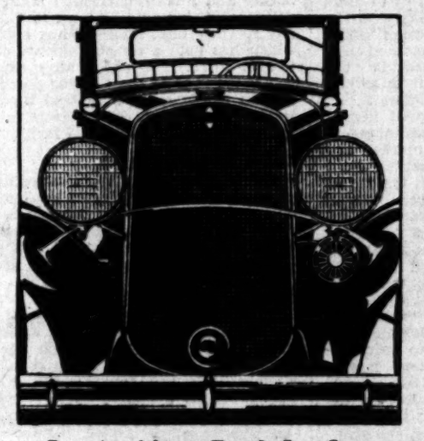
BIGGER AND BETTER

THE NEW CHEVROLET SIX

Strikingly beautiful, fleet and smart —a masterpiece of Fisher styling

CHEVROLET

In the entire field of modern coachcraft no symbol has come to mean more to the buyer of a motor car than Body by Fisher. And never has Fisher's superiority been more strikingly exemplified than in the beautiful new bodies of the Bigger and Better Chevrolet Six!



Front view of the new Chevrolet Sport Coupe

Working with the added advantage of a lengthened wheelbase, Fisher artists and designers have been able to achieve in the new Chevrolet a degree of smartness, comfort and impressiveness hitherto considered exclusive to cars far higher in price.

Inside and out, you will discover scores of refinements that stamp this car as a masterpiece of modern coachwork. Radiator, headlamps and tie-bar have been artistically grouped to create an unusually attractive and distinctive ensemble. Mouldings sweep back from the graceful new radiator in an unbroken line to blend with the smart new body contours. And new colors, in carefully devised combinations, lend a new individuality. Interiors, too, are exceptional in every way. The new mohair and broadcloth upholstery is tailored with exceptional smartness. Seats are wider and deeper and more luxuriously cushioned. A deeper windshield and wider windows give better vision for both driver and passengers. And beautiful new hardware, of modern design, lends a final note of charm.

The greater quality and beauty of the new Chevrolet-Fisher bodies have a counterpart in the many improvements which have been provided in the chassis of this Bigger and Better Six. Among these improvements are a stronger frame; easier steering; a more durable clutch; a quieter, smoother transmission; and engine refinements which make the new Chevrolet a car you will be happy to drive—as well as proud to own.

The Bigger and Better Chevrolet Six is now on display in our showrooms. See it today—drive it—and learn for yourself that it is the Great American Value!

Backgammon to Be Discussed at Wilshire Store

Backgammon, most recent game to capture the public fancy throughout the country, is to be the subject of a lecture and demonstration by R. F. Foster, next Monday at 3 p.m. in Bullock's Wilshire store. Foster is regarded as an authority on the game, as well as on nearly 100 others, and is known for his insistence that scientific playing, not luck, is chiefly responsible for victory.

In conjunction with the lecture and demonstration the store will serve tea and present a fashion show, in which the backgammon motif will prevail.

Reservations must be made in advance, the seating capacity of the auditorium being limited.

SIMON AND PETERS SHAKE HANDS AND FORGET PAST

Beverly Hills' latest neighborhood row ended in a handshaking and mutual understanding party early last night in Beverly Hills Municipal Court, when a jury decided House Peters, motion-picture actor, did not throw rocks at the next-door home of William H. Simon, wealthy owner of the chain of dairy lunch-rooms bearing his name, and husband of Fanchon, partner in Fanchon-Marco stage reviews.

Peters was cleared by the jury before Justice Billings of the rock-throwing charge and of assertedly calling Simon's 4-year-old daughter and a half-dozen of her playmates "a bunch of brats."

Peters and Simon, who, before the trial got under way, refused to speak to each other, shook hands and called the affair a draw, as they left the courtroom.

The court action grew out of several years of strife between the Peters and Simon families, it was brought out at the trial.

The Peters home is at 806 North Camden Drive, Beverly Hills, and the Simon residence at 808.

CAPT. COURTNEY TO WED MRS. ROOSEVELT

Man Dies Under Train's Wheels

A man identified as Luther M. Roach ended his life late Monday night by jumping in front of a Southern Pacific freight train at the intersection of Division street, police said yesterday. His body, thrown to one side of the right of way, was found by Special Officer P. A. Park. Near by was an alarm clock.

From papers found in the man's clothes detectives learned he roomed at 1230½ Cypress avenue. Mrs. Nora Fieto, landlady there, said Roach had mentioned suicide the day before and had told her he was going to set his alarm clock to arise before dawn.

CLUB TO SKIP MEETING

The Hollywood Breakfast Club will hold no meeting tomorrow, it was announced yesterday.

Jury Declares Japanese Pair Slew Rancher

Killing of Luz Mata, 45 years of age, Mexican rancher of Thermal, was committed by U. Tanaka, 28, and Frank Nokano, 37, Japanese, was the verdict of five members of a Cornell jury of six at an inquest yesterday morning at the undertaking parlors of Addleman & Flingerman, El Monte.

One member of the jury declared himself unable to place the responsibility for the killing.

With the head beaten beyond recognition, the body of Mata was found last Thursday morning in an irrigation ditch near Arcadia. Robbery and the cancellation of an asserted produce bill owed by Nokano to Mata was the motive for the killing, according to Deputy Sheriffs Cloud and Atres.

Today's Bible Text

Behold, what manner of love the Father hath bestowed upon us, that we should be called the sons of God; therefore the world knoweth us not, because it knew Him not.—I John iii:1.

COMIC-OPERA COURTS

England will have the Indian potentates on her side just so long as she lets them continue to wear the robes of office that have furnished such colorful settings for stage productions in this country.

ANNOUNCERS

The income of announcers is said to be hardly worth mentioning. But when Graham McNamee announces a commercial program, he gets $250 in addition to his salary. It may not be worth mentioning; but it appears to be worth broadcasting.

SURPRISED PARTIES

Mrs. Chance-Sherwood of Los Angeles arrived in Hartford, Ct., to surprise her sister, Mrs. John H. Cassens. On the same day Mrs. Cassens of Hartford arrived in Los Angeles to surprise Mrs. Sherwood. As a surprise, it was a great success all around.

OUT OF THE TAMBOURINE

Salvation Army holds property in England and America valued at $30,000,000. Sounds like big business, but this is one case where frugality and humble service to humanity, as against heroic commercial methods, have builded a fortune for unselfish purposes.

JUST WHEN NEEDED

The New York Times quotes the Archbishop of Canterbury as saying that "the great and growing change in the customs of married life throughout this world is the main factor in causing a general decline by 50 per cent of the world's birth rate." In these days o' world-wide unemployment the usual calamity howl, following such a statement, is missing.

ADDING ANGELS

In delineating national characteristics, an English journalist says: One German is a philosopher; two are an argument; three, a political party. One Frenchman is a "causeur;" two, a "liaison;" three, a marriage. One Swede is a Scandinavian; two, a Polar expedition; three, a mass institute. Applied to local conditions, one citizen of Los Angeles is a promoter; two, a new subdivision; three, a new city. One Hollywoodite is a star; two, a constellation; three, doing time in Reno.

RELATIVITY

The Providence Journal, commenting on the Rhode Island drought, remarks that its rainfall deficiency had been 9.41 inches, but that "yesterday's brisk showers brought the figures to somewhere between six and seven inches." That in one part of the continent rainfall of two and a half to three inches in one day is called a brisk shower and in another one-tenth of an inch is respectfully referred to as "precipitation of the storm" is something for Einstein to work on when he comes to Pasadena.

ROGERS ON THRIFT

Will Rogers usually writes with his tongue in his cheek and his advice to everybody not to spend money just now is probably not meant quite seriously. Just imagine, for example, what would become of Will and that string of polo ponies if he were taken literally! It would be a genuine misfortune to head this genial philosopher back toward the range.

What Will is really tangled up in this time is not his lariat, but the definition of thrift. He is right in declaring thrift a virtue, but thrift and not spending money are two different things. The latter may be merely miserliness. Thrift is the wise use of money; it may mean saving at one time and spending at another. At the present time it means spending, since a bigger dollar's worth is obtainable for a dollar now than in years.

Trying to buy at the bottom and sell at the top is the mark of the amateur speculator; the seasoned operator buys and sells when the price suits him and does not worry about might-have-beens. The genuinely thrifty, likewise, know when they have a bargain and are satisfied with it; they do not wait too long, knowing that if they do the bargain may escape.

LOWER GAS RATES

Assuming that the lowered rates ordered by the State Railroad Commission for gas furnished by the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation go into effect, another item in the Southern California cost of living will be lowered materially. Such reductions are always welcome to the consumer, though wise consumers realize that reductions made at the cost of good service or which cripple the serving company are not good for anybody. Four of the five commissioners are of the opinion that this reduction is justified on all grounds, Commissioner DeCoto dissenting.

The commission also decided at the same time that the experimental reduction in electric rates of the same corporation, made last year, shall be permanent. This reduction effected a saving of $750,000 a year for electric consumers of the company, and a larger amount for the city as a whole since the reduction was met by the municipal system.

The gas reduction is expected to amount to $1,350,000 a year, and if it goes into effect and is met by other companies supplying gas, as such reductions customarily are, there will be a material benefit to all consumers.

The company is given the option of accepting a 7 per cent cut instead of a 9 per cent cut, if it will use the difference to set up a "temperature reserve" to protect its service and its earnings against the effect of fluctuations in gas use. Whether the company will exercise its option, or whether it will seek court decisions on the valuation clauses of the commission's decision, has not been announced. The company indicates it will study the decision carefully before reaching a conclusion as to these matters. The commission has used the "historical" method of valuation rather than the "present worth" method, and the latter has been favored by the United States Supreme Court in several rate cases that have come before it.

The "historical" or "prudent investment" valuation formula is advantageous to consumers in a rising market and to the utility in a falling market, while the opposite is the case with the "present worth" method. It has been pointed out that in the course of years, the result will be about the same whichever method is adopted, although at any particular time the method makes a difference. The "historical" method is undoubtedly easier to apply, cost being simpler to ascertain than value. The commission's majority holds that the difference between the two valuation methods at the present time is only about $5,000,000, but this is sharply challenged by Commissioner DeCoto and is contrary to the company's contentions at the hearing.

One point is made, somewhat academically, in the majority opinion which undoubtedly is true; that the earning power of capital in general has been lessened materially in the past year. This may content the company with a lower rate of return than California practice has heretofore allowed.

Rate reductions are not all net gain to consumers, of course, since they automatically reduce the State taxes paid by the utilities and the consumer in his capacity as taxpayer must make up the difference. This is not a large item to any individual and it would be a rare case in which the increase of taxes offset the saving through rate reduction.

A MISINTERPRETATION

The Chicago Tribune expresses a desire for information as to whether the refusal of Los Angeles voters to approve a bond issue of $2,000,000 for rights of way for a transmission line to Boulder Dam means that this city declines to build the line. But not waiting for its question to be answered, the Tribune assumes that the affirmative is true and comments: "This is in line with the usual California practice. Los Angeles no doubt expects to have the Federal government build the line and for our part we shall be astonished if Los Angeles is put to any expense whatever in the matter. . . . As to the $2,000,000 which Los Angeles has refused to pay is only about 1 per cent of the cost of the dam, the additional charge against the Federal treasury will be made to appear negligible to Congressmen from other sections."

For the Tribune's benefit it may be said that Los Angeles has not declined to build the line, but on the contrary expects and intends to build the line, unless a possibly more satisfactory and economical arrangement can be made between the city and the Southern California Edison Company for construction of a joint line, and that in either case the Federal government will be put to no outlay in the matter. The $2,000,000 item was rejected by the voters as part of a $13,300,000 local project, most of which was properly regarded as indefensible; and the $2,000,000 itself was not regarded as timely.

There was no object in providing now for a transmission line which has not yet been located, which cannot and need not be built for years, and which may possibly not be built at all. There is no absolute certainty that the legal and engineering problems connected with Boulder Dam will be solved. When the dam and the power houses are nearing completion is plenty of time to get transmission lines under way, and to start them now would be a foolish waste of money.

All the vote means is that the voters detected an effort on the part of the politically minded Los Angeles Power Bureau to put something over, using the popularity of the Boulder Dam project as bait.

WHY SOCIAL STANDING?

Immediately preceding an election for president in a local woman's club, which lays claim to literary aims and ideals, a certain faction objected to a name proposed for office on the ground that the woman had no "social standing." Would it not be advisable for these would-be writers to inquire into the social standing of some of the great literary geniuses of all ages and countries?

NOISES

If the ordinance against unnecessary noises be passed and enforced, this will be a long, hard winter for after-dinner speakers.

ALL the world has its daily-cold-bath braggarts. Southern California alone has its all-year-sleeping-porch boasters. The grandsons and grand-daughters of the men who used to sleep out on the ranges and the trails now sleep out on the porches and seem to think they are hardy pioneers when they tell about it. Like the daily cold bath, it is something to tell about, to modestly reveal; a badge of courage, a shoulder strap of superior rank in the field of hardihood.

You can find all kinds of houses in Los Angeles—old Spanish, new Spanish, futuristic Spanish. Many countries have thrown off the yoke of Spain, and yet remain inherently Spanish, but mere architecture has done the trick. We pointed out once before that the most notable "Spanish village" on this coast is the consummated dream of a man with the fine old Spanish name of Ole Hanson and many of our Spanish houses were designed by men with such names as O'Leary and Slavinski. We also have Norman chateaux, Rhineland castles, Queen Anne cottages, English manor houses and American colonial houses galore. But it would be hard to find any recently built house of any style which has not a sleeping porch or two or three. For above all others this is the land of the sleeping porch. And in nearly every household there is some one who sleeps "outdoors" all the year and likes to admit it.

Indoor Sleeping Porches

The improved California sleeping porch, however, is not quite the outdoorsy thing it sounds. It has windows all around it, which can be closed to make it about as tight a room as one could wish. There are some sleeping porches which have steam heat in them and quite a few have fireplaces. There are mighty few balconies here from which Juliet could lean, because the screen wire would stop her and if Romeo should climb up to one to converse with his lady love he probably would come down with a nice smudge of wire rust across his nose. If the night were chill, not only wire, but closed windows, would confront him.

But most of those who sleep in sleeping porches seem to labor under the delusion that they have no blanket but the stars, and wind and rain and even snow, sometimes, come right in and make themselves at home with them.

Sleeping Porches, But Sleepless Folk

Two of our four boys sleep on a porch which is open to the weather on one side and has only lowered awnings on the two ends. But they are little chaps who can sleep through anything. The radios of neighbors, the honking and upstarting of cars, the loudly called good-nights of people who seem to think it their duty to let the whole neighborhood know they are leaving at only 12 o'clock and the love songs and wars of cats do not disturb them. They have never learned what nerves are and have no consciences to trouble them. We know they have no consciences, because of the way the little rascals swipe cookies. They go to sleep early and let nothing disturb them, so that they will be ready to spring out of bed and wake all the rest of us up at 5:30 or 6 or three-quarters of an hour before we want to be waked, whatever the season.

But we confess we could not trade places with them successfully. We wouldn't sleep much if we didn't sleep in a place in which we could shut out some of the noises of the world and shut some of our own in. We fear that if we tried to sleep on a porch we would succeed about as our friend, Fred Schwartz, did. Some one presented Fred with a handsome clock, which he hung in his bedroom without knowing it was a cuckoo clock. He was just getting away to a lovely dream when suddenly there was a whirring and a popping out, and "Cuckoo! Cuckoo! Cuckoo!" smote his ears. He got to sleep again, finally, just in time to be cuckooed awake again, and when he appeared at the breakfast table next morning he was a sorry spectacle. "How did you sleep, Fred?" he was asked. "Oh," yawned Fred, "by the hour."

We know we'd get cuckoo if we had to sleep where every nocturnal and matutinal sound would fall on our too-too sensitive ears. We much prefer not to know when the milkman comes. That is his secret and we have no desire to pry into his affairs. We do not care to know what the young man says to the charming young lady next door in those lingering farewells. We were young once ourself and are glad it was before the day of the ubiquitous sleeping porch. We do not even care to listen in while the neighbor who has to start out at 5 a.m. warms up his engine. And somehow—even though we have lived in Southern California for eight years—we cannot get used to walking about in public in our pajamas.

Night School in the Home

The fact is, in this day of radios, late motor rides, hearty leave-takings after the bridge party (to show there are no hard feelings,) early milkman, cats, dogs and roosters, we think "sleeping porch" is a misnomer. The only sound sleepers in them are the joists. Any time we want to sleep less than we are sleeping now we shall seek one out, sure that it will cure us of the sleep habit. We shall become a cat-napper, and shall learn a great deal more than we know now of the popular dance tunes, the habits of cats and the rest of the night life of our neighborhood. But at present we are such an uninquisitive fellow that we would rather sleep than enjoy all those things.

For all that, we must say sleeping porches are a great invention. Our little John and Frank seem to thrive in their wall-less [illegible]. And we never could afford a house big enough for all our tribe if it weren't customary and almost obligatory for every loyal Southern California family to have at least one member "sleeping out," to prove what an unrivaled climate we have.

THE FILM TRUST CASES

The Supreme Court by unanimous decision holds that film distribution methods, the uniform contract which has been imposed upon exhibitors, and the credit clauses of the contracts, are all violations of the Sherman law and must be changed to permit free competition. To what extent this will affect the film industry remains to be seen. If exhibitors succeed in obtaining large judgments in suits that result from the finding of the court, some of the companies undoubtedly will be hard hit.

The court refused to consider whether or not the restrictions were beneficial to the film industry, the exhibitors and in the long run the public, or not. The law, Justice McReynolds pointed out, sets up rules which must be followed without regard to their effect.

That the contracts brought about a stability not otherwise obtainable is thus held to be beside the point. If the industry finds itself unable to make a satisfactory adjustment to the law as it stands, an appeal for relief must be addressed to Congress, and not to the court. This, to the layman, seems somewhat at variance with the court's pronouncement of a few years ago that the Sherman law must be interpreted in the light of reason.

The film industry will, of course, survive; it has weathered worse storms than this. But it is compelled to remold its marketing practices at a time when it has seemed to have plenty of other troubles. This probably is unfortunate, though it cannot be helped. The Supreme Court has the last word in such matters!

HOME TO ROOST

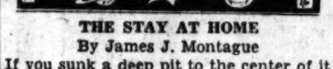
The British Isles gave fundamental golf to America. But Uncle Sam is evening things up by sending peewee golf back to John Bull. Guards have to be stationed at Charing Cross tube station to warn peewee players of the departure of trains. Thus do chickens and other birds come home to roost.

MODERN MAGAZINES

Some of the great chain stores are now publishing their own magazines for sole distribution through their business. Literature is retailed like pins and buttons. Five-and-ten ideas can now be bought at their actual worth.

GANGSTERS

If all the gangsters in Los Angeles "were stretched end to end, it would not be any too soon."



THE STAY AT HOME
By James J. Montague

If you sunk a deep pit to the center of it
(Which no one has ever yet tried)
You would find, I am told, that though outwardly cold
The earth is caloric inside.
But though science may learn molten stone to discern
In the core of this fast-spinning sphere,
I am calmly content that my life will be spent
In a nonscientific career.
For as through this existence I placidly go
There are several things that I don't want to know.
If you built a balloon, which could sail to the moon
Through the wide, airless reaches of space,
You would learn, I'm informed, that the orb isn't warmed
And no creature could live on its face.
But though science may hope through the ether to grope
Upon this mad perilous quest,
I am wholly content if my life must be spent
On this planet's far kindlier breast.
Whatever the lunar conditions may be
Is not of the slightest importance to me.
The people on Mars may have high-powered cars
In which to go dashing about,
They may sail with their gals on their shining canals
Or fish them for sturgeon or trout.
But whatever they do, as wide space they fly through,
Or if there are folks there or not
Filled with sorrows or mirth like the sons of the earth,
To me does not matter a jot.
I care not through measureless spaces to see,
When this world of our own is a puzzle to me.

KILLING THE FOREST CHILDREN

BY WILLIAM HAMILTON CLINE

The annual slaughter of the tiny children of the forests will soon begin—the harvest of little green growing trees, to be set up in many homes, not to speak of the marts of trade, at Christmas time in memory of another Child Who Himself grew up to be nailed upon a slaughtered tree to meet His death in agony thereon.

Through the city streets shortly we shall see wagonloads of these diminutive pines, uprooted from the mountains that so sorely need their coverage, making their way to some vacant lot, where these corpses of once growing living beauty and use will be sold for a pitiful price to thoughtless humans. They will later be hung with lights bedecked and bedizened with tinsel and gauds, and from them will be distributed gifts in symbolic memory of the Greatest Gift ever made to mankind.

But who will waste a thought on the little trees themselves, cut down, in their babyhood, their many years of future usefulness abruptly ended by the ax, their real purpose in life denied them ere they have scarcely started? And what may we do about it, that this most needless ravishment of our very necessary forests be curbed and kept within decent bounds, if not stopped altogether?

They tell us, these marauders of the green wold, that no real damage is done when these trees are trimmed out; that many of them would die anyhow, in the struggle for existence; that fires would sweep the hills and destroy them in regiments; that the joys and ideals of human childhood make the murder of these slender verdant saplings worth while.

Perhaps. Yet we also know that death's hand will be laid upon human infants in myriads, but do we, even though they be weaklings, accelerate their passing because of this fact? Why, then, exterminate these trees? Is that an excuse valid?

And who selects the growths doomed inevitably by nature; who culls out the particular ones that will not survive? Isn't the cutting done indiscriminately, wherever most convenient to the woodsman, without regard to future chances or obvious present necessity? Does he not, further, select the sturdiest and best-grown of these little trees because they will sell better?

No land demands growing trees more than does ours; none is so prodigal in destroying its forests; none suffers greater from their loss. Our denuded mountains cry out in anguish as fires sweep them and the later rains wash away acres upon acres of soil which would be protected if the woods were left untouched. Why must the ruthless hand of man add to the destructive forces of conflagration which he is so futile in controlling? Cannot we more fittingly commemorate our Christmas by preserving, rather than by pre-empting, our God-given trees which we need so greatly and that grow so sparingly and so slowly?

Also—couldn't we so train our boys and girls, who now do their best toward conservation by sowing seed upon our blackened uplands that new growth may be induced—couldn't we train and inspire in them a revulsion of feeling against this Christmas slaughter which would make it unprofitable—and thus abruptly to cease? For if none bought these murdered trees, none would be cut, remember.

This does not mean no Christmas trees for our children. The use of living trees for Christmas decoration, rather than dead ones, is spreading rapidly. More than 50,000 such trees glowed and gleamed last year in a beauty unapproachable — and are still living and vigorous for similar use this Yuletide. It is to be hoped that very many more will be similarly available this winter and will thus be left beautifully to remind us throughout the ensuing twelve-month that it is not necessary to slay them in order to enjoy them in this particular manner. We have a Green Cross Society; is not this a work quite to its hand?

And every potted evergreen that we buy and plant after Christmas has gone, is one more tree to embellish our all too barren city, whose steady sunshine makes the shade they might eventuate that much more precious and grateful—a gift not of a single holiday, but for the many years to come. Think of what a beautiful future we might contemplate if we insisted that our only Christmas trees be vital ones, thereafter to be replanted in Mother Earth as an unending delight!

But it will not be so—not yet. The extermination is already at hand. Soon, many vacant city lots will become temporary forests, rapidly diminished as the trees are sold. And, the day after Christmas, we shall see funeral pyres on every street as the discarded trees, plus the unwanted oversupply, induced by unregulated, frenzied competition, are given to the flames for riddance.

Myriads of little growing children of the forest, thrown into bedraggled heaps, to which a torch is set—the annual, senseless, criminal suttee of the woods. The pity of it—the double pity, in this, our so treeless land!

Who'll Enforce 'Em?

At One Hundred and Seventy-eighth and One Hundred and Seventy-ninth streets, four city blocks have been cleared for the roadway, which will lead to the bridge 250 feet above the river and will have eight traffic laws.—[Buffalo Evening News.

By All Means, Do It

GLENDALE, Nov. 23.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Thanks for your double-column editorial, "A Problem for Civilization."

When something difficult or unpleasant needs doing, how easy it is to shift responsibility, by saying, "Let George do it."

Something surely needs to be done, and speedily, in order to relieve the sufferers from so-called overproduction and the greater sufferers from undersupply. And who is so able for this task, as the nation whose first great leader, and burden bearer and President was George —George Washington — and whose present great leader is Herbert Hoover, the President who would rather feed all the hungry children in the world than do anything else.

Yes, let George do it, through his national descendants, We, Us and Company.

MRS. R. F. McKAY.

Helpless "J" Riders

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 21.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Our street-car service on the "J" line is just abominable. I wish MacAllister would lay on that company a little more heavily and that little Martin that misrepresents us would take time from playing with his little chums on auto trips to attend to the needs of his constituents. The other day I had to wait twenty minutes for a car at McClintock and Jefferson and when I did squeeze in there was hardly standing room. At no time of the day have we sufficient cars on this line. The way our cars are crowded is a shame. We ought at least to have twin cars most of the time. Were we not promised better service when the fare was raised to 7 cents? Where, oh, where is the service? Then the cars are a disgrace to the company. Once in a dog's age we see a green car such as we ought to have all the time on this "J" line, but I suppose we will just have to endure and listen to promises and excuses.

I see from The Times the other day that this company, seeing there were too many cars now running and in order to have the dear people stand closer together, have taken off 100 cars. Well, I say, let us take them off altogether and return to the jitneys. We had far better service then and lower fares. I hope some dear man will get up an initiative petition to revoke the old ordinance and let us have the jitneys back. He will speedily get the signatures of hundreds and among them that of ANNA HUNT.

More Efficient Laws

TAFT, Nov. 19.—[To the Editor of The Times:] It seems to me entirely fitting and proper that the best newspaper should throw its vast influence and resources toward a more efficient set of criminal laws. The present ones are inadequate, as your recent articles prove.

Everyone knows this—we hear it on every side, except the shyster lawyer.

The people need only a leader such as the Los Angeles Times.

Yours for a revision of the criminal code and speedy justice.

JOHN W. POWELL.

The Whole Brood of Them

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 22.—[To the Editor of The Times:] You deserve the gratitude of all good citizens of this community for the fight you are waging against crime and criminals. Now that the fetters have been removed from our hired protectors you may well expose the criminals' allies who wear cloaks of respectability. Public wrath would soon destroy the killers if it were not for the "criminal" lawyers, crooked politicians, bail fixers, lenient judges and sob sisters. Let those who protect criminals from swift justice or people also feel the full effect of public scorn.

CLOYD MARSHALL, SR.

Calling a Spade a Spade

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 21.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Your editorial in yesterday's issue of your good paper concerning local affairs was a splendid article and should go far.

This is a step in the direction of the good old days when men called "a spade a spade" and meant it.

Of Interest to Women

Society

by JUANA NEAL LEVY

One of the lovely affairs of the week was the reception and tea given yesterday afternoon at the Midwick Country Clubhouse with which Mrs. Erwin S. Armstrong entertained honoring her charming young daughter, Miss Katherine Armstrong, the occasion serving formally to present the young debutante to he rparents' friends. The clubhouse, a garden of chrysanthemums in the yellow and bronze shades with foliage, carried out the autumn motif.

Mrs. Armstrong received her guests in a frock of golden brown lace while the lovely debutante was in white chiffon and carried white orchids.

Several hundred invitations were issued and the hours were from 4 to 6 o'clock.

Assisting the hostess were her mother and sister, Mrs. Jackson A. Graves and Mrs. Hugh Ford Stewart, and Mmes. Henry W. O'Melveny, Ernest Albert Bryant, Joseph Brent Banning, James J. Mellus, Frank W. King, Avery McCarthy, Jefferson Paul Chandler, Harold Brent Wrenn, Orange J. Salisbury, Norbert Murray, Jacob Murray, Nathaniel W. Myrick, Allen Black, James R. Brehm, Sydney Irving Wailes, Lawrence Booth, Karl Klokke, A. L. Schwarz, Henry Carleton Lee, Kingsley Macomber, Francis Graves, John Tomlinson Griffith, Dorothy B. Hill, Alfred Wright, John G. Mott, Stuart O'Melveny, Roland Johnston, Archibald C. Macleish, Charles Herman, Munsell Eberle, Charles Caldwell Bull, Alfred John Murietta, Richard H. Lacy, Richard Jewett Schweppe, James Rathwell Page, Donald O'Melveny, William L. Valentine, Henry Norman Jenson, Matthew W. Allen, Donald McGilvray, Mary Banning Norris, Artemus Dwight Lamb, Joseph H. Nixon and the Misses Alice Jewett, Edith Shankland, Katherine Mellus, Natika Wrenn, Eleanor Salisbury, Cornelia Fairbanks, Betty Emery, Margaret Huntington, Dorothy Bauer, Eleanor Lacy, Constance Lacy, Margaret Griffith, Mary Peace, Katherine Seaver, Maria Bonzi and Anne Patton.

Miss Armstrong one of the most popular members of the younger set in Pasadena and Los Angeles is the grand-daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jackson A. Graves of Alhambra and is a prominent young provisional member of the Pasadena Junior League.

Betrothal Announced

Mr. and Mrs. William Frederick Ray of Plymouth Boulevard are announcing the engagement of their attractive young daughter, Miss Bernice Ray, to George Melendez Wright, son of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Wright of Salvador and San Francisco, the news being told at a beautifully appointed dinner-dance in San Francisco following the Stanford-California football game in the north.

Miss Ray and her younger sister, Miss Matilda Ray, went north for the game and will visit in San Francisco for several weeks.

The bride-elect is a popular member of the Spinsters' Club and the Los Angeles Junior League. She was graduated from Marlborough School several years ago and later from University of California at Berkeley where she is affiliated with Delta Gamma Sorority.

Her fiance also graduated from the northern university and is a member of Delta Upsilon Fraternity.

No date is set as yet for the wedding, which, however, will probably be a brilliant event of the early spring.

Smart Affair

Mrs. Joseph Zoellner, Jr., will be the attractive hostess this evening at the Thanksgiving Eve musicale at Hollywood Plaza, for which Gabriel Ravenelle has arranged a delightful program featuring Henri Tardiff, Robert Harthun and Misses Florence Rubin, Betty Darnell and Ruth Morris Fisher with Joseph Zoellner, Jr., as accompanist.

Honorees at Dance

Pledge members and new initiates of Alpha Gamma Delta Sorority at the University of Southern California were honored at a dance given by the active chapter on Saturday night, the 15th inst., at the Delta Alpha chapter house, 668 West Twenty-eighth street. Fall flowers, leis, and balloons created a festive atmosphere and emphasized the Hawaiian motif. Dr. and Mrs. H. W. Hill and Mrs. M. W. Heinzman were patrons.

New initiates of Alpha Gamma Delta, who shared honors with the pledges were Misses Lenore Elmore, Florence Maxon, Dorothy Roe, Virginia Johnson and Sonia Turney. The pledge members are Misses Margaret Shonk, May Kroeger, Doris Anderson, Marjorie Clark, Alice Brahasky and Margaret Howard.

Benefit for Cottage

Concerted effort of a number of distinguished women of the Southland brought to a successful conclusion an affair for the benefit for the Mexican Maternity Cottage in Belvedere Gardens, which was given the 15th inst. in the ballroom of the Town House.

Patronesses of the affair were Mmes. G. Allan Hancock, E. L. Doheny, Jr., G. De Lamo, J. M. Schneider, Serena De Koch, John G. Mott, Enrique De La Vega, Eugene O. McLaughlan and J. C. Guinn; Miss Thadeus UpdeGraf and Miss Serenit De Koch.

Miss Olson Feted

Honoring Miss Mildred Olson, whose wedding with Frank Gillelen, Jr., will take place Wednesday, Miss Ruth Bumpas, 4484 Monteagle Place, entertained with a bridge party and dance Saturday evening, the 15th inst.

Among the entertainment features were fortune-telling, a violin solo by Miss Jane Layton, and two saxophone duet numbers by Miss Virginia Dunann and Henry Mallmann, accompanied at the piano by Miss Beverly Blake.

Decorations and refreshments reflected the green and silver colors of Kappa Delta Sorority, and the guest list included the active members of the sorority and their escorts, including Misses Mildred Olson, Aileen Perriguey, Jane Layton, Lucile Ingersoll, Virginia Dunann, Marie Seybold, Esther Scott, Dorothy Manley, Josephine Kelly, Margaret Pollock, Evelyn Keister, Ramona Wall, Dorothy Foust, Marianne Howell, Dorothy Rockwood, Beverly Blake, Elaine Beach, Mary Ann Malmgrem, Catherine Silver, Norma Young; Mrs. Raymond Lauderbaugh, Messrs. Raymond Lauderbaugh, Frank Gillelen, Jr., Frank Carson, Vernis Clark, Leroy Houghton, Henry Mallmann, Myron Reed, Ralph Hagan, Howard Rettberg, John Shidler, Laurence Pike, "Chuck" Price, Loren Seaver, Bruce Woodard, Louis Frederick, Harold Wilder, Howard Lindow, William Moore, Frank Silver, Wayne Kurtz and Andrew Dean.

Formal Dinner Dance

An attractive affair of recent date was the formal dinner-dance given by Xi chapter of Phi Lambda Epsilon at the Montmartre. Dainty corsages of roses, lilies of the valley and violets marked the places for the feminine guests. Those bidden were, Miss Kay Hance, Miss Mamie Gatlin, Miss Helen Radcliffe, Miss Mary Campbell, Miss Lucille McKinnon, Miss Peggy Kolb, Miss Marjorie Kraft, Miss Patricia Duell, Miss La Vern Fuller, Miss Frances Shay, Jack Lennon, Jack Sterling, Frank Wire, Arthur Dunn, Joe Gallagher, John Speirs, Benny Hogan, Jack Nelson, Bud Ellison, Bartlett Christenson and Raymond Speirs.

ENGAGEMENT BEING ANNOUNCED

Wedding to Be Event of Early Spring

[Daniel Sheehan studios]
Miss Bernice Ray

ONE of the interesting announcements to society of the Southland as well as in the north is being made by Mr. and Mrs. William Frederick Ray of 204 South Plymouth Boulevard of the engagement of their elder daughter, Miss Bernice Ray, to George Melendez Wright, son of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Wright of San Salvador and San Francisco. No date has been set as yet for the wedding, which however, will be an event of the early spring.

Miss Ray and her sister, Miss Matilda Jane Ray, went north for the Stanford-California football game and are visiting for several weeks with friends in San Francisco.

WHEN THE SANDMAN COMES

by THORNTON W. BURGESS

THE HEEDLESSNESS OF YOUTH

Heedless is the youthful mind,
'Tis universal you will find.
—Old Mother Nature.

The young Muskrats didn't intend to be disrespectful to their father, Jerry Muskrat, when between themselves they made fun of his warning about traps. They were just like most other young people who have not yet learned their lessons from the greatest of all teachers—experience. Never having seen a trap they couldn't believe that it could possibly be as bad as Jerry had said it was. Never having been frightened by Farmer Brown's Boy, who was the one two-legged creature aside from the bird folk with whom they were really familiar, they judged others of the same kind by him. So when their father was disturbed by the appearance of another boy they were not at all afraid and thought Jerry foolish.

"All this talk about traps sounds scary, but I won't be scared," said one young Muskrat. "When some one of us finds a trap it will be time enough to worry."

"But," said a timid one, "suppose that trap catches one of us first?"

"I guess that if there are any traps around here we will know it in time," declared another. "I would hate to feel that every time I want to sit on my favorite log I must first look all about it for a trap. I've sat there ever since I can remember and there never has been a trap there yet."

"There has to be a first time for everything," ventured the timid one.

"And there is trouble enough in this world without borrowing more," declared another, who thought himself very wise and smart.

"I guess if one of those traps should catch me I would find some way of getting away from it. I'm not afraid of the old trap!" boasted another.

"There is no sense in worrying over a thing that never has happened and may never happen," said the first one. "Any one not smart enough to keep out of a trap deserves to be caught."

Then these heedless young Muskrats quite forgot all about the subject. They continued to play about as they always had done. Not even when they saw the strange boy about did they get suspicious. As is apt to be the way with young people they felt quite equal to looking out for themselves. Never having had experience they scorned the value of experience.

Meanwhile Jerry Muskrat continued to be anxious and suspicious.

Meanwhile Jerry Muskrat continued to be anxious and suspicious. He was not anxious for himself or about Mrs. Jerry. He knew enough about traps to keep out of them and in this matter Mrs. Jerry was quite as wise as was he. It was about the children that he worried. As yet he hadn't been able to find a single trap, but that didn't ease his mind any. He had a feeling that though there might not be any traps then there would be later. That strange boy acted like a trapper. Yes, sir, he did so. Jerry had in the past had enough experience with trappers to recognize the signs. Jerry could tell when a trapper was looking the ground over, planning to set his traps.

"If this isn't what that boy is doing may I lose my tail," said Jerry, but he said it to himself. You see he knew how heedless were those children of his. He knew how they grinned at him behind his back.

As for those same children, they came and went heedlessly and happily without a real care in the world. Life was good and they meant to enjoy it. They did enjoy it. They had no thought for anything but to eat and play and be happy. Jerry watched them and wondered if ever he had been so carefree and heedless.

Health and Diet Advice

CONVULSIONS OF CHILDREN

It is not unusual for children to undergo severe convulsions which cause the mother the greatest alarm. The child's head may be drawn sharply back, the eyes rolled up, the body stiffened, the hands twitching and the teeth grinding. This group of symptoms makes a terrible picture but, fortunately, these fits or convulsions are not generally as serious as they appear and usually leave no permanent after effects.

One of the most common causes of convulsions in an infant or a child is overeating or indigestion, especially if the stomach is filled with gas. Other causes are colic, teething, rickets, tonsil trouble, anemia, epilepsy and a rundown condition due to food not agreeing with the child. Measles, scarlet fever, pneumonia and smallpox may begin with a convulsion and fever in a child, when the same disease in a grown person would begin with a chill.

Any accident which brings on a severe nervous shock may produce one of these temporary convulsions. The convulsions greatly resemble epilepsy, but these ordinary fits do not come back at regular intervals as do those of epileptic seizures.

One of the first things you should do when your child has a convulsion is to immerse the child in hot water, but be careful that it is not hot enough to burn the child. Put him in as soon as possible and keep him in till he begins to perspire. If he is feverish, you should keep the head cool by applying towels wrung out in cold water. Watch the child carefully to see that he does not draw his head under the water. When the sweating begins, remove the child from the tub and wrap in a sheet and place him in bed with a flannel blanket over him so that sweating will continue. Usually the child will fall into a deep sleep and perspire profusely, in this way discharging the toxins responsible for the convulsion. Allow the child to awaken himself and give him a quick cold shower and dry vigorously, wrap well and finish the treatment with one or two enemas of warm water to cleanse out the bowels.

The following day give no food but fruit juice, but give him plenty of water to drink. After this the mother must be careful about the child's food, especially in using the right combinations.

The enema is very useful if taken every day for at least a week after a convulsion. The spasms do not usually occur when the bowels are kept open.

It is a good plan to have the doctor examine the child to find out the cause of the trouble. If some disease condition has produced a convulsion, then it must be overcome. If the convulsion is caused by errors in the feeding, which is often the case, the mother should find the mistakes and correct them.

CHEF WYMAN'S RECIPES

Every Friday at 2 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will conduct a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

CINNAMON APPLES

Six apples, one and one-half cupfuls of sugar, one cupful of water, two tablespoonfuls of cinnamon drops, wash and peel the apples and core them almost through. Place the sugar and water in a saucepan and allow it to boil for one minute, then add the cinnamon drops. Place the apples in a baking dish and pour over them the syrup. Place the apples in a moderate oven and baste them several times while baking with the syrup in the pan.

ROAST GOOSE

For the goose choose a young one, breast should be plump, the skin white and the feet pliable and yellow. Draw, and wipe out the inside with a damp cloth, cut open the gizzard, remove the inside, and wash well, place the liver in salt water, cut off the top of the heart, cut open the side and press out all the blood. For the dressing, peel, core and quarter six small apples and cook them in just a very little water, until about half cooked, add to the apples a half a cupful of chopped seeded raisins, one cupful of bread crumbs, one cupful of cold cooked rice, one teaspoonful of poultry seasoning and a seasoning of salt and white pepper. Mix well and stuff the goose; sew it up and place it in a roasting pan, add to the pan one sliced onion, a chopped carrot and a bay leaf, cover the pan tightly and when the goose has browned on one side turn it over. Prick the skin often to let out the fat, roast until the meat on the breast and legs feels tender. Skim off the fat in the pan and stir in one cupful of hot water and two tablespoonfuls of flour. Cook until smooth, strain into a sauce dish and serve with stewed highly spiced apple sauce.

CHEESE PUMPKIN SALAD

Mash one-half a pound of soft yellow cheese, to a cream, add the yolk of one well-beaten egg, one-half a teaspoonful of salt and a fourth of a teaspoonful of paprika, shape the mixture into small pumpkins, making grooves in them with a toothpick. Place a small piece of parsley in the top to resemble a stem, place on a bed of shredded lettuce, one slice of pineapple, arrange on the pineapple thin strips of pimientos, to resemble the spokes of a wheel, place one of the cheese pumpkins in the center and serve with mayonnaise.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Partitioned

How often have you watched a housewife frantically going through the dresser drawer in search of a spoon or fork while smoke arises from the article being cooked? This would be avoided if the drawer for kitchen cutlery were partitioned and the various utensils sorted and kept in their places.

Another Situation Saved

Have you ever made the filling for croquettes too soft to mold nicely and you had to use it for hash? Next time moisten one teaspoonful of gelatine with cold water and dissolve in a little hot water. Add this to the croquette mixture and place it in the refrigerator. It will thicken it enough to mold nicely.

How to Do It

Use a smaller flame under aluminum than under iron.

Equal parts of ammonia and turpentine will remove indelible ink marks.

Cover egg yolks with cold water and they will keep for several days.

A little vinegar in the rinsing water will keep black stockings a good color.

Turn the small rugs frequently so the wear will not always be in the same place.

The melted wax on the side of good candles may be removed by dipping in hot water.

On the Stairs

Don't form the habit of placing things to go upstairs on the last few treads of the flight. Some one coming down stairs might not see them and have a very nasty fall

"Infinite Shoeblack" Unique in Plot Evolvement

Stage Piece by MacOwen Study of Idealism

Murray Rinnell Does Fine Character Portrayal

(Reprinted from Tuesday's late edition.)
BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

A penetrating thought—at least—"The Infinite Shoeblack" divulges!

This is the second play offered for the Civic Repertory Theater season. It is by the English actor and writer, Norman MacOwan, and offers in leading roles Olive Meehan and Murray Kinnell. It is being given at the Hollywood Music Box.

Sans the brilliance of a George Bernard Shaw (and one could hardly anticipate that) "The Infinite Bootblack" is efficaciously a contrast in the work of the organization which is presenting it. A vivid event, too, as concerns the interpretation of Mr. Kinnell in what may be inferentially called the title role. One might even say a shining event were not the word "shoeblack" so imminent.

However, the MacOwan play has really naught to do with footwear. The title and the theme of the play are inspired, instead, by a quotation from Thomas Carlyle's classic "Sartor Resartus," which reads as follows:

"Man's unhappiness, as I construe, comes from his greatness! It is because there is an Infinite in him, which, with all his cunning, he cannot quite bury under the Finite. Will the whole Finance Ministers and Upholsterers and Confectioners of modern Europe undertake a joint stock company to make one shoeblack happy? They cannot accomplish it, above an hour or two; for the Shoeblack also has a Soul quite other than his stomach."

Out of this idea, more or less pertinently, has been woven a curious overcast study of two lives that ends on the minor note of tragedy. A man's sacrifice in the beginning of the play, his dogged devotion to an ideal, his enforcing of that ideal upon a woman, lead to the final pathetic culmination. Where you expect the conventional outcome of a regeneration there is only a stark specter of death.

The man is a Puritan; the woman is fatefully a courtesan. He shelters her first during an illness, and learning that the only way she may recover health is through a prolonged rest in the south of Europe, he accepts money to fail in an examination that means his future so that another man may succeed. The sacrifice only serves to make the ideal of the woman persist. He believes her to be inherently spiritual, and so firm is he in the allegiance to this view of her, that during war time when he meets her again he literally forces her to accept his own personal conviction. She marries him and bears him a child. But being a curiously exotic type she cannot seemingly be transplanted into his homely environment. She might rebel, but she has learned of his sacrifice for her, and so she stays on, though it means her death.

Gloomy and hopeless, in a sense, is the philosophy of the play, and, therefore, scarcely a joy for the entertainment seeker. However, the interest in the working out of the idea is amazingly consistent. It would be even more so did the writer not mar it by a too-great stress on certain scenes. There is rare beauty in the play, but here and there a lack of facility in the expression of its purpose.

For all that, "The Infinite Shoeblack" is a unique and poignant impression, and the character of the Scotsman, who is its central figure, is forcefully and convincingly drawn. In the respect to this presentation of a type the play is unquestionably splendid.

I think that the performance of Murray Kinnell will be well remembered as one of the best in Repertory Theater annals. He never steps out of the role of the direct, hard-shelled, determined central personage. The play is motivated chiefly by this character, and the portrayal, both of which achieve a fine reality.

Miss Meehan exerts sympathy in her interpretation of the woman, torn and beaten by the man's relentless moral onslaught. Her portrayal falls short of conviction in portions of the second scene of the second act, which is a rather crucial turning point unfortunately. However, there can be a measure of improvement here with further givings of the play, and certainly in the opening and closing scenes Miss Meehan gives a creditable sincerity to the emotion. Her role, by the way, was played by Helen Menken, whom she slightly resembles, in the East.

Most to note, besides, are Daisy Belmore's excellent characterization of a woman who operates a questionable rooming-house, Olaf Hytten's smooth portrayal of a worldly-wise military officer, the doctor enacted by Boyd Irwin. With the exception of Reginald Sheffield and Margaret McWade, the other members of the cast are hardly on the stage more than momentarily. Colin Campbell, in association with Paul Irving, directed.

Gay Seabrook to Enact Role in 'Bad Man'

Gay Seabrook will make her first appearance behind the footlights in several months when she appears Sunday with Leo Carrillo in "The Bad Man," the comedy of Mexico, which Henry Duffy is presenting for a limited engagement of two weeks at the Hollywood Playhouse.

In the ingenue roles of such productions as "Pigs," "Two Girls Wanted," and "Tommy" Miss Seabrook pleased local audiences for several seasons, after which she toured in the north. Upon her return to Hollywood she became interested in motion-picture work and in addition to playing in several productions has collaborated with Kenneth Gamet in writing a comedy feature purchased by Pathe.

In addition to Miss Seabrook, who plays the role of Angela Hardy in the comedy, Leo Carrillo will be supported by Charlotte Treadway, Gale Gordon, Phillip Morris, George Leffingwell, Frank Perry, Pedro Galvez, Lottie Williams and Wong Ling.

Auspicious Film Debut Presaged

Grace Moore

Who began her singing career in a church choir and subsequently ascended to note as a Metropolitan Opera star, enacts her first cinema role as "Jenny Lind" in the production by that name, which starts tomorrow at the Criterion Theater.

ORPHEUM LISTS PATHE FILM

"Sin Takes a Holiday," starring Constance Bennett, who was last seen in "Common Clay," will have its world premiere at the Orpheum Theater soon, according to announcement made by the management.

Currently showing is "Her Man," the drama of adventure in a notorious resort city, featuring Helen Twelvetrees, Phillips Holmes and Ricardo Cortez. Both productions are from Pathe studios.

With scintillant dialogue and clever situations, "Sin Takes a Holiday" has been booked as an ultra-smart comedy-drama, it is said. Its background is furnished by an exclusive New York society set, and the fashionable resorts of Europe.

Miss Bennett appears as a secretary of a successful young lawyer. He marries her on a verbal contract in order to continue his philandering without fear of being forced into an unwelcome matrimonial alliance.

Leading male roles in support of Miss Bennett are portrayed by Kenneth MacKenna and Basil Rathbone. Other players are Louis Bartels, Rita La Roy and ZaSu Pitts.

"Sin Takes a Holiday" was directed by Paul Stein from the story by Robert Milton and Dorothy Cairns. The dialogue is by Horace Jackson.

Comedy Enters Third Week at United Artists

The third week of "Feet First" starts at the United Artists Theater today. This Harold Lloyd comedy is proving popular.

With the opening of the third week comes the announcement of the booking of two outstanding United Artists' pictures. They are "The Lottery Bride" and David W. Griffith's "Abraham Lincoln."

"The Lottery Bride" is a comedy boasting a fine cast. Outstanding are Jeanette MacDonald, Joe E. Brown, John Garrick, Harry Gribbon and Zasu Pitts.

"Abraham Lincoln"—said to be the "Birth of a Nation" of talking pictures—is another Griffith masterpiece. It reveals the imaginative genius of this great director at the height of its creative power. It is the story of a man; of Lincoln, the dreamer, the lover, the fighter.

Varied Theater Bill Announced

One of the most varied programs yet presented at the Paramount Theater will start tomorrow, with the screening of "Tom Sawyer," starring Jackie Coogan, Mitzi Green and Junior Durkin, and the stage show, "Oh, Baby, Follies."

In addition to the main screen and stage features, an overture, in keeping with the Thanksgiving holidays, will be offered by the Paramount orchestra and a chorus of voices.

Jack Oakie in "Sea Legs" will have final performances today.

ACTRESS PLANNING VAUDEVILLE TOUR

Blanche Sweet

The latest film notable to desert picture work for the vaudeville stage is Blanche Sweet, who shortly starts a forty-week variety contract over the R.-K.-O. circuit.

Although Miss Sweet is known principally for her silent film successes, notably "Anna Christie" and "Tess of the D'Urbervilles," she has played in four talkies. One is "The Silver Horde," now on view at the local R.-K.-O. Theater.

"Whoopee" on Tower Screen

One of the features of the current picture year is at the Tower Theater in "Whoopee," the Samuel Goldwyn-Florenz Ziegfeld musical film, starring Eddie Cantor.

Included in the cast are Eleanor Hunt, Dorothy Knapp, Paul Gregory and Ethel Shutta. Short subjects and a news reel complete the bill.

JOE BROWN SIGNED FOR STAGE PLAY

Henry Duffy Will Present Comedian in Ring Lardner Yarn at El Capitan

Henry Duffy completed one of the most important deals in local theatrical circles this season when he signed Joe E. Brown, popular stage and screen star, to appear in a special holiday attraction at El Capitan Theater, following a run of "Michael and Mary."

"Elmer the Great," one of George M. Cohan's comedy hits, has been selected by Duffy as an ideal vehicle for the comedian. Written by Ring Lardner, Broadway humorist, "Elmer the Great" is said to be cut to measure for Brown, whose popularity on the stage and screen is well known.

Duffy will make announcement of the opening date soon, together with the names of the cast of thirty-five who will support the star.

Banjoist Will Replace Morgan at Loew's State

Fox West Coast Theaters announce the homecoming of Eddie Peabody, banjo-boy and a favorite with local audiences, as the new Loew's State Theater master of ceremonies, starting the week of Thursday, December 4.

Peabody, who returns from a tour of the principal cities throughout the country, will replace Gene Morgan. Morgan begins his second and last week starting tomorrow.

William Haines in "Remote Control," the current Loew's screen offering, will be seen for the last times tonight.

Million Dollar Books 'Laughter'

"Laughter," starring Nancy Carroll and Frederic March, will be the feature film attraction at the Million Dollar Theater, starting tomorrow. The picture is called one of the most intelligent of the year.

Future bookings for the Million Dollar announced by S. M. Lazarus, managing director, are "The Virtuous Sin" and "Derelict." Walter Huston stars in the former, while George Bancroft is the chief player in the latter.

LEE AFTER COLOR

Robert N. Lee, scenarist and playwright, has gone to San Antonio and New Orleans after color for two stories he is writing for the screen.

Mayor Porter said he believed that the water department with its heavy land-purchasing program should have jurisdiction of the land division and felt that the proposed change was a good one. Commissioners Brooks, Johnson and Strassburger voted for the resolution and Commissioner Prior and President Haynes voted against it. The same vote was recorded on a second resolution setting up the financial machinery under the change.

Among other matters voted by the board was the approval of an option to purchase 160 acres of land from Charles F. Jackson, former police captain, for $63,000. The land is to be used for a reservoir site in Bouquet Canyon. There are improvements on the land. The sale is contingent upon favorable findings in drilling for a damsite.

San Pedro Seeks More Funds for Health Service

A request that the City Council appeal to Congress for funds to increase the facilities of the health-service relief station and the immigration station at the harbor was made yesterday by the San Pedro Chamber of Commerce. The matter was referred to the Harbor Committee.

The chamber's plea was based upon a report by the Marine Service Bureau. These Federal agencies have not kept pace with the growth of shipping at the harbor, the Chamber sets forth, and as a result delay and expense ensues.

The Congress, it was stated, will be asked to enlarge the personnel and to appropriate funds for a marine hospital. The present budget of $70,000 for the quarantine station should be enlarged also, the chamber contends.

LASKY BUYS "UP POPS DEVIL"

Noel Francis Will Be Featured in R.-K.-O. Pictures; Dolores Costello Slated to Play Trilby Role; Lloyd Hughes Teamed With June Collyer

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

No sooner does a play make a hit on Broadway these days than up pops some picture company and buys it for picture purposes.

NANCY CARROLL

Now Paramount has popped up and bought "Up Pops the Devil" and will transform it into a picture. The production will be made in New York.

Nancy Carroll and Fredric March are to be featured. March, however, is now working with Claudette Colbert and Charles Ruggles in an original story by Austin Parker, the title of which has just been changed from "Strictly Business" to "Sex In Business." So that will have to be finished before the actor can undertake the new role, that of an author.

A funny hitch has occurred in the making of the story. The wife in "Up Pops the Devil," to be played by Nancy Carroll, is supposed to be a member of the Roxy ensemble; but she will probably have to become a dancer in Publix revues, since Roxy and the Paramount Theater in New York are rivals!

Warners Buy Broadway Play

When Thompson Buchanan wrote "As Good as New," he evidently had an eye to the movies. The piece is now being played in New York, and Warners have bought it to picturize.

So far there is no intimation as to who will play the leading roles in the picture.

R.-K.-O. SIGNS UP BROADWAY ACTRESS

Now Noel Francis probably never will care to go back to Broadway to stay. Miss Francis has just received a nice contract from R.-K.-O., to play featured leads in that organization's pictures.

NOEL FRANCIS

Miss Francis hailed originally from Dallas, Tex. She went to New York, where she played bits in musical comedies, then was graduated into leads in two musical comedies, "Show Girl of Hollywood" and "Well, Well, Well!" The latter proved very well indeed for Miss Francis, since Winfield Sheehan, head of the Fox organization, saw her in it and signed her for picture work with his concern. She fulfilled her contract, and has just finished a role in Universal's "Resurrection" with Lupe Velez.

Just what Miss Francis will do first for R.-K.-O. isn't set yet.

DOLORES COSTELLO MAY PLAY TRILBY

There is every likelihood, we learn, that Dolores Costello, wife of John Barrymore, will play opposite Barrymore in "Trilby," which is to be the actor's next starring vehicle for Warner Brothers.

DOLORES COSTELLO

Certainly we cannot think of a person in the world who would more faithfully fulfill the requirements of this wistful, appealing role than would Miss Costello.

The actress has not appeared on the screen since her baby was born. The Barrymores, baby and all, have been cruising in their yacht in South American waters.

Lloyd Bacon With R.-K.-O.

Lloyd Bacon has apparently severed connections with Warners, to whom he was formerly under contract.

At any rate he has signed with R.-K.-O. to direct Sue Carol in "Kept Husbands," her next starring vehicle, and authentic report has it that he will be kept on by that organization to direct two or perhaps three more productions.

Lloyd Hughes With Tiffany

If Paramount doesn't watch out, that concern will lose the services of June Collyer altogether.

LLOYD HUGHES

Miss Collyer and Lloyd Hughes seem fated to be featured together indefinitely by Tiffany, which has borrowed Miss Collyer again for "Drums of Jeopardy." The two appeared together in another Tiffany picture, and formed such a pleasing combination that fans have been asking to see the pair together in other films.

Lloyd Hughes was signed yesterday for the lead opposite Miss Collyer in "Drums of Jeopardy," and it is whispered that they will appear together in yet another to follow.

Frank Albertson in "Yankee"

After all, it is Frank Albertson and not John Garrick who is playing the important juvenile role of the page in Will Rogers's current Fox starring vehicle, "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court."

At the last moment Albertson was substituted for Garrick, with the latter slated for a role in another picture, not yet announced.

Albertson has been winning laurels ever since he signed with Fox a little over a year ago. The present role may land him in stardom.

Warner Writer at Work

The scenario department at Warner Brothers is beginning to pick up. J. Grubb Alexander, who has so successfully written and adapted both silent pictures and the talkers, has been recalled to his desk at the Warner studio, and is at work on "Trilby," John Barrymore's next.

Alexander also wrote "Moby Dick" for Barrymore, and he adapted "Outward Bound," said to be one of the finest pictures of the year.

CITY-COUNTY SHARING OF COSTS APPROVED

The City Council yesterday approved the agreement between the city and county whereby the county pays a portion of the cost of demolishing the buildings in the line of the new Spring street, as extended through the Civic Center from Temple street to Sunset Boulevard. The county will pay $5695, covering county buildings, which include the old jail. The contract has been awarded by the Board of Public Works for $28,000.

Your Baby and Mine

by MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

This department offers leaflets on weaning and feeding the child from 6 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema, outfits for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training in cleanly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, lime water, rupture, styes and boils and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

CHILD TURNS DEAF EAR TO CONSTANT STREAM OF THREATS

In theory all modern mothers admit that they wouldn't be guilty of saying or doing anything to inspire fear in their children. In actual practice it seems that threats are quite as prevalent as they ever were, which fact only proves, if it proves anything, that mothers are advanced in their thinking but not in their acting. The traditional threats and old attitudes are difficult for the mother to throw off. Recently a young mother and her little girl of about 18 months came into the rest room of a movie theater. The child's mouth was black with chocolate, evidently the pacifier the mother had given her to keep her quiet. The mother sat down in front of a mirror, depocited her numerous bundles and said persuasively, "Come here now, Barbara, and let me wipe your mouth."

BARBARA PROTESTS

Barbara moved toward her, staring at me. The mother held the child between her knees, tipped back her head and began a thorough wiping that would have been effective in cleaning up a porcelain bathtub. Naturally Barbara howled. So would you or I.

Her mother said, obviously for my benefit, "Now, is that a nice way for a little girl to act? What do you want mama to buy you? Well, I won't get it." This last seemed more than superfluous, for Barbara had said nary a word.

Off came Barbara's hat and she began roaming about the room. "Come here this minute, Barbara," said her mother absently, looking at herself in the mirror. "We've got to get home or Daddy will get there ahead of us." As Barbara, unmoved, continued her tour of inspection, the mother became more menacing. "If you don't come, mama will go away and leave you alone. Do you want to be left alone here?"

Apparently Barbara didn't, for she moved within range of her mother, her small hands crammed into the pockets of her reefer.

DEAF TO THREATS

"Here, put this candy in your pocket; mother's got her hands full." But Barbara walked away and said in a very small but determined voice, "No." It was the only thing she had said in answer to this voluble stream of useless and silly threats.

One almost knows what effect a whole day of such threats and pleadings will have on Barbara. She has already learned to be deaf to them. Who wouldn't be? They are just chatter, yards of talk doing nothing, getting nowhere. If her mother's threats are successful, they will have an unexpected result. Barbara will scream herself hoarse when her mother disappears from sight. For too long she has been told that "Mother will go away and leave you." If she does go, the memory of the threat will come back and Barbara won't be convinced but that this time it is going to come true. If mothers would only listen to themselves, they might more quickly mend their ways.

WIFE DIVORCES DECEASED MAN

Mrs. Lindsley Wins Right to Insurance Policies

Mate Died Last June With Estate as Beneficiary

Co-respondent Executrix in Deceden's Will

A dead man was divorced yesterday when Superior Judge Neville granted Mrs. Lillian Blanche Lindsley a divorce from Edward W. Lindsley, who died June 12, last. This unusual proceeding was taken to establish Mrs. Lindsley's legal rights in three insurance policies with face value of $5300. Judge Neville awarded to her one $5000 policy, in which she formerly had been named beneficiary and a half-interest in each of two industrial policies for sums totaling $300.

The Lindsleys married in Pierce, Wash., May 12, 1920, and separated August 2, 1929. Lindsley, a marine engineer, sued for divorce, asserting cruelty. Mrs. Lindsley cross-suited, also asserting cruelty and that her husband associated too freely with Mrs. Weltha Reynolds, who tenanted the front house of the premises where they lived at 648 Thirty-sixth street, San Pedro. Superior Judge Selvage granted the wife a decree April 10, last, at Long Beach.

Mrs. Reynolds was named executrix in Lindsley's will. His death at Banning, four months after the divorce, precipitated a contest for the insurance. The policies were in the hands of Mrs. Reynolds, who had been named in the wife's cross-complaint, and Lindsley had had his former wife's name removed as beneficiary, naming his estate in her stead. Judge Selvage's decision had been silent as to the insurance, which was not designated as community property.

In order to establish the divorced widow's claim to the insurance her attorneys, Mason & Windham, filed an amended divorce cross-complaint, naming as defendant Mrs. Reynolds, executrix, with Lindsley. A second decree of divorce was granted yesterday, with rights to the insurance awarded Mrs. Lindsley.

TROUT PERMIT GRANTED

Ruth Roland, motion-picture actress, was granted permission by the City Council yesterday by ordinance to establish a park and a trout stream on property at Wilshire Boulevard and Fairfax avenue.

OIL FIELD TO HALT DRILLS

Barnsdall Company Initiates Curb on New Wells as Only Real Production Control

The Barnsdall Oil Company of California, which operates jointly with the Rio Grande organization in the development of the Elwood oil field near Santa Barbara, has decided that the way to curtail oil production is to stop the drill. R. A. Broomfield, president of Barnsdall, declared yesterday that after wells now in process of drilling have been finished no new ones will be started, except to take care of offsetting obligations.

"The present system of prorating production," says Mr. Broomfield, "is well enough in its way but under such a system actual drilling goes on apace and as each new well is brought into production a potential test is made and the ultimate production on this well is controlled by the allowable production for the whole field.

"Such intensified and unnecessary drilling tends to break the morale of the conservation movement and has a further tendency to bring about the very waste intended to be prevented. It is the opinion of the officials of the Barnsdall and Rio Grande Oil companies that the real way to cut down overproduction is to cut down on drilling and this will be strictly adhered to by these companies in the Elwood Field as soon as our present wells are completed."

When asked about the reasons for this action Mr. Broomfield said that during the American Petroleum Institute convention at Chicago it was definitely established in the minds of all leading executives that some one had to take the initiative in actually reaching a more feasible solution of the overproduction problem. He is a member of the board of directors of the American Petroleum Institute and also is a member of the board of directors of the California Oil and Gas Association.

DANCER SAYS MATE DRAGGED HER AROUND

Laurel Wilsey, stage dancer, had a husband who wouldn't love her, she asserted in her divorce complaint on file yesterday. The offending husband is Wilbur J. Wilsey, screen cowboy, who, it is charged, dragged his wife around the room and beat her, after refusing to kiss her, and pushing her away in an unloving manner. Wilsey will work in several pictures at $750 each, according to Mrs. Wilsey's attorney, S. S. Hahn, and she is asking alimony of $250 a month.

"Latin America" is the discussion topic of a round table to be headed jointly by Dr. O. W. E. Cook of the University of Southern California, and Prof. George McBride of the University of California, during the annual Institute of International Relations to be held December 7 to 12, next, at Riverside.

Other round tables and their leaders announced for the 1930 one-week institute on world affairs include the following:

"Russia and World Affairs," led by Ralph H. Lutz, chairman of the board, Hoover War Library, Stanford University.

"Economics of the Orient," led by Prof. Victor P. Morris of the University of Oregon.

"Agencies for International Understanding," led jointly by Ben M. Cherrington of the University of Denver, and J. Eugene Harley of the University of Southern California.

"International Aspects of Industry, Resources, and Labor Problems," led by Prof. Glenn E. Hoover of Mills College.

"Food and Population Problems of the Pacific Basin," led by Carl Lucas Alsberg, director of the food research institute, Stanford University, and Prof. Carl O. Sauer of the University of California.

"The Foreign Policies of the United States," led by Prof. Charles E. Martin of the University of Washington.

"Fundamentals of Internationalism," led by Prof. George M. Stratton of the University of California.

"Recent Economic Developments in Europe," led by Eliot G. Mears of the graduate school of business Stanford University.

"International Contacts of the Pacific Area," led by Mrs. Alfred McLaughlin of the Institute of Pacific Relations, San Francisco.

FOURTEEN ON STAND IN GIRNAU SUIT

Witnesses Testify for Pamphlet Publisher in Asserted Milk Libel

Fourteen witnesses testified yesterday in behalf of Fred Girnau, publisher of a political pamphlet, who is on trial before a jury in the court of Municipal Judge Bogue charged with publication of an article libelling Carlin Smith, one-time candidate for Mayor and Charles W. Burke, Sr., former special investigator for Mayor Porter.

The accusation against Girnau grows out of an article which purported to give the facts surrounding the collection of a fund to supply milk to babies of the poor. The plan of Smith and Burke was called a "milk fund racket" in the political publication, which also termed the venture a political scheme.

Among the witnesses yesterday were Mearl Allen, former investigator for Mayor Porter; Joe Buchta, former investigator employed by Burke; Mrs. Vivian McCautrey, James Crowe, campaign manager for Smith; Mrs. Mary McKay and Mrs. Teresa Flagg, district managers; James M. Alexander and Charles B. Alston, Negro workers in the Smith campaign; Mrs. Mabel McBurney and Mrs. Ethel Turke, heads of children's institutions where milk was distributed for a short time by the Smith organization; Mrs. Anna B. Smith, general manager of the City Social Service Commission; W. J. Fitzmaurice, an investigator for the service, and Jack Carberry, newspaper man, who wrote the article under question.

The trial will be resumed today at 10 a.m. and will probably reach the jury for a verdict late tomorrow.

GAS PLANS TO BE STUDIED

Corporation Reserves Decision on Accepting Order for Rate Cut Till Experts Scan Schedule

Much figuring and conferring will be necessary before the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation decides what it will do about accepting the State Railroad Commission's order that it reduce its gas rates about 9 per cent, President Addison D. Day and General Counsel Paul Overton said yesterday.

"We were wholly unprepared for such an order," Day said, and Overton pointed out that the corporation has thirty-five days before the taking effect of the order. In the meanwhile varying conditions will result from a rehearing petition, Overton said, depending upon the time filed, if it is decided to file one.

The report was heard in San Francisco, home of the Pacific Lighting Corporation, which owns the local corporation, that, if necessary, courts will be appealed to for invalidation of the order, but Day said he received no such information in a long-distance telephone conversation with the northern headquarters yesterday.

Assistant City Attorney Frederick Von Schrader, who appeared for the city during commission hearings on the rate question, said that "on the whole we consider the order very satisfactory," and that the city probably will not ask for a rehearing but will accept the terms.

From what information was available here yesterday it appeared to those interested in the case that the commission found the company is entitled to charge rates to yield about 7 per cent on $80,700,000, which the commission found is the value of the corporation's property used for gas purposes, plus $422,866 going value. The commission then set up rates to do so, and stated that the effect of the new rates, ordered for January 1, would be to reduce the company's gas collections about 9 per cent, or $1,350,000 annually.

Von Schrader said the company had contended for a rate base of about $100,000,000, of which $10,000,000 was for going value. It wished, he said, the right to fix rates to yield a fair return on the $100,000,000. The fact that the commission found a rate base of $80,700,000, including $422,866 for going value, was regarded as going a long way toward lower rates, and the city, Von Schrader said, is so pleased over this that it will not further press at this time its views regarding points lost by the order.

Day pointed out that the commission arrived at the rate base by the historical cost theory, that is, by what the corporation has put into its facilities, but that in so doing the commission arrived at a figure far less than the true historical cost. He did not recall the corporation's exact figures based on this theory, but Von Schrader said it is a little more than $90,000,000, including $10,000,000 going value.

In any event, it was pointed out, the commission authorizes the corporation to earn on between $40,000,000 and $30,000,000 less than the corporation's figures setting forth its value on the reproduction and historical theories' bases.

Man Leaps to His Death From Arroyo Bridge

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Nov. 25.—The thirty-third suicide from the Colorado-street bridge crashed to his death tonight when Joe Lopeman, 26 years of age, 771 Stanford street, Los Angeles, dropped to the paving of Arroyo Boulevard beneath the structure. He was pronounced dead when taken to the Pasadena Emergency Hospital.

Nile Gorby, 388 North Hill avenue, saw him standing on the eastern end of the structure as he drove past. He thought the man was acting queerly and turned his machine just in time to see him disappear over the side. He left a note, police say, written on the back of his automobile license card with the inscription: "It is all my wife's fault."

Lipstick Story Wins Divorce

Mrs. Lucille McMannis testified in a divorce suit tried yesterday that her husband, Harry McMannis, came home with lip rouge on his shirt, strange perfume on his collar and hair of a brindle, piebald hue on his coat lapel, whereas Mrs. McMannis's hair is neither brindle nor piebald, and she doesn't use rouge.

A witness testified Mrs. McMannis nearly had a nervous breakdown watching her husband. The divorce was granted.

AQUEDUCT ROUTE NEAR SELECTION

Consulting Engineers to Submit Recommendations by December 20

Final selection of a route for the Colorado River aqueduct to bring water to Southern California is expected to be made by the board of consulting engineers by December 20, next, it was stated yesterday at a meeting of the engineers with the directors of the Metropolitan Water District.

The consulting board formally received the report of Chief Engineer Weymouth and his staff and Weymouth's recommendation favoring what is known as the Parker route for the aqueduct. A letter of instructions from the directors was handed the engineers.

The outstanding directions in the letter are: The consulting board is to recommend the route which will insure a perpetual supply of water at the lowest possible cost, all things considered; the consulting board is not to be bound in any way by Weymouth's findings and recommendations; any other data required will be supplied upon request; full consideration is to be given to study of a gravity aqueduct; construction and operating cost is to be reported on and advice is to be given on the matter of proper storage at this end of the conduit.

There were brief talks by members of the consulting board, including Thaddeus Merriman, chairman; A. J. Wiley and Richard J. Lyman. All praised highly the work done by Weymouth and his staff and there was praise for the members of the consulting board. Chairman Whitsett of the Metropolitan board also made brief remarks. Later in the meeting the application of Long Beach for membership in the district was approved, as affecting her plans for calling an election to decide on the move.

New Car Models Displayed Today

The Essex super six, dropping into the low price field through sharp reductions for the new 1931 models, will be on display for the first time in Los Angeles today according to Richard F. Carlson, general manager of the Walter M. Murphy Motors Company who also, at this time will show the new Hudson-Essex line.

"The formal opening will surprise the curious," Mr. Carlson said, "for instead of cheapening the Essex and then lowering the price the factory has actually created a bigger and better car than ever before."

The principal showing from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. today will take place at the main Murphy establishment at Eleventh and Flower streets. The new Hudson will be priced lower than ever, Mr. Carlson says.

MACK AND PAYNE BOX FAST DRAW

Scrappers Put Up Furious Battle in Final Rounds of Olympic Main Event

It took eight rounds for Eddie Mack and Cecil Payne to get started, but once they got under way they made torrid work of the last two rounds of the Olympic main event.

Mack had Payne reeling on the ropes when the bell sounded the end of the ninth, and Payne came back to win the edge in the tenth session.

On that basis Referee Abe Roth's draw decision was correct.

However, on the strength of the wild swings Payne missed during the tame early rounds Mack was

WASHINGTON IS FIRED FOR WIN

Powerful Bunch of Linemen Takes Practice

Charging Drill Jars Seats at Coliseum

Jones May Rely on Passes in Turkey Game

BY BRAVEN DYER

Jimmy Phelan took his University of Washington Huskies out to the Coliseum yesterday afternoon and ran them through two hours of heavy practice, with considerable accent on the heavy. The Seattle eleven plays Southern California at the Coliseum tomorrow afternoon in the big Turkey Day struggle of the Pacific Coast.

You never can tell much about a football team in practice. In October the writer looked at Oregon State's behemoths and felt that here was a gang of giants capable of extending any team in captivity. Yesterday, in eyeing the Huskies, the thought came to mind that Phelan has a powerfull bunch of linemen with so-so backs. Now Southern California slapped Oregon State down rather effectively, which shows that merely glancing at a team in practice does not mean much—not at least when this writer is doing the glancing. All that remains now is for Washington, which did not strike me senseless yesterday, to rise up and smack the Trojans silly.

The Huskies were obviously train-weary from their long jaunt and will undoubtedly show plenty of zipper in today's final workout. Phelan's charges are determined to make a strong showing tomorrow and when you get a gang of he-men from the Northwest thoroughly aroused there's bound to be some dynamite exploding.

Phelan opined that some of his players were still battered up, but gave this statement the lie by shooting his linemen into charging drill so vigorously that some of the new seats in the Coliseum were jarred loose. Those Husky linemen are adorned with plenty of meat and it's going to take some jarring jolts from the Trojans to budge such giants as Schwegler, Wentworth and Holmes out of the way. Knowing which, perhaps, the Trojans will resort to passes.

There are four seniors on the Washington eleven. They are Wentworth, center; Capt. Al Holmes, tackle; Pautzke, guard, and Westerweller, end. The last three make up the entire right side of Washington's line.

Buse, fullback; Palmer, guard; Oberg, quarter, and Nesbit, end, are sophomores. Nesbit is starting in place of Bob Lenfesty, injured in the Washington State contest.

Merle Hufford, all-Coast halfback last year, Bill Marsh, star left-footed punter, and Paul Schwegler, tackle, are juniors.

The biggest achievement of the Huskies this season is that 3-to-0 game with Washington State. You can't get away from the fact that Phelan's team is a good team for no mediocre eleven could hold the man-eating Cougars to a mere 3 points. Say the wet field bothered

DARTMOUTH TEAM ARRIVES

"Big Green" Eleven to Rely on Aerial Attack in Game Against Stanford Saturday

SAN MATEO, Nov. 25. (Exclusive)—It became evident this afternoon that Coach Cannell intends to use the aerial attack more than ever this Saturday against Stanford. The team worked out for two hours this afternoon on the Stanford Field at Palo Alto.

Almost the entire time was spent on passes and pass defense. Coach Cannell also sent the men through a strenuous grass drill to roll out whatever kinks may remain after the long train ride. Actually, the team seems to be in fine condition and is impatient for the game.

The weather this afternoon was warm, but not uncomfortably so, and while the men were very warm they were by no means tired out

DARTMOUTH is following in Army's 1929 footsteps and, in line with Horace Greeley's one-time advice, is "going west." The same suggestion was taken at its war value by the Kay-dets, for they "went west" in a slightly more figurative manner. Perhaps, in the case of Dartmouth, it will be different, but I don't think so after seeing Coach Jackson Cannell's men in action against Yale last month.

But when the Green Indians from the Hanover Hills of New Hampshire meet the Red Indians of Palo Alto, Cal., almost anything can happen (including "Pop, goes the Warner!")

Dartmouth couldn't beat Yale, that was beaten by Georgia, that was beaten by Tulane, that was beaten by Northwestern, that beat Minnesota, that tied Stanford—if that means anything to you in trying to decide which team is the better, Cardinals or the Greens. Dartmouth was, unless I am badly mistaken, the last eastern team to defeat a far-western outfit, and this happened in 1920 when Pat Spears took his boys out to Seattle to trim Washington about 28 to 7.

Cannell has no Sonnenberg, Youngstroms or Cunninghams in his line this year, but he has a sweet end in Yudicky, and a fine pair of running backs in Morton and McCall. Also, one of his quarterbacks, Robert E. Lee, Jr., is a direct descendant of the Confederate general of that name, and in Shep Wolf, the forward-passing halfback from Brooklyn, he has a young man who carves grotesque heads in wood when there is nothing else to do.

BRUINS PUZZLE OVER OFFENSIVE

Bill Spaulding Hopes to Get It Working Soon

Trick reverses, spinners, end runs and fancy forward passes were much in evidence yesterday afternoon on the Westwood gridiron as Coach Bill Spaulding drilled his U.C.L.A. gridders for the final game of the season next Saturday against Idaho at the Coliseum. The practice this afternoon will feature defense against Vandal offensive formations.

Coach Spaulding has announced a tentative line-up which is fairly accurate for the forward wall. Dick Mulhaupt and Leonard Wellendorf are the ends; "Fat" Norfleet and Lloyd McMillan, tackles; Gordon Jones and John Duncan, guards, and Maurice Goodstein, center. Of that seven, Goodstein alone is playing his last game against Idaho. Ed Milum, substitute center, also graduates this year.

The backfield will probably be composed of three seniors, and the stellar junior fullback, Norman Duncan. The seniors are Capt. Eddie Solomon, quarterback, and Reuben Thoe and Buddy Forster, halfbacks. Thoe and Forster have not been playing in the starting line-up regularly, but both showed up well

ARMY SQUAD EAGER FOR CONTEST WITH IRISH; ROCKNE ORDERS LAYOFF

BY EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

WEST POINT (N. Y.) Nov. 25. (AP)—Winter, cold and cheerless and bristling with snow and sleet, swept down upon the Army citadel on the bluffs of the Hudson today but it failed to chill the spirits of eleven young huskies facing the unenviable task of halting Notre Dame on Soldier Field in Chicago Saturday. For almost two hours, the unbeaten squad scrimmaged against Notre Dame plays.

Nowhere was there any indication that Knute Rockne's great eleven will have the cadet huskies beaten before Army trots on the field Saturday before one of the greatest crowds of the season. Maj. Ralph Sasse, ruddy-faced, cheery head coach, shivered in his baseball uniform and joked with the men as they went through their labors.

"That Notre Dame team may beat us, it's a great outfit, but we're going to have a lot of fun anyway and you never can tell about football," Sasse remarked.

Army, rated a 5-to-1 underdog in the West, looked nothing like that today despite the terrible weather conditions. Maj. Sasse and his corps of assistants have worked out something new in the way of the "Pop" Warner offense Army adopted with success this season. All of the injured, including Capt. "Polly" Humber, a great guard; Carl Carlmark, end mate of Big Ed Messinger; Edward Suarez, giant tackle, and the peppy Bowman have recovered from their hurts.

Sasse probably will start Ed Carver or Bowman at quarter as he has in all important matches this season but Cy Letzelter, Ken Fields and Ed Herb, the sophomore trio of ball luggers, are slated for bench seats. Letzelter recently was forced from the team by the revelation he entered the military academy over age. His place has been taken by Ray Stecker, a powerful youth from Hazelton, Pa., who passed, plunged and kicked Army to victory over Illinois in the second half of their duel in the Yankee Stadium. Tom

Laurels Are Voted Terry and Cronin

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 25. (AP)—Bill Terry, first-baseman of the New York Giants, and Joe Cronin, shortstop of the Washington Senators, were the two most valuable players in the National and American leagues, respectively, for the 1930 season, according to the vote of a committee of sport writers in all the major-league cities in an annual poll by the Sporting News of St. Louis. Cronin received 52 points out of a possible 64, and Terry was accorded 47. Frankie Frisch of the St. Louis Cardinals was a close second behind Terry in the National with 43 points, and Hack Wilson of the Chicago Cubs ranked third with 41. Al Simmons of the Philadelphia Athletics, who won the Sporting News' award in 1929, was second to Cronin in the American League with 46 points. Charley Gehringer, Detroit second baseman, finished third with 31 points.

PURPLE COACH MAY TAKE JOB

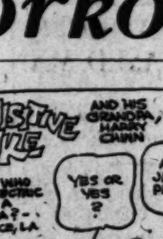
Northwestern Mentor Isn't Under Contract

Report Refuses to Die Down Despite Denial

Iowa, Wisconsin Grid Heads Also Under Fire

BY JOHN P. GALLAGHER
"Times" Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, Nov. 25. (Exclusive)—The rumor that Dick Hanley, who piloted the Northwestern University Wildcats to a tie for the Big Ten championship, and an unbeaten season until they lost to Notre Dame last Saturday, is going to be the next football coach of the California Bears cropped up again in these parts today—and stronger than ever.



Coincident with the news from the Coast that "Nibs" Price had officially handed in his resignation as grid mentor of the once Golden Bears boomed the report that Hanley is to take over the football reigns at Berkeley. The report would not die even though Hanley had previously denied he intended going to Berkeley—in fact it gained strength.

The resignation of Price, California coach, brought the matter to a head today, and the announcement of Hanley's signing may be forthcoming within the next few weeks.

NOT UNDER CONTRACT

Hanley is not under contract at Northwestern. It was announced last year that he had agreed to a seven-year term, which is true, but a written contract was never presented to him, although he was perfectly willing to sign at the time.

It has been known for some time that Coach Hanley's ambition was to become attached to some school on the Pacific Coast, where he learned his football. Dick was

Don George Hooks Up With Dan Koloff in Leading Olympic Wrestling Bout Tonight

RIVALS CLASH SECOND TIME

Foes Struggle for Chance at Sonnenberg

Lewis and De Glane Mix in Semifinal

Strelich Engages Grimes in First Event

With all four of the athletes striving for a promised chance at Champion Gus Sonnenberg, Promoter Lou Daro, wrestling impresario, tonight offers at the Olympic Auditorium, what amounts to a double main event.

In the final contest of the evening, the ever-popular Don George returns to action against Dan Koloff, the so-called Balkan Lion, in a match that will go two out of three falls to a finish. In the semifinal Ed "Strangler" Lewis, one-time champion, hooks up with the promising Henri De Glane, who holds various titles in Europe. This affair is a one-fall, one-hour time limit bout.

George beat Koloff in his first local appearance, and is highly favored to win tonight. That first bout was a preliminary affair in one of Daro's Wrigley Field cards. Koloff, anticipating an easy victory over an unknown foe, was swept off his feet at the first charge, and never regained either his composure or his feet. George won so speedily that the alleged Lion looked ridiculous.

He has tried to get a return match ever since then, and has just succeeded. He is primed, set for a hard match, and anxious to offset that former defeat. Fans who know Koloff's record realize that his defeat at the hands of the unknown ex-amateur was one of the biggest upsets of the year, in the mat game. He has plenty of ability, is a strong, courageous wrestler, and plans a whirlwind attack. He knows, now, that George is good. He is prepared for a hard match, but he is confident that he will win.

George knows he won that first encounter by a surprise attack, and he figures that he can win again tonight by uncovering some new maneuver that Koloff doesn't expect. George has plenty of holds, and he has some new combinations he may uncover tonight.

De Glane has looked very good in a couple of matches here, and ought to give Lewis a good match. The former champion has just returned from a tour of Australia, and appears to be in good shape.

The opener offers Steve Strelich the "Terrible Swede" and Les Grimes in a thirty-minute time limit affair.

DARO READY TO GIVE LONDOS DATE

Lou Daro is ready to offer Jim Londos, Greek wrestler, a title match with "Dynamite" Gus Sonnenberg, world's mat king.

The only string attached to the offer is that Londos meet Ed "Strangler" Lewis, former champion and title contender, in a finish match at Wrigley Field next month, the proceeds to be used to help the unemployment situation in Los Angeles, and the winner of the bout to get the match with Sonnenberg.

Plans for the proposed bout were presented to Charles Traung, chairman of the State Athletic Commission, and Jim Woods, athletic commissioner for Southern California by Daro yesterday at a meeting and it was given their official indorsement and approval.

Lewis, accompanied by his manager, Billy Sandow, deposited a $5000 forfeit with the State Athletic Commission to guarantee his appearance in the ring here for the Londos match.

Daro informed the commissioners that Sonnenberg, who is in the East at the present time, has agreed to post a $10,000 guarantee here to meet the winner in a championship match here early next year, the bout to be held under California State Athletic Commission rules.

Londos, it was announced, will be informed of the commission's action and of Lewis's challenge to wrestle him for the right to meet the champion.

HUSKIES TAKE HARD WORKOUT

the Cougars. Say they were cocky. Say they were thinking about the Rose Bowl. Say anything you want, but Babe Hollingbery played his first string—he hasn't much else and doesn't need it—and Washington held the gang to 3 points. That shows something. Whether that something is enough to hold the Trojans in check remains to be seen.

Phelan's material is about the same as it was last year when the Trojans scored that astounding 48-to-0 victory in Seattle. But few people expect such a score tomorrow. And with few expecting it such a thing may happen.

Howard Jones will take no undue chances with his regulars because he wants them in the best of shape for Notre Dame. Two years ago the Trojans lost Don Williams prior to the Irish struggle. Bearing this in mind it is probable that Southern California will resort to a passing attack tomorrow. Stanford made the Huskies look rather bad via this route and there is no reason why the Trojans shouldn't try to do likewise.

THOMAS WINS ON FOUL

SAN JOSE, Nov. 25. (AP)—"Kid" Thomas, Central American welterweight, won on a foul in the second round here tonight in his bout with Charlie Hernandez of San Francisco.

RABBIT PUNCHES

By Paul Lowry

THE ALMOST TEAM

THE team that almost beat the team which beat the Trojans. This should be the p.a.'s line when introducing the Washington Huskies, who meet S.C. in the Turkey Day bill at the Coliseum tomorrow.

However, Mr. Dook Stanley, the Washington News Bureau director, merely presents the invading eleven as Jimmy Phelan's first, and hints at fatter years to come.

Washington was beaten this year by Oregon, Stanford and Washington State.

That's one less conference game than California lost this season, and Price is taking the gate at Berkeley.

But Price has been there five years, and Phelan has two years more in which to produce something that will make the boys step forward with a fatter and longer contract.

Mr. Stanley says they feel in the great Northwest that Phelan has done extremely well this year with material that was none too good and a new system to introduce.

And they are particularly elated over the fact that Washington held Washington State to a 3-to-0 score after the Cougars beat S.C., the only team that has turned the trick this fall.

FOUR TO WATCH

ACCORDING to Mr. Stanley only about four men on the Washington team stand out.

With the old Washington power plays in the ash can, Phelan has specialized on team play development, sacrificing the individual.

That is one reason, perhaps, why Hufford has not been heard from so much this season.

Nevertheless, Brother Stanley advises us all to keep our eyes on Schwegler, a tackle; Wentworth, center; Marsh, and Hufford, backs.

Wentworth is the chap who is reported to have kept Mr. Hein of Washington State pretty well subdued in the Cougar-Husky game.

Marsh is a splendid kicker, Schwegler is a veteran and a sturdy linesmen while Hufford is a fast boy in the open field.

WHY THE ROUND TABLE?

IT DOES seem that it took St. Mary's a long time to make up its mind there was a charity game appointment to keep in San Francisco.

While declining Southern California's invitation to a game in this city the Moraga heads spent all of Sunday afternoon and most of Sunday night discovering the fly in the ointment.

Such a simple little thing as a previous date need not have waited on the triumphant return of the Gaels from New York, where they beat undefeated Fordham.

St. Mary's has been trying diligently to land on the S.C. schedule, and this looked like a grand opportunity to talk turkey. But, apparently, victories over unbeaten eastern teams and triumphal returns such as the Gaels enjoyed down the streets of San Francisco and Oakland cut another figure. Particularly, when the brutal Trojans are one of the considerations. It would be sad, after all, to spoil the Fordham affair.

STANFORD TO WIN

IF THERE'S any tea left in China, it's hereby wagered that Stanford beats Dartmouth at Palo Alto Saturday, probably just about as easily as it did Army last year.

There is nothing in the Dartmouth record, although unsullied by defeats, that indicates it is in a class with Stanford.

And Pop Warner's known propensity for coming stronger with his teams as the season progresses will justify a prediction made in this column after the 41-to-12 defeat by the Trojans that Stanford would win all its remaining games.

Dartmouth is the only hurdle left to make the forecast 100 per cent perfect.

Kilday, another big fellow from San Antonio, Tex., who scored the tying touchdown against Yale, will be in that backfield along with Henry Sebastian, a fleet youngster from Sherman, Tex. This quartet of ball toters appeared to be the strongest Army has had to offer all fall.

The squad of thirty-eight players will leave West Point for Chicago in a special train tomorrow evening.

ROCKMEN ENJOY ANOTHER LAYOFF

SOUTH BEND (Ind.) Nov. 25. (AP) Knute Rockne gave his Notre Dame varsity another day of rest today but ordered full steam ahead in the drills for the Army game starting tomorrow.

With a heavy snow falling and the temperature hovering around the 22-deg. mark, Rockne drilled his second team indoors today, running through signals for most of the training session. The third and fourth teams, meanwhile, ran through Army plays preparatory for an Army-Notre Dame scrimmage Thursday afternoon.

Several of the varsity members still nursed bruises from the Northwestern game today but none of them was expected to be out of action Saturday. Rockne said the injuries were not as severe as first supposed and not nearly as bad as those suffered in the Drake game the week before.

URBAN CADET ELEVEN DOWNS BEACHERS, 19-6

Capt. Ballew, halfback, shone brilliantly yesterday afternoon, and as a result Urban Military Academy defeated the Southern California Military Academy eleven from Long Beach yesterday afternoon on the Urban gridiron by the score of 19 to 6. Ballew scored one touchdown on a 40-yard run in the second quarter, and then kicked goal, as well as placing the ball in position for the other touchdowns, which were made by Perry, fullback. Padulla, fullback, scored for the Southern California cadets.

The line-ups:

Urban (19.)		So. California (6.)
Wilks	L.E.R.	Melrose
Clay	L.T.R.	Poor
Deud	L.G.R.	Hansen
Jones	C.	Dunsmore
Lovorin	R.G.L.	Newton
McPherren	R.T.L.	Mayberry
Milliron	R.E.L.	Green
Stemple	Q.	Culuris (C.)
Ballew (C.)	L.H.R.	Moore
Evans	R.H.L.	Favin
Perry	F.	Padulla

SCORE BY QUARTERS

Urban	6	7	0	6	—19
So. California	0	0	6	0	—6

Touchdowns—Perry, 2; Ballew, Padulla. Conversion—Ballew.

Substitutions: Urban—Schretserman for Evans, Chichester for Lovorin, So. California—Weeks for Newton, Williams for Dunsmore, Rhoades for Moore, Sullivan for Hansen, Slaughter for Poor, Mael for Melrose, Paipin for Green, Buck for Favin.

Officials—Dompke, referee; Ritter, umpire, Vaughn, head linesman; Lanoy, [illegible].

RUMOR HANLEY TO LEAD BEARS

Price stated today that he would accept the post of basketball coach if a "satisfactory" offer is forthcoming.

The student body "athletic council," made up in the main of student athletes, including Norman Horner, varsity baseball pitcher; Joe Hickingbotham, Phi Beta Kappa student and football halfback; William Thompson, crew man, and Fritz Cahn, football tackle, and others, met at noon today for a consideration of possible successors.

Decision was to be reached at a special meeting of the student body executive committee later tonight. Among the names in circulation on the campus were those of Knute Rockne, Dick Hanley and Tad Jones. No official announcement as to men who might be asked to take over the football situation was made.

What threatened to develop into a tremendous storm died away today with the reinstatement of Arthur Arlett as editor of the Daily Californian. Arlett was deposed by the executive committee from certain editorials regarding the California football situation and U.S.C.'s athletes. He was reinstated in office with the reminder that the executive committee does not relinquish its right of dismissal, and also upon the proviso that at the top of editorial columns appear the words: "The editorials contained in this newspaper are intended to express the opinion of the editor, not the official opinions of the associated students of the University of California."

Students gathered in informal groups throughout the campus applauded Price's action. There was hearty approval for Price's personal qualities, but student opinion agreed with the report that Price under existing conditions was handicapped. The advent of a new coach, students were agreed, would see revolutionary changes which would be impossible under Price's regime. The retention of Price as basketball coach, where he has established an enviable record, was favored by a majority of students today, judging from campus comment.

Rumblings of other contemplated coaching changes in Big Ten ranks are also going the rounds. Iowa's alumni body, or most of it, at least, has put Coach Burt Ingwersen on the fire and is clamoring for the return of Howard Jones at Southern California to rebuild the prestige of the Hawkeyes. Young Ingwersen came back pretty well this year after a bad start, but the alumni are dissatisfied with his work.

Glenn Thistlethwaite of Wisconsin, and Pat Page of Indiana are also on the firing line. One group at Madison wants Dr. C. W. Spears, now at the University of Oregon, to return and take charge of the Badgers.

Page's contract at Indiana has one more year to run, and it is said that it is up to him

Grid Ducats on Sale at Coliseum

Arnold Eddy, graduate manager of the University of Southern California, announced yesterday that thirty ticket booths will be open at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning at the Coliseum. General admission tickets for the open end of the bowl will sell at $2, with 50 cent ducats being available for youngsters under 12 years of age.

entirely whether or not he is going to stay there. It is also reported, however, that his resignation probably would have been announced Sunday if his team had not upset Purdue, 7 to 6.

Some of Purdue's zealous old grads are wanting to know why Noble Kizer could not get anywhere with the championship team Jimmy Pheland left in his hands.

MONAHAN TO SEEK COACH

BERKELEY, Nov. 25. (AP)—The executive committee of the University of California student body meeting tonight decided to leave to a committee of four members and William Monahan, graduate manager, the selection of a football coach to succeed Clarence (Nibs) Price, who resigned yesterday.

The executive committee resolution stated the group had "full confidence in the ability and discretion of the graduate manager" to recommend the proper man for the position. He will be aided by a committee of four composed of two members to be chosen from the athletic council and two others to be named after a consultation with the university administration.

Monahan was expected to leave for the East within a few days to interview candidates.

The committee to aid Monahan will be selected tomorrow and will meet Friday to determine its course of action.

The executive committee earlier in the evening decided to send letters to each of the assistant football coaches to the effect that no contracts for assistant coaches would be extended or executed pending the appointment of a head football coach. The resolution deciding this action added that the letter "should express our deep regret and sincere appreciation of their services to the Associated Students of the University of California."

Names heard on the campus today in connection with the coaching post included Tad Jones, former Yale coach; Knute Rockne of Notre Dame, Dr. J. W. Wilce, former mentor of Ohio State; Dick Hanley of Northwestern and others from the East, North and South.

Meanwhile the senior players of Price's squad met in a fraternity house and framed a mild protest against the acceptance of the coach's resignation, claiming California's failure to win games in the late disastrous season was not the fault of the coach.

Price told questioners he would accept an offer to continue as basketball coach if conditions were "satisfactory."

Arthur Arlett, reinstated editor, inserted in the masthead of the Daily Californian, student paper, a notice editorials were not to be taken as official comment of the student government but were the editor's own ideas. Arlett had been ousted following the debacle of the Golden Bears in the game with the University of Southern California Trojans, because of his comments on professionalism in connection with the game.

HANLEY'S WIFE DENIES SIGNING

EVANSTON (Ill.) Nov. 25. (AP)—Coach Richard E. Hanley of Northwestern University has not signed a contract to coach football at the University of California "or anywhere else," his wife said tonight in denying reports he had signed to succeeds Nibs Price at the Coast school.

"There is nothing at all to reports he has signed such a contract," Mrs. Hanley said. She refused to arouse Coach Hanley, who has been confined to his home since the Notre Dame game last Saturday because of a severe cold.

DR. WILCE DECLINES TO COMMENT

COLUMBUS (O.) Nov. 25. (AP)—Dr. J. W. Wilce, former football coach at Ohio State University, declined to comment tonight when informed he was among those mentioned as a possible successor to Clarence Price, who resigned as grid mentor at the University of California. He said he would make no statement unless he receives a direct offer from the western institution.

FACULTY APPROVES UTAH TRIP WEST

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 25. (AP)—The faculty of the University of Utah late today granted permission to the Utah football team to play a post-season charity game, President George Thomas announced.

Earlier in the day Utah officials had advised University of Southern California it would be interested in a game in Los Angeles December 20, Coach Ike Armstrong declaring the final decision would be made by the players.

Faculty approval came, although it was announced no invitation had been received from U.S.C.

COLGATE MAY PLAY GAELS IN BAY CITY

MORAGA (Cal.) Nov. 25. (AP)—St. Mary's College athletic officials today opened negotiations with an eastern university for a football game to be played in San Francisco December 13. Graduate Manager Louis Lefevre declined to announce the name of the university invited, but intimated it might be Colgate.

CATALINA $7500 OPEN CANCELED BY WRIGLEY

Wrigley last night when asked to make a statement, "as against 160 a year ago, I do not feel that there is a place for the tournament this year.

"In the first place since my arrival in Southern California a few days ago I am convinced that there is a definite lack of interest in open golf. Whether this can be attributed to the present unrest, to too much open tournament competition, or to disagreements between the professionals I am not prepared to say. But there is a lack of interest and rather than have a tournament which is not a great success I would rather drop the plans entirely for this year.

"In contrast to this attitude toward open golf I find a keen and live interest in amateur golf. It is probable that several big amateur tournaments may be arranged during the winter season. We will decide on that a bit later.

"One of the things that led me to the decision to call the tournament off was the fact that both Long Beach and Glendale canceled their tournaments. This left a period of a full month between the Catalina open tournament and the Los Angeles open. It seemed to me that very few of the great professional players could see their way clear to remain in Southern California this length of time. I believe that many will be in California at one time or another this winter, but I do not believe we could count on a strong representation of players for our tournament.

LEAN PICKINGS

"Another year and we may hold the tournament. I cannot say for certain our golf course has been a good investment, and we intend to improve it. But as far as the present tournament goes it is definitely off."

It is certainly going to be lean picking for the pros this winter. Only three local tournaments. The Pasadena $4000 open in mid-December, the Santa Monica $1500 open the first week in January and the Los Angeles $10,000 open remain in addition to the Agua Caliente $35,000 open, which winds-up the year.

The cancellation of the Catalina, Long Beach and Glendale opens means a loss of $13,500 to visiting professionals.

Last year's Catalina open was one of the highlights of the season, when Tony Manero edged out Olin Dutra in a great finish.

Practically all of the leading professionals with the exception of Johnny Farrell will be here this winter, but will have to concentrate their energies on the Los Angeles and Agua Caliente events.

OAKMONT PRESIDENT'S CUP PLAY IN SECOND ROUND

Oakmont's annual President's Cup tournament enters the second round of match play this week. Favorites survived their initial clashes last week, although Bud Thompson, Jack Gaines and Harold Thompson were victors by the narrow margin of 1 up.

Following are the complete results:

PRESIDENT'S CUP FLIGHT

BRUINS SLATE GAMES FOR CASABA SEASON

The schedule of practice basketball games this year for Coach Caddy Works's U.C.L.A. cagers is rapidly being completed, with the season slated to open in two weeks. The Bruin basketeers play tentatively at Whittier College on December 12, next, and then go to Claremont the following night to play Pomona. The Hollywood Athletic Club five and the Los Angeles Athletic Club team will furnish opposition for the Westwood Villagers on December 17 and 20, respectively, with a tentative date with Caltech on the 26th. The University of Montana will play U.C.L.A. here on December 29 and 30. The season in the southern division of the Pacific Coast Conference starts on January 9 and 10 with the Bruins playing Stanford.

POETS, REDLANDS TAN[illegible]

Whittier and Bulldogs Mix Tomorrow; C[illegible] Take on San Diego Aztec Eleven

Southern California Conference grid teams will go through training sieges tonight at Whittier, Caltech, Redlands and [illegible] prepare to clash tomorrow in the concluding tilts of the [illegible] Caltech or Whittier will wear the crown when the dust [illegible] over.

Coach "Chief" Newman's Poets, entertaining the visiting Bulldogs on Quaker tanbark, are favored to trounce Lee Trine's athletes. If everything goes according to Hoyle, they will cinch a second place in the league race. A defeat for the Engineers at the hands of the Aztecs in the battle at the border will give the title to the Quakers on a percentage basis.

Although Whittier fans do not expect a pushover by any means, the pounding Poets should take Redlands into camp fairly handily. A potent offense and a scrappy defense make the Quakers a redoubtable outfit.

A ray of additional hope flitters through for the Whittier eleven with the announcement that Cliff Ograin, one of the outstanding punters of the conference, will be able to play and may start tomorrow. The lanky fullback has been on the bench for the last three or four games with a broken blood vessel in his leg.

Newman reports his charges in excellent shape for the coming tussle, expecting them to wind up the season by putting on a good exhibition of football. The Poet aggregation got off to a poor start this season, but has been coming right along under the wily tutelage of the "Chief."

TIGER QUINTET WINS OVER CHAFFEY, 30-19

Indications that South Pasadena High School will be represented by a strong basketball team this year were given yesterday when the Tiger quintet defeated the Chaffey five, last year's prep champions, 30 to 19 in a game played on the winner's court. Despite the presence of three of last year's letter men in its line-up, Meke was the only consistent performer for Chaffey. Meke entered the game in the second quarter and scored 15 points to carry off high-scoring honors. Ayers of Pasadena was a close second with 14.

Ascot Plans 100-Lap Race December 7

Altering their plans as a result of numerous letters received from fans, Dr. Fred Loring and members of the racing board at the Legion Ascot Speedway have decided to stage another 100-lap grind on December 7. The original plan for the forthcoming program was to hold six short races, the main event to be forty laps in length.

MACK, PAYNE IN DRAW BOUT

entitled to the award on that score alone.

There was too much bouncing, circling, retreating, aimless biffing and ineffective tapping to make the early sessions productive of outstanding margins one way or the other.

At that, Mack did outbox his rival and finally outslugged him when the pair threw some of their caution to the winds in the ninth. However, as the boys say, a draw didn't hurt anybody.

Just a fair crowd saw the performance. Payne weighed 132 and Mack 135.

Louie Avery, a newcomer from Oklahoma, took a momentary knockdown in the second round, but came on to win in six rounds from Teddy Palacios.

Avery's last-round splurge caught the referee's eye.

Steve Hayden unloosed two powerful right-hand punches in the second round to put Vic Percley away for keeps. The first punch kept Vic on the floor for the count of nine and the second found him on his back gazing sillily at the stars.

Eddie Neal won a four-round decision from Young Al Capone and Mickey Smith won a four-round nod from Richie Franklin in the curtain-raiser.

tonight. The problem of ends seemed to be settled. Today Branch and Whitehair were with the first team. The team was welcomed by two bands and a large group of alumni in San Francisco this morning.

Weight charts showed that the team gained about two pounds per man during the trip, but three more afternoons of strenuous practice will soon put them in shape. Okie O'Connor is the only man on the squad who is temporarily laid up. He has an abcess which has been treated, but is not yet wholly well. Dr. Bowler is keeping him in bed for observation.

in scrimmage yesterday and will probably start Saturday afternoon.

Spaulding said yesterday that he is just "marking time until next year" when he will have the best material to work with that he has ever had. Of this year's first-string eleven, only Goodstein and Capt. Solomon graduate, and as excellently as they have played for U.C.L.A., they will hardly be missed on next year's squad. Spaulding will have practically an entire veteran line back, plus such transfers as become eligible, plus this year's freshman team.

FREMONT BEES WIN OVER LINCOLN, 14-6

Coach Irwin Tanner's Fremont lightweights closed their 1930 season yesterday with a 14-6 victory over the Lincoln Bees. The game was played on the Pathfinders' field and marked their fourth league victory this season. Tanner's team lost but one game, in the six played, while they tied the championship Fairfax Bee eleven. Yesterday's win gave the Pathfinders fourth place in the standings, only Fairfax, L. A. High and Hollywood being ahead of them.

The game was postponed from early season because of unfavorable weather. All the other elevens finished their season last week.

The line-ups:

Fremont (14)		Lincoln (6)
Creager	L.E.R.	Arey
Hollawell	L.T.R.	Dunbar
Mitchell	L.G.R.	Bettini

VENICE LOSES TO VAN NUYS QUINTET

Van Nuys High won a close basketball game from Venice yesterday on the Gondoliers' court by a score of 25 to 23. Venice staged a rally in the last quarter, scoring ten points, but fell just three short of victory. Archieald of Van Nuys was high point man with eight markers. The Venice lightweights walloped the Van Nuys babes 39 to 11 in the preliminary game. Berman with 14 points took the individual high-scoring honors for the winners.

FREMONT HARRIERS WIN

Winning all of the first seven places, the Fremont cross-country squad decisively walloped the Lincoln High harriers, 15 to 56, in a meet held yesterday over the former's course. Jim and Allen Turner finished first and second, respectfully, for the Pathfinders. The others finished in the following order: Simons (Fr.) Tobin (Fr.) Henwood (Fr.) Hoserberg (Fr.) Smith (Fr.) Phylitts (L.) Thorton (L.) Morris (Fr.)

BILLY DOEG ADVANCES TO NET SEMIFINALS

All seeded favorites came through with ease in yesterday afternoon's play in the first annual Beverly Hills Tennis Club open junior tennis tournament, which is being held on the club courts under the direction of Fred Alexander, former world's doubles champion, who is now tennis instructor at the B.H.T.C.

Billy Doeg, 1930 Pacific Southwest junior champion and the first seeded star in the boys' singles 18-years-and-under, proved to be much too steady for Johnny Law, up-and-coming South Pasadena junior, Doeg winning in straight sets, 6-1, 6-1, to enter the semifinals. Howard McDavitt, another South Pasadena star and fourth seeded player, also won with ease in this division. McDavitt showed excellent court tactics, according to Alexander, in his easy straight-set win over John Booge, 6-2, 6-1.

Leonard Patterson of Hollywood, seeded third, brought forth a variety of stroke equipment to eliminate another South Pasadena junior, Danny Clark. Patterson won by scores of 6-2, 6-3, to enter the semifinals.

Young Frank Parker, national boys' doubles champion and a semi-finalist in the singles, and the third seeded star in the boys' singles 15-years-and-under, took things easy in defeating Bobby Underwood, an excellent player for his age, by 6-0, 6-3. By virtue of his win, Parker enters the semifinals.

Several interesting matches are anticipated for today. The feature appears to be the encounter between Harold Steiner, second seeded player, and Jess Millman. Dorothy Workman, seeded first in the girls' singles 18-years-and-under, also takes the courts today when she meets Virginia Andrews. Miss Workman is this year's Pacific Southwest junior girls' champion and Southern California junior girls' titleholder. Today's schedule follows:

2:00—Dorothy Workman vs. Virginia Andrews, Bonnie Miller vs. Arlis Cowen.
3:45—Harold Steiner vs. Jess Millman, Dorothy Bundy vs. Jane Stanton. May Doeg vs. Patricia Deane.

DESERT SWIM ON SUNDAY'S PROGRAM

One of the most unique swimming events in the history of aquatics will be staged Sunday afternoon at the El Mirador Hotel, Palm Springs. The water carnival, which will feature a host of Southland and national stars, is being staged in the heart of the desert. No place in the world with the exception of the Southland has any such water meet been staged, according to Fred Cady, aquatic director for the Los Angeles A.C.

SCOTCH AND ENGLISH IN SOCCER BATTLE

Soccer plays its part for the needy and the unemployed tomorrow afternoon. The City League is staging an all-star card in which teams representing Scotland and England will meet. Such well-known figures in the game here as McDill, Cowie, Hawkins, Thomson and Allan will be seen cavorting for the Scots. The City Leaguers who have been named so far on the English team are Johnny Holm, Ernie Copeland and Southern.

SAN DIEGO, LONG BEACH MEET FOR LEAGUE TITLE

BY IRVING ECKHOFF

It looks like a big day in Long Beach tomorrow. San Diego High and Long Beach Poly will meet on Burcham Field for the championship of the Coast League and the right to enter the Southern California C.I.F. football play-off.

While Coach Landreth's Jackrabbits are Coast League and Southern California defending champions, Hobbs Adams's Southern Hilltoppers will take the field favored to win.

San Diego has a very impressive record in league competition, winning five straight games and running up 138 points to 19 for the opposition.

Long Beach is not far behind the Hilltoppers, with 119 points scored and 26 scored against.

Tex Oliver's Santa Ana Saints, undoubtedly one of the strongest teams in the Southland, have been defeated by both Long Beach and San Diego. The scores in both games were very close, Adams's team winning, 19-12, while the Jackrabbits triumphed, 24-12.

Comparison of scores finds the two teams very evenly matched with the exception of Alhambra. San Diego wrecked the Moors, 42-0, while the Jackrabbits had a tough time eking out an 18-14 win last Saturday over George Hobbs's outfit.

There are two other Coast League games remaining on the 1930 schedule. Compton and Glendale will collide today on the Dynamiters' field for the cellar championship, while Fullerton and Santa Ana meet tomorrow on the Saints' gridiron, with Tex Oliver's Saints heavy favorites to win.

Other Thanksgiving Day games will find Burbank at Hoover and Muir Tech at Monrovia. Both are Foothill League contests.

Huntington Beach will entertain Anaheim tomorrow in a postponed Orange county game, while Alhambra and South Pasadena meet in their annual encounter on the Moors' field.

The Marine League basketball season gets under way this afternoon, with three games listed in the major section and three in the minor division. Banning goes to Bell in the feature game, with Coach Noble Waite's Eagles picked to win. The other two major contests will find Gardena at Washington, and Narbonne at Riis.

In the minor section the three battles will find Lenzinger at El Segundo, Jordan at South Gate and Torrance at Avalon.

PREDICT EXCELLENT FISHING WEATHER

HERMOSA BEACH, Nov. 25.—With daily catches bigger than ever, Capt. J. M. Anderson, skipper of the big Olympic fishing barge, anchored two miles offshore here, predicted yesterday that good weather would prevail in this vicinity for the major portion of the remaining winter deep-sea fishing season. Sand dabs, mackerel, bonito, smelt, perch, blue cod and halibut are some of the fish now being hooked on the Olympic.

ELLIOTT, COOK CLASH FOR FUTURE BATTLES

Royal (Dutch) Elliott of Alhambra and George Cook, Australia, will mingle their heavyweight punches at the Hollywood Legion Stadium Friday night for the right to appear in another main event a few weeks hence.

Matchmaker Tom Gallery already has arranged for the winner of this contest to face the victor of next week's affair between Al Fay and Al Morro.

Elliott turned in a surprise recently when he fought Fay to a vicious draw. The Alhambran finished fast to get an even break with Kearns's heavy. Elliott is confident he will win from Cook and is anxious for Fay to trim Jim Jeffries's heavy so that they can hook up in a return encounter.

Cook's recent victory over Les Kennedy at Wilmington establishes him as a capable performer, and he may surprise Elliott.

"Pickles" Heintz, navy heavyweight champion, makes another start in the special event, when he hooks up with Frank Rudulski. Heintz flattened a rival a couple of weeks ago at Hollywood and appears capable of holding his own against some good fighters.

Jackie Mandell and Benny Paltz, junior lightweights, face in the semifinal. Two four-rounders complete the card.

CARRIGAN TO BOSS ST. LOUIS HOCKEYITES

Tom Carrigan, star goalie of the Los Angeles Millionaires hockey team, will succeed Kenny MacKenzie as manager. MacKenzie was handed his release by Owner Mel Malwick following Monday night's opening game here. The Millionaires' pilot received an offer to handle the St. Louis club of the American League at an attractive figure, and asked for his release.

Having started off their California Hockey League season with a victory over the Black Hawks, Carrigan will lead his men north tomorrow. They will play four games in the Bay region. Friday night they meet the San Francisco Hawks, and the following evening oppose the Oakland Checkers. The following Monday the Millionaires face the San Francisco Tigers and Tuesday night battle the Oakland Sheiks, last year's champions.

FIREMEN GRIDS FACE ARROYO GRANDE A.C.

The Arroyo Grande Athletic Club, champions of the Tri-County League of San Luis Obispo, Ventura and Santa Barbara, is the next rival of the Los Angeles Fire Department team. The Smoke-eaters meet the northern aggregation Saturday night at Wrigley Field. The Arroyo outfit is composed of players who formerly cavorted for Oregon State and Santa Clara.

BIG RUN OF FISH REPORTED

OCEAN PARK, Nov. 25.—Aided by perfect fishing weather, a heavy run of bonito, mackerel and rock bass is reported from the big barge Billings, anchored two and a half miles off the coast here. Pier fishing is also reported good with daily catches of perch, and occasional halibut being brought in.

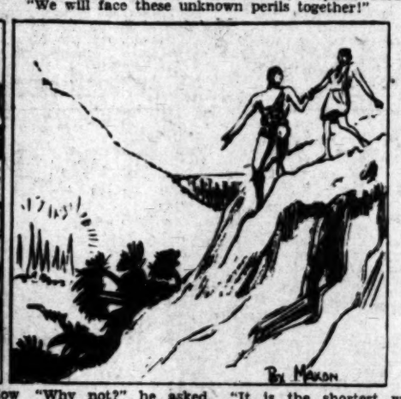
TARZAN AND THE GOLDEN LION

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Quickly La related to Tarzan all that Manu, the monkey, had heard and told her. "Whether I saved you or sacrificed you," she ended, "it had been the same with me. They were determined to do away with me, that Cadj might be king and Oah, High Priestess of Opar. This was the only way we might both be saved, though, indeed, I had no opportunity to secure weapons for you." "I will find weapons," declared Tarzan. "Meanwhile we are free. But whither are you leading me?"

"North and west are Cadj's warriors. Ahead lies an unknown country," La said, "for us Oparians it is filled with legends of grim monsters and strange people. But if there lives in all the world one who could win through this unknown valley, it is you, Tarzan of the Apes. Lions and apes come down this trail to Opar. Beyond it I have never been. What lies beyond, the lions, of course, cannot tell us. And the great apes will not!" "It is well," replied Tarzan. "We will face these unknown perils together!"



The ape-man gazed down at the wooded basin below them, his mind full of the hazard of their plight. Alone, he would not have hesitated. But now he must think of La. In her efforts to save him she had placed him under a strong moral obligation to save her. But he felt an irresistible impulse to explore that half-concealed edifice, so huge and magnificent. Who could have built it? The ape-man knew no fear. "Come!" he said to La. "You are not going—there!" she cried in astonishment.

"Why not?" he asked. "It is the shortest way across the valley." "But I am afraid," she said, "the Flaming God alone knows what hideous dangers lurk in the valley below us." "We need not fear lions nor apes." "You fear nothing," said La, "but I am only a woman." "We can die but once," said Tarzan, "and who can foretell when? Fear will not avert death—but it will make life miserable. Come! We must take the risk!"

PA'S SON-IN-LAW

• Mountains From Mole-Hills

By Wallace

GOSH! OF ALL TH' SAP IDEAS! I STICK MY FINGER IN A MOUSE-TRAP TRYIN' T' GET MY COLLAR-BUTTON OUT FROM UNDER TH' BUREAU AND MA BLAMES IT ON THAT RUBY!
OWOO!
O-OH, DEAR! MY MING BOWL! I-IT'S SMASHED! THIS IS MORE OF THE MALIGN INFLUENCE OF THAT HORRID RUBY!
Y-YOU SEE HOW IT BUILDS UP MISFORTUNE? IT CAUSED YOU TO DROP YOUR COLLAR-BUTTON — YOU REACH UNDER THE DRESSER FOR IT AND DISTURB THAT MOUSE-TRAP!
I-IF THE TRAP HADN'T BEEN ED, IT WOULD HAVE SPRUNG MOUSE THAT JUST SPRUNG INTO JUMPING UP ON THE AND KNOCKING OFF THE DOLLAR VASE!
